Hope For Trapped Men Dim

Rescue Attempt Continues In Flooded Tunnel

PITTSTON, Pa. (AP) — Hope dimmed Friday for the safety of 12 coal miners still trapped in a complex underground tunnel flooded by icy waters from the Susquehanna River.

Rescue operations—their cost already exceeding two million dollars—continued with all speed possible. But whether the men were alive appeared doubtful.

Meantime, state and federal mine officials took steps to avert a similar tragedy.

Eleven nearby anthracite mines were ordered closed as a precaution against the dangerous flood waters. This idled 5,000 men, shutting off a weekly payroll of more than a half million dollars.

The implications were grave for this Wyoming Valley anthracite region where coal long reigned supreme. Most of America's anthracite is mined in northeastern Pennsylvania.

The rain-swollen Susquehanna gouged a huge hole in the Knox Coal Co. mine at nearby Port Griffith Thursday, trapping the 12 men. Thirty-three escaped, climbing and crawling to safety.

Water Pours In

Tons of water continued to pour unstopped through the gaping break on the river's edge Friday as workers fought unsuccessfully to plug the hole. The cave-in washed away a big chunk of the shoreline. It might be Sunday, some said, before the hole is blocked.

Scattered knots of weary men and women, tired and silent, peered red-eyed at the huge whirlpool that marks the spot where the timber-supported coal walls—about 30 feet under the river—buckled under the crushing pressure.

A biting wind, with the mercury at 12 degrees above zero, whipped up snow flurries over the bleak scene. The river heaved along great chunks of ice, uprooted trees and left debris and desolation along the banks.

Joseph Kennedy, state secretary of mines, said he believes the 12 men will be rescued. Until then —or until their bodies are recovered—they are listed simply as missing.

State and federal mine officials met secretly for four hours before announcing their shutdown decision.

Affects All Mines

Daniel H. Connolly, deputy state mines secretary, said: "Unless we can stop the water from flowing from the river and prevent it from going into the nearby Enterprise and Henry colleries it can put all the mines in the Wyoming Valley out of operation."

Both President Eisenhower and Gov. David L. Lawrence have declared the section east of the Sus-

Rape-Slayer Dies Quietly

BALTIMORE (AP) — Carl Danial Kier, 23-year-old Negro handyman convicted of raping and slaying a white society matron, went quietly to his death in Maryland's gas chamber Friday night.

Murmuring prayers to the end, Kier was pronounced dead a few seconds before 10:08 p.m.

"He was ready to meet his maker," said the prison chaplain who escorted him to the execution room, the Rev. Edward Weglein.

Kier was sentenced to die for the June 12, 1956, slaying of Mrs. John H. Bopst Jr., 49-year-old mother of four. She was found raped, beaten and stabbed repeatedly at her fashionable ranch-type home just north of Baltimore.

The condemned man entered the chamber at 10:01 p.m. Five minutes and 12 seconds later a lever was pulled, dropping cyanide into a bowl of acid beneath the death chair.

Sen. Symington Says Russia Has Edge In Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) said Friday the Eisenhower administration is allowing the Soviet Union to pull away in the missiles race. In two years, he predicted, it will have a 4-1 edge in long-range rockets over the United States.

"The coming year may afford us our last chance to initiate any real effort to catch up with the Russians in the most important fields of modern weaponry," Symington said in a speech to the Senate.

Replying, Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) repeated a Republican charge that former President Truman was responsible for a 1½-year lag in developing the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

Case said Truman in 1947 transferred 75 million dollars Congress voted for research and development work on the Atlas, now approaching the operational stage. Case said the 75 million was used instead for Army pay.

He disputed Symington's view on the overriding importance of the ICBM, saying "We must not limit our thinking to a single weapon."

The Missouri senator, long a critic of administration defense policies, challenged statements Thursday by Secretary of Defense Nel H. McElroy at a news conference.

McElroy said then "We do not believe that Russia has an ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile) capable of operations against this country at this time." He also discounted reports that the Soviet Union will have 300 ICBMs by next year.

Cuban Rebels Move Trials From Arena

HAVANA (UPI) —Cuba's revolutionary leaders have decided to move the "war crimes" trials out of Havana's big Sports Palace and its circus-like atmosphere, it was understood Friday night.

An army major was convicted and sentenced to death Friday in Havana's first spectacular trial of alleged "war criminals." The all-night trial lasted more than 12 hours and was attended by a crowd of about 30,000 hooting, jeering spectators in the flood-lighted sports arena.

Fidel Castro demanded an end to the television and radio broadcasts of the trials.

Trial Postponed

The second trial was abruptly postponed Friday until Monday. It may be moved into a military courtroom at Cabana fortress here, where 600 officers and men of deposed President Fulgencio Batista's government are awaiting trial.

The first man tried, Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, was condemned to death at a marathon, 12-hour and 19-minute trial in the Sports Palace which ended early Friday. The sentence was announced at about 6 a.m.

Sosa Blanco appealed his sentence, automatically staying execution five to six days. But four of his alleged henchmen were executed Thursday in Oriente Province for burning the village of Levisa and butchering its inhabitants.

Illness Was Blamed

It was announced at first that the trials would be postponed until Saturday. Illness of one of the defendants was blamed for this postponement.

He is Maj. Pedro Morejon Valdes who, with another defendant, Lt. Col. Ricardo L. Grau, was brought to the Sports Palace for trial, then hustled out through a jeering mob and returned to their cells in Cabana Fortress.

Man Is Fined For Frying Eggs On Soldier's Tomb

PARIS (AP)—Claude Figus, 25, was sentenced Friday to three months in prison and fined 50,000 francs ($101.28) for frying two eggs over the eternal flame atop the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier. The tomb is under the Arch of Triumph.

Figus told the court "I recognize my act was idiotic."

The incident—charged as violation of a tomb—occurred after a Christmas party.

Mail Delivered By Guided Missiles New Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Delivery of mail by guided missiles is the newest gleam in the eye of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

The rockets would be painted red, white and blue—just like the mail box down on the corner.

Summerfield predicted Friday night that before man reaches the moon, mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, to England, to India or to Australia by guided missiles.

Some scientists say man may travel around the moon and back within 10 years.

In remarks prepared for the annual awards dinner of National Business Publications, Inc., Summerfield said carrying mail by rockets promises to be the greatest peaceful use of missile development.

"And if Congress provides us with sufficient funds," Summerfield pledged, "you may be assured that mail-carrying rocket missiles will be painted with the traditional colors—red, white and blue—of which every American is justly proud."

Summerfield is a man who delivers, too. It was back in July 1955 that he announced the olive drab mail boxes were going to be painted "the more cheerful colors" of you know what.

He told the publications group the postal service will keep pace with science.

"Wherever our citizens may go in this great universe, the delivery of their mail will continue to be expedited whether they are on the moon or on a space station or in the far corners of the earth," he said.

Mail already has been carried by rocket, but only as a stunt. The Army placed a letter in the nose cone of a test missile fired last year from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The letter was retrieved after the missile plunged into the Atlantic, and was flown to the Pentagon.

Train Smashes Taxi, 4 Killed

BALTIMORE (AP) — A taxicab carrying three children home from elementary school was struck by a passenger train on a side road crossing Friday, killing all occupants of the cab.

A witness said the taxi was dragged about 4,800 feet along the tracks and "rolled up into a ball of steel."

The Pennsylvania Railroad said the victims included 6-year-old twins, John and Katherine Jones, and their 7-year-old brother, George.

The other victim was identified as William M. Dail, 37-year-old driver of the cab.

Harold Best, dispatcher for the taxi firm, said the New York-Washington train hit the taxi at a slightly traveled crossing on Baltimore's east outskirts.

Best said the yojngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, were picked up by Dail at a bus stop on the second leg of their bus-and-taxi trip home from school.

"The father made arrangements only yesterday to have us pick them up at the bus stop every day after school," Best said. "This was only the second day of the arrangement."

Senior Accused Of Bomb Threat

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 19-year-old high school senior has been accused of making the fake bomb threat which closed Franklin High in suburban Reisterstown last Nov. 11.

Calvin D. Hughes, charged with making a false and malicious statement, was released in $500 bail for a hearing Jan. 28.

Police said the school's principal was called and told a bomb had been planted in the school to explode at 11 a.m. Students were turned away when they arrived for classes. A search turned up no bomb.

Ike Sets Up Work Group On Inflation

Committee Plans To Study Federal Impact On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday ordered a fresh look at the government's financial operations as they affect the national economy.

In what was billed as an anti-inflation step, he set up a special workhorse committee to pull together in one study all federal activities affecting prices and costs to determine their over-all impact on the economy.

"We need to make sure that we are not contributing to the nation's inflationary problems by the way in which we run our own government business," Eisenhower's statement said.

As the President acted, there were these other developments:

1. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a two-tenths of one per cent drop in living costs last month, the first decline since August. The department also reported that factory worker earnings rose to a new high in December.

Opened Hearings

2. The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee opened a series of public hearings on inflation. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader, said he feared the subcommittee took a political excursion in its inquiries last year but Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) disputed this. Kefauver said he felt the subcommittee's work "has been something of a brake on inflation."

3. Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), presiding over Senate Banking Committee hearings on new housing legislation, predicted Congress will pass a broader and more costly bill than Eisenhower wants before the end of February.

Eisenhower has asked that federal spending be held down to help keep the budget in balance.

In setting up his new study committee Eisenhower said: "Although the government has many programs that affect prices and costs—including, of course, procurement—there is now no central mechanism for following their current operations to see whether they are being conducted, insofar as possible, in line with the need for reasonable stability of prices and costs."

Saulnier Is Head

As head of the committee Eisenhower designated the man who suggested it—Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of his Economic Advisory Council.

To serve with him Saulnier wants officials who are thoroughly familiar with the day-to-day fiscal operations of their departments and agencies.

Eisenhower directed that representatives be named to the committee from these departments and agencies: Defense, Post Office, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, Budget Bureau, General Services Administration, Atomic Energy Commission, Federal Aviation Agency, and Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Soldier Held In Shooting

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The U.S. Army Friday accused a Texas soldier of killing one G.I. and wounding another critically in a shooting apparently caused by a grudge against the sergeant of the guard.

Eighth Army authorities held PFC. Kenneth M. Burke, of Del Rio, on suspicion of murder. Names of the victims were withheld until their next of kin were notified.

The Army said "the incident apparently resulted from a grudge borne by Burke against the sergeant of the guard."

A provost marshal report said Burke was on guard duty early Friday when the sergeant of the guard and another man drove up to his post in a truck. Burke fired five rounds from his pistol "at point blank range" into the cab of the truck, the report said.

The second man was killed instantly. The sergeant was wounded seriously and was taken to the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Ascom City.

Saltonstall Speaker

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) was announced Friday as principal speaker for Shepherd College's 87th founders' day program here Feb. 20. Saltonstall is a descendent of Thomas Shepherd founder of this town.

Surging Floods Spread Death

State Of Emergency Declared By Ohio, Pennsylvania; Aid Sent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surging floods—the worst since 1913 in some areas—spread death and destruction and drove thousands from their homes Friday.

Icy waters staggered residents in much of Ohio. Gov. Michael V. Di Salle declared a state of emergency as fatalities and property damage mounted rapidly.

President Eisenhower designated the inundated sections of Ohio and Pennsylvania areas of major disaster, and eligible for federal relief.

Traffic was crippled or halted in about half of Ohio by a watery blanket.

The highest flood waters since 1913 broke through a sandbag barrier in Chillicothe, Ohio, and the frigid waters of the Scioto River inundated more than a third of that city of 27,000.

30 Dead In Ohio

Gov. Di Salle said reports indicate 25 to 30 deaths in Ohio.

Known deaths attributed to the flood numbered four in New York and three in Indiana.

Damage, where fairly definite estimates were available, included 83 million dollars in Ohio, 12 million in New York, 3 million in Sharon, Pa., plus 2 million for mine rescue operations in Pittston, Pa., for a total of 100 million.

Idle workers included 10,000 Pennsylvania anthracite miners and 3,000 steel plant employes near Buffalo, N.Y., for a total of 13,000.

Homeless included 4,500 in Ohio, 1,500 in Meadville, Pa., and 800 in Sharon, Pa., for a total of 6,800.

A record flood almost paralyzed Meadville, Pa. An ice gorge two miles long backed up water from French Creek into the city.

"The only thing comparable is a flood we had way back in 1913," commented Fire Chief Fred Carman.

About 1,500 of Meadville's 25,000 residents were forced out of their dwellings and hundreds of houses were without heat. The homeless found shelter in the state armory and churches.

Hope dwindled for 12 local coal miners trapped in an underground tunnel flooded by water from the Susquehanna River near Pittston, Pa. Thirty-three of their fellow workers escaped Thursday.

Rescue operations, already costing more than two million dollars were pressed in biting cold.

Eleven nearby anthracite minse were closed in a precautionary move that idled 5,000 men.

Made Disaster Area

President Eisenhower and Gov. David L. Lawrence declared a sector of Pennsylvania east of the Susquehanna a major disaster area—thus eligible for federal aid.

Three feet of water from the Shenango River covered a 10-block area in the business district of Sharon, Pa. Damage there was placed at three million dollars. Many homes had no heat.

Ohio's flood, springing up in the wake of Wednesday's torrential rains, rolled over hundreds of square miles. The State Highway Patrol said the southern half of Ohio virtually was impassable. The highway department reported that 222 of Ohio's main highways were closed, and that no traffic could get through at 325 points.

Arctic cold intensified suffering. Lows of zero to 10 below were predicted for Ohio.

The Ohio River crest flowed downstream after overflows along Pennsylvania's rivers and streams closed schools in many communi-

DISAGREES — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) disagrees with reports of comparative U. S.-Soviet ICBM strength given by Secretary of Defense Niel McElroy. The Senator in a speech yesterday before the Senate said USSR will have four times as many intercontinental missiles in 1961. (AP Photofax).

Alcorn Moves To Heal Breach In GOP Ranks

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn moved Friday to heal a widening breach between President Eisenhower and congressional Republicans with a plea for party unity.

Alcorn called on Republicans not to block other Republicans—including Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—he said are carrying the ball in what should be a team effort to win in 1960.

Alcorn's plea for an end to recriminations was made dramatically to the closing session of the GOP National Committee after Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) had touched off fireworks with a demand that the party "quit copying the New Deal."

Goldwater, a conservative who was re-elected last November and now heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in a message read to the conference that the GOP elephant "will come out of hibernation when he knows in what direction it will point its trunk."

The Arizona senator thus tossed back at Eisenhower the latter's admonition to the committee that Republicans must not become a "hibernating elephant" that emerged from its slumbers to campaign only at election time.

Goldwater called upon the party to "declare against centralized government and then act as if it means it."

"Let the party quit copying the New Deal, seeking only for votes, and remember that a two-party system needs two philosophies and not one," Goldwater said.

This Baby-Sitter Really Had To Stick To Her Job

By DOROTHY LEWIS
St. Paul Dispatch Writer

(This is a true story. Only the names have been omitted to protect the injured.)

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—This is the story of a babysitter who really stuck to her job—and sat, and sat, and sat—far beyond the actual call of duty.

She was hired by a young couple in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina to watch their children while the couple attended a party

In giving instructions to the 16-year-old sitter the lady of the house forgot one thing—that she had sprayed some of the bathroom equipment with a white plastic paint, the kind that "won't rub off, peel, chip or blister. It stays on."

Early in the evening the babysitter visited the bathroom. And when the young couple returned at 3 a.m. they found the perplexed, red-eyed sitter still sitting there.

First the mother tried turpentine in an effort to unseat the unhappy girl, but she became convinced the paint was 100 per cent as advertised.

Then she had her husband call the family doctor, who came to the house at 4 a.m. He applied alcohol with no results.

"But," he assured the sitter cheerfully, "we'll find a way."

As the doctor was trying to figure one out he tripped over the sitter's foot, fell headlong against the bathtub and knocked himself cold.

The young husband hastily called the emergency station at the hospital and within minutes an ambulance was on the way. The driver and attendant scooped up the doctor, who suffered a concussion

Then, with a hearty "ally-oop" the ambulance crew tore the sitter from her sitting place and trundled her and the doctor to the hospital

Both have recovered.

100 Injured When Butane Gas Ignites

Liquid Petroleum Set Afire As 33 Train Cars Derail

MONROE, La. (UPI) —At least four persons were killed and more than 100 spectators and workers injured Friday night when a derailed tank car of liquid butane exploded.

All available ambulances were dispatched to the scene and Monroe hospitals issued a call for emergency donations of blood.

An unidentified fireman who was one-half block away from the tracks said his coat was scorched by the tremendous fire and heat. He said the liquid petroleum gas flowed from the tank car onto a nearby field, setting up a wall of fire as it advanced.

The force of the explosion shook the ground five miles away.

Authorities at Conway Hospital said another 12 or 13 persons were missing.

Gather At Scene

More than 100 spectators had gathered at the scene of an early morning derailment and explosion of some 30 railway cars. There were no injuries reported at the first explosion, in which several butane tanks exploded.

However, spectators who came to watch a smoldering butane tank explode, as predicted by firemen, paid a tragic price for the diversion.

Monroe's two main hospitals were reported jammed with the injured and with persons seeking relatives. A third small clinic was pressed into service and doctors set up an emergency aid center at a National Guard armory.

Sheriff's officers and state police were stopping all traffic near the scene, allowing only ambulances and emergency vehicles to pass.

Curiosity seekers were reported in the area after the second explosion, hampering the work of rescuers.

Not Identified

The dead and injured were not immediately identified in the chaos in which this northeast Louisiana city found itself.

A fire department official told reporters railway workers and firemen had begun clearing the tracks of the wreckage when the second explosion occurred. He said he thought all of his men escaped serious injury, but that he didn't know for sure.

Thirty of 33 cars derailed were demolished in the first explosion. The blast crumpled boxcars like matchsticks. The heat of the fires melted railroad tracks and fused the wheels of freight cars to the rails.

Firemen reported at the first fire that their equipment was inadequate to fight the huge flames. They merely tried to keep the flames from spreading, they said.

Police Seeking Baby Kidnaper

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police and FBI agents, confronted with their second infant kidnaping in a month, sought a short, dumpy woman Friday who dangled the bait of a better apartment before an impoverished mother in a ruse to abduct her ailing, 23-day-old boy.

"Please return our baby," pleaded Mr. and Mrs. Jose Tavarez. "He has been sick for nearly two weeks and needs all the care in the world."

John Tavarez, 8½ pounds, suffering from a severe cold and chest congestion, was stolen from the $21-a-month room of his parents Thursday afternoon. His mother, Doraliza Tavarez, 31, had left him in the care of a woman who called herself Mrs. Gladys Garcia while she went in search of the apartment.

The kidnaping occurred less than two weeks after police recovered little Lisa Rose Chionchio who was snatched from a hospital crib Jan. 2 two and a half hours after birth. The alleged kidnaper, Mrs. Jean Iavarone, widowed mother of eight, has been committed to a hospital for mental examination.

Hula Hoop Crowd Wrecks Toy Store

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A twirling, twisting crowd, mostly pretty young girls, wrecked a toy shop in the university town of Torun Friday in a scrap for a limited supply of hula hoops.

Surveying his wrecked counters and smashed toys, the manager of "The House of the Child" said the next time he got a shipment of hula hoops he would demand police protection.

Senior Accused Of Bomb Threat

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 19-year-old high school senior has been accused of making the fake bomb threat which closed Franklin High in suburban Reisterstown last Nov. 11.

Calvin D. Hughes, charged with making a false and malicious statement, was released in $500 bail for a hearing Jan. 28.

Police said the school's principal was called and told a bomb had been planted in the school to explode at 11 a.m. Students were turned away when they arrived for classes. A search turned up no bomb.

Mail Delivered By Guided Missiles New Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Delivery of mail by guided missiles is the newest gleam in the eye of Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

The rockets would be painted red, white and blue—just like the mail box down on the corner.

Summerfield predicted Friday night that before man reaches the moon, mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, to England, to India or to Australia by guided missiles.

Some scientists say man may travel around the moon and back within 10 years.

In remarks prepared for the annual awards dinner of National Business Publications, Inc., Summerfield said carrying mail by rockets promises to be the greatest peaceful use of missile development.

"And if Congress provides us with sufficient funds," Summerfield pledged, "you may be assured that mail-carrying rocket missiles will be painted with the traditional colors—red, white and blue—of which every American is justly proud."

Summerfield is a man who delivers, too. It was back in July 1955 that he announced the olive drab mail boxes were going to be painted "the more cheerful colors" of you know what.

He told the publications group the postal service will keep pace with science.

"Wherever our citizens may go in this great universe, the delivery of their mail will continue to be expedited whether they are on the moon or on a space station or in the far corners of the earth," he said.

Mail already has been carried by rocket, but only as a stunt. The Army placed a letter in the nose cone of a test missile fired last year from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The letter was retrieved after the missile plunged into the Atlantic, and was flown to the Pentagon.

Ike Sets Up Work Group On Inflation

Committee Plans To Study Federal Impact On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday ordered a fresh look at the government's financial operations as they affect the national economy.

In what was billed as an anti-inflation step, he set up a special workhorse committee to pull together in one study all federal activities affecting prices and costs to determine their over-all impact on the economy.

"We need to make sure that we are not contributing to the nation's inflationary problems by the way in which we run our own government business," Eisenhower's statement said.

As the President acted, there were these other developments:

1. The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a two-tenths of one per cent drop in living costs last month, the first decline since August. The department also reported that factory worker earnings rose to a new high in December.

Opened Hearings

2. The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee opened a series of public hearings on inflation. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader, said he feared the subcommittee took a political excursion in its inquiries last year but Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) disputed this. Kefauver said he felt the subcommittee's work "has been something of a brake on inflation."

3. Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), presiding over Senate Banking Committee hearings on new housing legislation, predicted Congress will pass a broader and more costly bill than Eisenhower wants before the end of February.

Eisenhower has asked that federal spending be held down to help keep the budget in balance.

In setting up his new study committee Eisenhower said: "Although the government has many programs that affect prices and costs—including, of course, procurement—there is now no central mechanism for following their current operations to see whether they are being conducted, insofar as possible, in line with the need for reasonable stability of prices and costs."

Saulnier Is Head

As head of the committee Eisenhower designated the man who suggested it—Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of his Economic Advisory Council.

To serve with him Saulnier wants officials who are thoroughly familiar with the day-to-day fiscal operations of their departments and agencies.

Eisenhower directed that representatives be named to the committee from these departments and agencies: Defense, Post Office, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, Budget Bureau, General Services Administration, Atomic Energy Commission, Federal Aviation Agency, and Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

Soldier Held In Shooting

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The U.S. Army Friday accused a Texas soldier of killing one G.I. and wounding another critically in a shooting apparently caused by a grudge against the sergeant of the guard.

Eighth Army authorities held PFC. Kenneth M. Burke, of Del Rio, on suspicion of murder. Names of the victims were withheld until their next of kin were notified.

The Army said "the incident apparently resulted from a grudge borne by Burke against the sergeant of the guard."

A provost marshal report said Burke was on guard duty early Friday when the sergeant of the guard and another man drove up to his post in a truck. Burke fired five rounds from his pistol "at point blank range" into the cab of the truck, the report said.

The second man was killed instantly. The sergeant was wounded seriously and was taken to the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Ascom City.

Saltonstall Speaker

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) was announced Friday as principal speaker for Shepherd College's 87th founders' day program here Feb. 20. Saltonstall is a descendent of Thomas Shepherd founder of this town.

Surging Floods Spread Death

State Of Emergency Declared By Ohio, Pennsylvania; Aid Sent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surging floods—the worst since 1913 in some areas—spread death and destruction and drove thousands from their homes Friday.

Icy waters staggered residents in much of Ohio. Gov. Michael V. Di Salle declared a state of emergency as fatalities and property damage mounted rapidly.

President Eisenhower designated the inundated sections of Ohio and Pennsylvania areas of major disaster, and eligible for federal relief.

Traffic was crippled or halted in about half of Ohio by a watery blanket.

The highest flood waters since 1913 broke through a sandbag barrier in Chillicothe, Ohio, and the frigid waters of the Scioto River inundated more than a third of that city of 27,000.

30 Dead In Ohio

Gov. Di Salle said reports indicate 25 to 30 deaths in Ohio.

Known deaths attributed to the flood numbered four in New York and three in Indiana.

Damage, where fairly definite estimates were available, included 83 million dollars in Ohio, 12 million in New York, 3 million in Sharon, Pa., plus 2 million for mine rescue operations in Pittston, Pa., for a total of 100 million.

Idle workers included 10,000 Pennsylvania anthracite miners and 3,000 steel plant employes near Buffalo, N.Y., for a total of 13,000.

Homeless included 4,500 in Ohio, 1,500 in Meadville, Pa., and 800 in Sharon, Pa., for a total of 6,800.

A record flood almost paralyzed Meadville, Pa. An ice gorge two miles long backed up water from French Creek into the city.

"The only thing comparable is a flood we had way back in 1913," commented Fire Chief Fred Carman.

About 1,500 of Meadville's 25,000 residents were forced out of their dwellings and hundreds of houses were without heat. The homeless found shelter in the state armory and churches.

Hope dwindled for 12 local coal miners trapped in an underground tunnel flooded by water from the Susquehanna River near Pittston, Pa. Thirty-three of their fellow workers escaped Thursday.

Rescue operations, already costing more than two million dollars were pressed in biting cold.

Eleven nearby anthracite minse were closed in a precautionary move that idled 5,000 men.

Made Disaster Area

President Eisenhower and Gov. David L. Lawrence declared a sector of Pennsylvania east of the Susquehanna a major disaster area—thus eligible for federal aid.

Three feet of water from the Shenango River covered a 10-block area in the business district of Sharon, Pa. Damage there was placed at three million dollars. Many homes had no heat.

Ohio's flood, springing up in the wake of Wednesday's torrential rains, rolled over hundreds of square miles. The State Highway Patrol said the southern half of Ohio virtually was impassable. The highway department reported that 222 of Ohio's main highways were closed, and that no traffic could get through at 325 points.

Arctic cold intensified suffering. Lows of zero to 10 below were predicted for Ohio.

The Ohio River crest flowed downstream after overflows along Pennsylvania's rivers and streams closed schools in many communi-

Alcorn Moves To Heal Breach In GOP Ranks

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn moved Friday to heal a widening breach between President Eisenhower and congressional Republicans with a plea for party unity.

Alcorn called on Republicans not to block other Republicans—including Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—he said are carrying the ball in what should be a team effort to win in 1960.

Alcorn's plea for an end to recriminations was made dramatically to the closing session of the GOP National Committee after Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) had touched off fireworks with a demand that the party "quit copying the New Deal."

Goldwater, a conservative who was re-elected last November and now heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in a message read to the conference that the GOP elephant "will come out of hibernation when he knows in what direction it will point its trunk."

The Arizona senator thus tossed back at Eisenhower the latter's admonition to the committee that Republicans must not become a "hibernating elephant" that emerged from its slumbers to campaign only at election time.

Goldwater called upon the party to "declare against centralized government and then act as if it means it."

"Let the party quit copying the New Deal, seeking only for votes, and remember that a two-party system needs two philosophies and not one," Goldwater said.

This Baby-Sitter Really Had To Stick To Her Job

By DOROTHY LEWIS
St. Paul Dispatch Writer

(This is a true story. Only the names have been omitted to protect the injured.)

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—This is the story of a babysitter who really stuck to her job—and sat, and sat, and sat—far beyond the actual call of duty.

She was hired by a young couple in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina to watch their children while the couple attended a party.

In giving instructions to the 16-year-old sitter the lady of the house forgot one thing—that she had sprayed some of the bathroom equipment with a white plastic paint, the kind that "won't rub off, peel, chip or blister. It stays on."

Early in the evening the babysitter visited the bathroom. And when the young couple returned at 3 a.m. they found the perplexed, red-eyed sitter still sitting there.

First the mother tried turpentine in an effort to unseat the unhappy girl, but she became convinced the paint was 100 per cent as advertised.

Then she had her husband call the family doctor, who came to the house at 4 a.m. He applied alcohol with no results.

"But," he assured the sitter cheerfully, "we'll find a way."

As the doctor was trying to figure one out he tripped over the sitter's foot, fell headlong against the bathtub and knocked himself cold.

The young husband hastily called the emergency station at the hospital and within minutes an ambulance was on the way. The driver and attendant scooped up the doctor, who suffered a concussion.

Then, with a hearty "ally-oop" the ambulance crew tore the sitter from her sitting place and trundled her and the doctor to the hospital.

Both have recovered.

Liquid Petroleum Set Afire As 33 Train Cars Derail

MONROE, La. (UPI) —At least four persons were killed and more than 100 spectators and workers injured Friday night when a derailed tank car of liquid butane exploded.

All available ambulances were dispatched to the scene and Monroe hospitals issued a call for emergency donations of blood.

An unidentified fireman who was one-half block away from the tracks said his coat was scorched by the tremendous fire and heat. He said the liquid petroleum gas flowed from the tank car onto a nearby field, setting up a wall of fire as it advanced.

The force of the explosion shook the ground five miles away.

Authorities at Conway Hospital said another 12 or 13 persons were missing.

Gather At Scene

More than 100 spectators had gathered at the scene of an early morning derailment and explosion of some 30 railway cars. There were no injuries reported at the first explosion, in which several butane tanks exploded.

However, spectators who came to watch a smoldering butane tank explode, as predicted by firemen, paid a tragic price for the diversion.

Monroe's two main hospitals were reported jammed with the injured and with persons seeking relatives. A third small clinic was pressed into service and doctors set up an emergency aid center at a National Guard armory.

Sheriff's officers and state police were stopping all traffic near the scene, allowing only ambulances and emergency vehicles to pass.

Curiosity seekers were reported in the area after the second explosion, hampering the work of rescuers.

Not Identified

The dead and injured were not immediately identified in the chaos in which this northeast Louisiana city found itself.

A fire department official told reporters railway workers and firemen had begun clearing the tracks of the wreckage when the second explosion occurred. He said he thought all of his men escaped serious injury, but that he didn't know for sure.

Thirty of 33 cars derailed were demolished in the first explosion. The blast crumpled boxcars like matchsticks. The heat of the fires melted railroad tracks and fused the wheels of freight cars to the rails.

Firemen reported at the first fire that their equipment was inadequate to fight the huge flames. They merely tried to keep the flames from spreading, they said.

Police Seeking Baby Kidnaper

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police and FBI agents, confronted with their second infant kidnaping in a month, sought a short, dumpy woman Friday who dangled the bait of a better apartment before an impoverished mother in a ruse to abduct her ailing, 23-day-old boy.

"Please return our baby," pleaded Mr. and Mrs. Jose Tavarez. "He has been sick for nearly two weeks and needs all the care in the world."

John Tavarez, 8½ pounds, suffering from a severe cold and chest congestion, was stolen from the $21-a-month room of his parents Thursday afternoon. His mother, Doraliza Tavarez, 31, had left him in the care of a woman who called herself Mrs. Gladys Garcia while she went in search of the apartment.

The kidnaping occurred less than two weeks after police recovered little Lisa Rose Chionchio who was snatched from a hospital crib Jan. 2 two and a half hours after birth. The alleged kidnaper, Mrs. Jean Iavarone, widowed mother of eight, has been committed to a hospital for mental examination.

Hula Hoop Crowd Wrecks Toy Store

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A twirling, twisting crowd, mostly pretty young girls, wrecked a toy shop in the university town of Torun Friday in a scrap for a limited supply of hula hoops.

Surveying his wrecked counters and smashed toys, the manager of "The House of the Child" said the next time he got a shipment of hula hoops he would demand police protection.

Girl, 7, Is Chained To Bed By Parents

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Except when she was in school, the world of frail, little Judith Ball stretched no further than a 4-foot-long, 7-pound chain padlocked to her ankle and a bedpost in her darkened room.

Although she has six brothers and two sisters, 7-year-old Judith was kept alone in the room. The shades were always pulled and there was no electric light.

At night she slept in her underclothing. She slept on the floor because she found that more comfortable than the thin blanket pulled over the coil springs on her bed.

At mealtime, she ate alone from a tray.

Judith told this story to police Friday as veteran detectives looked away in pity from the sight of her swollen ankles. She said it had been going on for two years.

Why?

Detective Sgt. James McCormick quoted Judith's 39-year-old mother, Ruth Hall, as saying it was because the girl had a habit of getting up at night, raiding the refrigerator and causing other trouble.

The father, Paul Ball, 40, is an unemployed laborer and food is a problem in the home.

Once, Mrs. Ball said, Judith started a fire in a chair while playing with matches.

School and welfare authorities said they had been hearing rumors for some time about the circumstances in the Ball home and had been investigating.

Representatives of both Stickney School, where Judith was a first-grader, and the Lucas County Child Welfare Board had visited the home. But they found no evidence that the girl had been chained.

Detective McCormick got on the case after a neighbor passed on a report of a tray of food being seen taken into a room at the Ball home.

McCormick said most of the other Ball children ostracized Judith, apparently in the belief that her forays in the refrigerator deprived them of food.

When Judith went to school, McCormick said, her two sisters made her tag along behind rather than walk with her.

When she returned home each day, he said, on went the chain.

He said the girl was chained in the bedroom virtually all the time during vacation from school.

Judith and her two sisters were taken to the county's Miami Children's Home. The six boys, 14 to 22, were left with their parents.

Miss Jane M. Cartwright, executive secretary of the child welfare board, obtained a court order enabling the county to keep the three girls in custody until the case comes up in Family Relations Court.

No immediate action is planned against the parents, but Miss Cartwright said, "We're making a very careful study of the whole family."

At the children's home, a matron reported that Judith and her two sisters "ate good meals today. They seem fairly happy and we're satisfied that they're all right now."

ties and sent thousands home from mines and industrial plants.

The Ohio crested early Friday at East Liverpool, Ohio. Damage there was minor.

Downstream, a colony of river shacks under the Newell, W. Va., bridge was washed away. Parts of Wheeling (W. Va.) Island and the Wheeling Downs race track were inundated.

Near Flood Stage

Ice jams kept some rivers near flood stage in upstate New York. Huge chunks of water-borne ice rammed into houses in the western and south-central areas of the state.

At East Branch, N.Y., the Delaware River widened to 500 yards, five times its normal width.

Hundreds of New York State homes were without power.

The Wabash River inched up to within a foot of flood stage in Mount Carmel, Ill.

Freezing cold covered the eastern half of the nation.

Brother, He's Sure Mad At This "Brother"

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—William Crute doesn't mind being his brother's keeper, but from now on he's going to keep unknown "brothers" at arm's length.

A drunk staggered over to Crute, threw his arms around him and asked: "Aren't you my brother?"

Crute assured him that he was not, and the drunk staggered away.

Minutes later, Crute discovered his wallet containing $81 was missing.

Brother, was he mad.

Court Order Backs Negroes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court Friday ordered four Negro children admitted to an Arlington County white junior high school at the beginning of the February semester.

The appeals court deferred further consideration of 26 other Negro applications for admission to white schools in the northern Virginia county, just across the Potomac River from Washington. The court said these applications "require further examination of the relevant circumstances before final conclusions can be reached."

U.S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan of Alexandria had ordered the four Negro children admitted to Stratford Junior High School Feb. 2.

The 26 other Negro applicants were denied admission to white schools under various criteria applied by the school board.

Ths case involved a cross appeal. The Arlington School Board appealed that section of Bryan's order directing the admission of the four Negroes, while the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People took issue with the section rejecting the applications of the 26 other Negroes.

Until now, in situations where school boards were faced by final orders to admit Negroes to white schools, the state has stepped in and closed the schools to prevent race mixing.

However, the school closing law under which shutdowns were effected was ruled constitutional Monday by both the state supreme court and a special three-judge federal court in Norfolk.

Highways Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland plans to spend more than 83 million dollars for highway building this year.

The State Roads Commission said the cost will be split on an almost 50-50 basis by the State and federal government.

Living Costs Down, Earnings Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs went down and factory worker earnings went up in December.

The Labor Department reported both developments Friday. Its index of living costs declined two-tenths of one per cent—the first dip since August.

Earnings of factory workers after taxes rose to a record high averaging $79.60 a week for the head of a family of four and $72.10 for the single worker. This was up $1.20 from November and $4.30 from a year earlier.

The living cost index declined to 123.7, meaning that it now costs about $1.24 to buy what $1 could get in the 1947-49 era. The index for December 1958 is 1.7 per cent higher than December 1957.

Because the living cost index has actually moved very little for many months, no wage change is due some 700,000 workers in the electrical, aircraft and other industries whose pay rates were subject to adjustment according to the December index.

The living cost index reached a peak of 123.9 last July. It edged down to 123.7 in August and stayed there in September and October. It moved back to 123.9 in November and down to 123.7 in December.

H. E. Riley, chief of the price and living cost division of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said he does not anticipate much change in January living costs. He said preliminary data indicates somewhat higher food costs.

Housewives may not have noticed it much, but food prices have declined steadily for five straight months. They average 2.2 per cent higher than a year earlier, but have dropped 2.5 per cent since July.

Prices of oranges fell more than 15 per cent in December. Coffee declined for the 11th straight month, selling 12.2 per cent lower than in January 1958.

Fresh fruits, eggs and poultry sold for less last month, but prices for vegetables and most meats were higher. Riley said pork prices are due to continue downward, beef prices upward.

In other consumer spending categories, transportation, clothing, recreation and personal care items declined, but housing and medical care continued up. Detroit is an exception in otherwise rising city rents.

Prices for new 1959 model automobiles declined a bit in December as dealers provided larger discounts. Used car prices continued rising. There have been new railroad and local transit fare increases.

The increase in worker spending money was attributed both to higher pay rates and longer working hours. When the increased pay dollars are adjusted for living cost changes, their buying power is only slightly below the peak level of December 1956.

Rescue Attempt

quehanna a major disaster area. This permits prompt dispatch of federal aid.

Two groups of miners escaped drowning Thursday. Seven men reached the surface first, then 26 others followed. They walked seven hours in freezing waist-deep water. Ten still are in Pittston Hospital for treatment of shock and exposure.

Of the missing men Connolly said: "We still have hope they went to high ground."

Crews of Lehigh Valley Railroad employes and mine workers still tried with scant success to shove empty coal cars, huge planks of timber and bales of straw into the whirlpool to serve as a dam. The chief difficulty lay in steering the material into the danger spot, about 20 yards off shore.

Mine Supt. Robert Groves said nearly 50 railroad gondolas were dumped into the void.

Port Griffith is a tiny rural village with fewer than 100 inhabitants. The mine was its only industry. Most of its residents work elsewhere—and most of the miners go there from other towns in the anthracite belt. Pittston is a mile south, and Scranton—the biggest city in the section—is 10 miles farther on.

Appeals Court Says M'Keldin Eligible For Mayor

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals ruled Friday that ex-Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin is eligible to run for mayor of Baltimore.

The state's highest court issued a one-paragraph "per curiam" ruling just three hours after hearing arguments in the case. This order upheld a lower court ruling in McKeldin's favor and will be followed up later by a longer opinion setting forth the high court's reasoning.

The appelate ruling means McKeldin may run for Republican nomination in Baltimore's March 3 primary.

The question involved was whether McKeldin's residence in Annapolis during the past eight years as governor left him unqualified to run for mayor under Baltimore's 10-year residence requirement.

McKeldin, who was mayor of Baltimore before election to two terms as governor, filed last month for the Republican nomination to his old job.

He won the first round of a court battle over his eligibility when Judge John K. Tucker ruled in Baltimore Superior Court that he had not lost his status as a Baltimore resident while serving as governor.

An appeal was taken by Democrat Francis X. Gallagher, an attorney and political ally of Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

Gallagher originally brought suit against election officials to have McKeldin's name stricken from the ballot, and McKeldin intervened.

In arguing before the high court, Gallagher said a ruling permitting McKeldin to run would "open up a Pandora's box."

Elaborating on this mythology reference, he said such a decision would open up Baltimore offices to anyone who maintained a domicile in the city but lived elsewhere.

Joseph Sherbow, former Baltimore judge who presented McKeldin's side, said "the ballot boxes" would protect the public against any unqualified "carpet-baggers."

The Maryland constitution requires the governor to "reside" at the seat of government.

Gallagher cited records of debate by framers of the constitution in an attempt to show they rejected weaker language in favor of the word "reside."

But Sherbow said framers merely wanted the governor to be available at the capital. He said they did not expect him to give up "his roots."

In questions from the bench, Judge William L. Henderson indicated he felt the sole question was interpretation of the word "resident" as it appears in the Baltimore City Charter.

Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune did not sit because of illness, and the substitute judge he assigned was also ill. The four judges who heard the case were Hall Hammond, Stedman Prescott, William R. Horney and Henderson.

When she returned home each day, he said, on went the chain.

He said the girl was chained in the bedroom virtually all the time during vacation from school.

Judith and her two sisters were taken to the county's Miami Children's Home. The six boys, 14 to 22, were left with their parents.

Miss Jane M. Cartwright, executive secretary of the child welfare board, obtained a court order enabling the county to keep the three girls in custody until the case comes up in Family Relations Court.

No immediate action is planned against the parents, but Miss Cartwright said, "We're making a very careful study of the whole family."

At the children's home, a matron reported that Judith and her two sisters "ate good meals today. They seem fairly happy and we're satisfied that they're all right now."

ties and sent thousands home from mines and industrial plants.

The Ohio crested early Friday at East Liverpool, Ohio. Damage there was minor.

Downstream, a colony of river shacks under the Newell, W. Va., bridge was washed away. Parts of Wheeling (W. Va.) Island and the Wheeling Downs race track were inundated.

Near Flood Stage

Ice jams kept some rivers near flood stage in upstate New York. Huge chunks of water-borne ice rammed into houses in the western and south-central areas of the state.

At East Branch, N.Y., the Delaware River widened to 500 yards, five times its normal width.

Hundreds of New York State homes were without power.

The Wabash River inched up to within a foot of flood stage in Mount Carmel, Ill.

Freezing cold covered the eastern half of the nation.

Brother, He's Sure Mad At This "Brother"

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)— William Crute doesn't mind being his brother's keeper, but from now on he's going to keep unknown "brothers" at arm's length.

A drunk staggered over to Crute, threw his arms around him and asked: "Aren't you my brother?"

Crute assured him that he was not, and the drunk staggered away.

Minutes later, Crute discovered his wallet containing $81 was missing.

Brother, was he mad.

Court Order Backs Negroes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court Friday ordered four Negro children admitted to an Arlington County white junior high school at the beginning of the February semester.

The appeals court deferred further consideration of 26 other Negro applications for admission to white schools in the northern Virginia county, just across the Potomac River from Washington. The court said these applications "require further examination of the relevant circumstances before final conclusions can be reached."

U.S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan of Alexandria had ordered the four Negro children admitted to Stratford Junior High School Feb. 2.

The 26 other Negro applicants were denied admission to white schools under various criteria applied by the school board.

Ths case involved a cross appeal. The Arlington School Board appealed that section of Bryan's order directing the admission of the four Negroes, while the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People took issue with the section rejecting the applications of the 26 other Negroes.

Until now, in situations where school boards were faced by final orders to admit Negroes to white schools, the state has stepped in and closed the schools to prevent race mixing.

However, the school closing law under which shutdowns were effected was ruled constitutional Monday by both the state supreme court and a special three-judge federal court in Norfolk.

Highways Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland plans to spend more than 83 million dollars for highway building this year.

The State Roads Commission said the cost will be split on an almost 50-50 basis by the State and federal government.

Living Costs Down, Earnings Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs went down and factory worker earnings went up in December.

The Labor Department reported both developments Friday. Its index of living costs declined two-tenths of one per cent—the first dip since August.

Earnings of factory workers after taxes rose to a record high averaging $79.60 a week for the head of a family of four and $72.10 for the single worker. This was up $1.20 from November and $4.30 from a year earlier.

The living cost index declined to 123.7, meaning that it now costs about $1.24 to buy what $1 could get in the 1947-49 era. The index for December 1958 is 1.7 per cent higher than December 1957.

Because the living cost index has actually moved very little for many months, no wage change is due some 700,000 workers in the electrical, aircraft and other industries whose pay rates were subject to adjustment according to the December index.

The living cost index reached a peak of 123.9 last July. It edged down to 123.7 in August and stayed there in September and October. It moved back to 123.9 in November and down to 123.7 in December.

H. E. Riley, chief of the price and living cost division of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said he does not anticipate much change in January living costs. He said preliminary data indicates somewhat higher food costs.

Housewives may not have noticed it much, but food prices have declined steadily for five straight months. They average 2.2 per cent higher than a year earlier, but have dropped 2.5 per cent since July.

Prices of oranges fell more than 15 per cent in December. Coffee declined for the 11th straight month, selling 12.2 per cent lower than in January 1958.

Fresh fruits, eggs and poultry sold for less last month, but prices for vegetables and most meats were higher. Riley said pork prices are due to continue downward, beef prices upward.

In other consumer spending categories, transportation, clothing, recreation and personal care items declined, but housing and medical care continued up. Detroit is an exception in otherwise rising city rents.

Prices for new 1959 model automobiles declined a bit in December as dealers provided larger discounts. Used car prices continued rising. There have been new railroad and local transit fare increases.

The increase in worker spending money was attributed both to higher pay rates and longer working hours. When the increased pay dollars are adjusted for living cost changes, their buying power is only slightly below the peak level of December 1956.

Rescue Attempt

quehanna a major disaster area. This permits prompt dispatch of federal aid.

Two groups of miners escaped drowning Thursday. Seven men reached the surface first, then 26 others followed. They walked seven hours in freezing waist-deep water. Ten still are in Pittston Hospital for treatment of shock and exposure.

Of the missing men Connolly said: "We still have hope they went to high ground."

Crews of Lehigh Valley Railroad employes and mine workers still tried with scant success to shove empty coal cars, huge planks of timber and bales of straw into the whirlpool to serve as a dam. The chief difficulty lay in steering the material into the danger spot, about 20 yards off shore.

Mine Supt. Robert Groves said nearly 50 railroad gondolas were dumped into the void.

Port Griffith is a tiny rural village with fewer than 100 inhabitants. The mine was its only industry. Most of its residents work elsewhere—and most of the miners go there from other towns in the anthracite belt. Pittston is a mile south, and Scranton—the biggest city in the section—is 10 miles farther on.

Appeals Court Says M'Keldin Eligible For Mayor

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals ruled Friday that ex-Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin is eligible to run for mayor of Baltimore.

The state's highest court issued a one-paragraph "per curiam" ruling just three hours after hearing arguments in the case. This order upheld a lower court ruling in McKeldin's favor and will be followed up later by a longer opinion setting forth the high court's reasoning.

The appelate ruling means McKeldin may run for Republican nomination in Baltimore's March 3 primary.

The question involved was whether McKeldin's residence in Annapolis during the past eight years as governor left him unqualified to run for mayor under Baltimore's 10-year residence requirement.

McKeldin, who was mayor of Baltimore before election to two terms as governor, filed last month for the Republican nomination to his old job.

He won the first round of a court battle over his eligibility when Judge John K. Tucker ruled in Baltimore Superior Court that he had not lost his status as a Baltimore resident while serving as governor.

An appeal was taken by Democrat Francis X. Gallagher, an attorney and political ally of Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

Gallagher originally brought suit against election officials to have McKeldin's name stricken from the ballot, and McKeldin intervened.

In arguing before the high court, Gallagher said a ruling permitting McKeldin to run would "open up a Pandora's box."

Elaborating on this mythology reference, he said such a decision would open up Baltimore offices to anyone who maintained a domicle in the city but lived elsewhere.

Joseph Sherbow, former Baltimore judge who presented McKeldin's side, said "the ballot boxes" would protect the public against any unqualified "carpet-baggers."

The Maryland constitution requires the governor to "reside" at the seat of government.

Gallagher cited records of debate by framers of the constitution in an attempt to show they rejected weaker language in favor of the word "reside."

But Sherbow said framers merely wanted the governor to be available at the capital. He said they did not expect him to give up "his roots."

In questions from the bench, Judge William L. Henderson indicated he felt the sole question was interpretation of the word "resident" as it appears in the Baltimore City Charter.

Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune did not sit because of illness, and the substitute judge he assigned was also ill. The four judges who heard the case were Hall Hammond, Stedman Prescott, William R. Horney and Henderson.

Maryland Tour Will Open Apr. 25

April 25 through May 10 has been set for the 1959 Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage. Many of Maryland's finest homes will be open to the public.

The tour ranges from the urban elegance of Sherwood Gardens in Baltimore city to the simplicity of "Betty's Delight," in Charles County. Visitors will go through some of the choicest of homelands, from the tobacco country of Southern Maryland to the Tidewater regions of the Eastern Shore, and finally to the green hills of "My Lady's Manor."

The first two days will be spent in Southern Maryland: St. Mary's County and Charles County, where a house is a family heirloom, passed down through the generations. Here in 1634 Maryland's history began with the first colonists in search of religious freedom.

Baltimore's Mt. Vernon Place (April 29) is considered one of the most beautiful in the country. Important on this tour are The Walters Art Gallery, Peabody Institute and many homes, including Mount Clare, home of Charles Carroll, the barrister, which is the city's oldest building, and the only surviving pre-Revolutionary home.

The Anne Arundel County route this year, April 30, is concentrated in Annapolis.

On the Eastern Shore, Cecil County, May 1, Worsell Manor and Greenfields will be open. Continuing to Talbot County, May 2, Wye House and Fairview should not be missed. The Kent County tour, May 3, will include many fine houses in Chestertown, once the most important shipping port in Maryland.

New to the tour this year is Dickeyville (May 5), an early mill town. Woodbruck - Ruxton - Lutherville (May 6), are among the oldest and loveliest suburbs. The houses on the tour range from Tyrconnell to Pagebrook. Guilford and Roland Park sections of Baltimore will be open May 7. In the Green Spring Valley (May 8), Alto Dale Farm and Stemmer House will be open. Harford County, May 9, includes the section of the county with the fullest early history. The tour will end May 10 in My Lady's Manor, the 10,000-acre tract presented in 1713 by Charles Calvert, third Lord Baltimore, to his young fourth wife.

He retired in 1946 as a boiler maker. Mr. Clark's hobby is hunting, and this year he went out with a group deer hunting.

Iota Epsilon Chapter, TPL Plans Welfare Work

A discussion of its welfare work featured the meeting of the Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, held Thursday evening at the Girl Scout house.

Mrs. Mary Alice Millholland reported members worked at the Allegany County Crippled Children's League for nine hours. Miss Henrietta Lippold asked for help with the Easter seals, and members decided to cancel the February 5 social meeting, skipping a Valentine party in favor of addressing Easter seal envelopes. Each of the group will take her own portable typewriter. Volunteers also signed to assist in the Mothers March on Polio.

Names of prospective members are to be submitted at the regular business meeting, which will be held February 19. They will be entertained at a rush party March 19.

Miss Jacqua Day presided at the meeting, using the formal opening. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Jean Lindner and Mrs. Dorothy Ambrose. Correspondence was read, including a thank-you note from the family which received the Thanksgiving basket. The Welfare Club of the Woodmen's Circle was discussed and members subscribed 100 per cent for the second year.

Concluding the meeting sorority songs were practiced. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Betty Dean and Mrs. Hazel Kemp hostesses. Others present were Miss Patricia Phillips, Miss Juanita Prine, Mrs. Anna Lee Snider, Miss Sylvia Sisk and Mrs. Jane Frederick.

Prayer Groups Are Formed

Upon the suggestion of Mrs. Edward Taschenberger, the Mount Tabor Woman's Society of Christian Service formed small prayer groups and visited the sick and shut-ins weekly. She was appointed chairman.

Plans were formulated at the annual covered dish luncheon, held Wednesday. Mrs. William Hetrick, Mrs. Charles Riley and Miss Bertha Davis were hostesses.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Foster Smith. Mrs. John Hixon joined the society. Routine reports were given. Mrs. Hetrick led devotions, using the theme, "Rekindling the Gift." She led in prayer for the missions and also offered a prayer for evangelism. Mrs. Taschenberger read the Scripture. Maryland Tour Will Open Apr. 25

April 25 through May 10 has been set for the 1959 Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage. Many of Maryland's finest homes will be open to the public.

The tour ranges from the urban elegance of Sherwood Gardens in Baltimore city to the simplicity of "Betty's Delight," in Charles County. Visitors will go through some of the choicest of homelands, from the tobacco country of Southern Maryland to the Tidewater regions of the Eastern Shore, and finally to the green hills of "My Lady's Manor."

The first two days will be spent in Southern Maryland: St. Mary's County and Charles County, where a house is a family heirloom, passed down through the generations. Here in 1634 Maryland's history began with the first colonists in search of religious freedom.

Baltimore's Mt. Vernon Place (April 29) is considered one of the most beautiful in the country. Important on this tour are The Walters Art Gallery, Peabody Institute and many homes, including Mount Clare, home of Charles Carroll, the barrister, which is the city's oldest building, and the only surviving pre-Revolutionary home.

The Anne Arundel County route this year, April 30, is concentrated in Annapolis.

On the Eastern Shore, Cecil County, May 1, Worsell Manor and Greenfields will be open. Continuing to Talbot County, May 2, Wye House and Fairview should not be missed. The Kent County tour, May 3, will include many fine houses in Chestertown, once the most important shipping port in Maryland.

New to the tour this year is Dickeyville (May 5), an early mill town. Woodbruck - Ruxton - Lutherville (May 6), are among the oldest and loveliest suburbs. The houses on the tour range from Tyrconnell to Pagebrook. Guilford and Roland Park sections of Baltimore will be open May 7. In the Green Spring Valley (May 8), Alto Dale Farm and Stemmer House will be open. Harford County, May 9, includes the section of the county with the fullest early history. The tour will end May 10 in My Lady's Manor, the 10,000-acre tract presented in 1713 by Charles Calvert, third Lord Baltimore, to his young fourth wife.

Flanigan To Head Heart Fund Drive In Frostburg Area

EDWARD P. FLANAGAN

FROSTBURG — Edward P. Flanigan has been appointed to head the February Heart Fund campaign in Frostburg, it was announced yesterday by George R. Hughes Jr., general campaign chairman.

Mr. Flanigan, a native of Mt. Savage and a son of Michael E. Flanigan of Mt. Savage and the late Anna (Brady) Flanigan, attended St. Patrick's School in that community, Beall High School here, and Catherman's Business School in Cumberland.

A veteran of World War II after service with the Navy in the South Pacific area, Mr. Flanigan was employed by Celanese Corporation from 1946 to 1948. After that period he accepted a position as manager of the Allegany Citizen, a county weekly.

In 1957, he resigned from the newspaper to operate his own office equipment and supply business, which he continues to operate.

Active in civic affairs as well as politics, Mr. Flanigan is well known here and throughout the county. He was a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates in the last election. He has been interested in the industrial development of Frostburg and served on a committee which met with the RFC in Richmond to further this program. In 1946 he assisted in the formation of the Frostburg Community Programs and last year served as president of that group. He is now vice president.

Mr. Flanigan is a past president of the Frostburg Lions Club and has completed two years as president of the PTA of St. Michael's School. He is an active member of Farrady Post 24, American Legion, a member of Maplehurst Country Club and is past treasurer of the Allegany County Young Democrats.

Mr. Flanigan is married to the former Miss Mary Juanita Jackson and they have a son, Thomas, age 8. The Flanigans reside at 207 West Mechanic Street here.

In accepting the assignment of organizing the drive in Frostburg, Mr. Flanigan began immediately to enlist the assistance of a number of prominent local people. He said, "This health program, which is designed to raise funds to combat heart disease and bring about greater understanding of this war to lengthen life, is so important every thinking citizen can well afford to give some time and means to it. Every hour we give to a program which is dedicated to better health and longer life, pays ten-fold dividends in better health and longer life for each of us."

Flood Reaches Crest; Damage Is Extensive

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — The swollen Ohio River, choked with ice, crested at several points along its northern West Virginia course Friday after causing considerable damage.

The damage not only was by water but from a horde of runaway barges which were torn loose from their moorings near Pittsburgh and washed downstream. The heavy boats rammed into bridges at several points, causing damage to piers.

Some river locks also were damaged by the barges, some of them loaded with metal or other materials. They had been set free as a huge accumulation of ice washed out of the Allegheny River.

It was reported many of the barges were owned by Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., Midland, Pa Nearly 100 broke loose. Some of them were coralled and anchored along the river by tug boats but the 15-mile-an-hour current, together with debris and the subsequent ice, created tremendous problems.

An estimated 600 families evacuated their homes from New Cumberland south to Parkersburg as a result of high water. Crests of some eight feet above flood stage occurred at Weirton, Wellsburg, Moundsville and Wheeling Friday afternoon.

Water In Towns

Among the hardest hit towns along the river in West Virginia were New Cumberland, near the northern tip of the state in Hancock County, and New Martinsville. Nearly two feet of water flooded three main streets of New Cumberland.

Wetzel County Court House in midtown New Martinsville was virtually sourrounded by water. An amphibious "duck" was used at New Cumberland to take children home from school at mid-afternoon.

Where the water began receding, ice formed, creating additional hazards, and problems. Houses in lowlands were encrusted with ice up to the windows in some cases, delaying reoccupancy.

The river continued to rise south from New Martinsville with crests not expected until during the weekend. Ravenswood expected to get some water in the town, as did Williamstown, but most other river towns are eihter protected by floodwalls or sit high enough not to be hit very hard.

The barges created a tense situation. The first major test came at Weirton where two highway bridges and a railroad bridge the river to Ohio. The main Fort Steuben Bridge had piers struck seven times but apparently escaped serious damage.

Closed Temporarily

At Wheeling, the Fort Henry Bridge and the old suspension bridge were struck a number of times and like the bridges at Weirton, were closed for a time. The bridge from Wheeling Island to Ohio, however, remained blocked by high water at its approaches.

High water at Marietta, Ohio, was expected to close the bridge from Williamstown, W. Va., to the Ohio city. W Va. 2 was blocked at several points north of Benwood, as were a number of others in the area.

The Ohio crested at Wheeling at 44 feet, which one floodwise veteran remarked "is only a footwasher" and nothing to get excited about.

That was the general attitude of many other long-time residents of the area where floods have been fairly common for years.

Construction at the 360 million dollar New Cumberland dam and locks apparently escaped any serious damage from the rampaging barges. Likewise did Weirton's new sewage plant, under construction.

Plan Games Parties

LONACONING—Ladies Auxiliary of Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1, will hold a games party beginning Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the firemen's armory.

These parties will replace the regular Thursday afternoon meetings of the auxiliary and will be held every Monday evening.

GOC Outpost At Frostburg Is Inactivated

Automation Will Displace Watchers

FROSTBURG — On January 31 one of the most active of all Civil Defense units will become a memory in the United States due to technological advances in the past 10 years, says C. Walter Hayes, chief observer of outpost 24-B Ground Observer Corps, better known as "Operation Skywatch."

The Air Defense Command, directors of the GOC, has announced that due to present radar networks and its further expansion and improvements, the manually operated Air Defense system is now being replaced by "SAGE", semi-automatic ground environment, effective January 31.

Hayes pointed out that outpost 24-B originally came into existence June 6, 1941, as a part of the Air Warning Service of World War 2, and was discontinued in 1943. Over 150 observers had operated the post 24 hours a day reporting to the filter center all planes flying over the area.

In 1950 the GOC was organized with Adam W. Kalbaugh as chief observer. Following a period of training which included Civil Defense training films, local aviators aided the methods of observation and identification by flying their planes over the city from various directions and at different heights.

Women were recruited to serve as observers and many husband-wife teams manned the post. By 1954 the group had logged 5433 hours of observation time. In December 1956 the GOC was placed on "Ready Reserve" and only manned it when called upon.

Donald Lewis led the observers in time by logging over 2,000 hours, equivalent to a full years work of 40 hours a week for 50 weeks, all voluntary and without pay. Twenty-two persons logged 250 hours; nine 500 hours; two 750 hours; two 1300 hours; and one each for 1500 and 1750 hours.

Ninety-five members are now in the process of receiving certificates and cards giving them honorary life membership in the USAF Air Defense team by virtue of voluntary service in GOC 1949-59.

Four persons will receive certificates of voluntary service for three successive years work and active at time post was inactivated. They include: C. Walter Hayes, chief observer; and John L. Dunkle and Kathleen Todd, daily supervisor; Vincent Bollino, chief supervisor and member of the post since its inception.

When organized, Hayes said, the post was operated daily from early morning until late evening. The highest number of planes observed and reported in one day were 69 on May 15, 1956. One observer logged 18 planes in 2 hours.

In closing, Hayes said that although the work was grueling at times and that personal time was given to manning the post, many of the observers regret to see the project abandoned because of the satisfaction they received by serving.

Hyndman Lions Sponsor Program For Young People

"Humility is the greatest asset a man can have" said Frank Thomas, third baseman in the Hyndman-Londonderry High School auditorium last night. "Take the good with the bad and learn from both," the youthful player told his audience.

The program was sponsored by the local Lions Club in the interest of promoting activity and more community-wide concern for the general welfare of the young people of the community. Dr. John A. Topper, local physician was master of ceremonies.

Another speaker on the program was the sergeant of the Bedford Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police Andrew Marafka. Sgt. Marafka has been instrumental in the establishment of Boy's Clubs in the Lewistown-Hollidaysburg areas of Central Pennsylvania. He told the group, "The biggest treasure in the world is our youth. Nothing is as vital and important for the future of our world than the proper training of our young people."

He added that parents need to take more time and interest in their children and their problems. "Lack of love and concern is the main root trouble of our young people," he said. He added that he hopes a Boy's Club could be started in the Hyndman area soon.

The guests were luncheon guests of the local Lion's Club preceding the meeting at the high school. The committee on arrangements included Timothy Sides, Raymond Morgart, Harry Ritchey, James Pick and Vance Diehl.

Driver Killed In Truck Crash Near Kingwood

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — The driver was killed in a spectacular trailer-tractor accident Friday on the Caddell Mountain Road near Kingwood.

The victim was tentatively identified as Junior Watson of Clarksburg, a driver for West Virginia Motor Freight there

Preston County Sheriff Charles S. Harriman and state police who investigated said the trailer's brakes apparently failed, because the road was dry at the scene of the wreck.

It plunged 200 feet down a mountainside, rolled across a community road in the village of Wetzel, then down another 50 feet into a ravine.

The sheriff said a resident of Wetzel, Mrs. Howard Hartley, witnessed the wreck and called police.

EDWARD P. FLANAGAN

FROSTBURG — Edward P. Flanigan has been appointed to head the February Heart Fund campaign in Frostburg, it was announced yesterday by George R. Hughes Jr., general campaign chairman.

Mr. Flanigan, a native of Mt. Savage and a son of Michael E. Flanigan of Mt. Savage and the late Anna (Brady) Flanigan, attended St. Patrick's School in that community, Beall High School here, and Catherman's Business School in Cumberland.

A veteran of World War II after service with the Navy in the South Pacific area, Mr. Flanigan was employed by Celanese Corporation from 1946 to 1948. After that period he accepted a position as manager of the Allegany Citizen, a county weekly.

In 1957, he resigned from the newspaper to operate his own office equipment and supply business, which he continues to operate.

Active in civic affairs as well as politics, Mr. Flanigan is well known here and throughout the county. He was a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates in the last election. He has been interested in the industrial development of Frostburg and served on a committee which met with the RFC in Richmond to further this program. In 1946 he assisted in the formation of the Frostburg Community Programs and last year served as president of that group. He is now vice president.

Mr. Flanigan is a past president of the Frostburg Lions Club and has completed two years as president of the PTA of St. Michael's School. He is an active member of Farrady Post 24, American Legion, a member of Maplehurst Country Club and is past treasurer of the Allegany County Young Democrats.

Mr. Flanigan is married to the former Miss Mary Juanita Jackson and they have a son, Thomas, age 8. The Flanigans reside at 207 West Mechanic Street here.

In accepting the assignment of organizing the drive in Frostburg, Mr. Flanigan began immediately to enlist the assistance of a number of prominent local people. He said, "This health program, which is designed to raise funds to combat heart disease and bring about greater understanding of this war to lengthen life, is so important every thinking citizen can well afford to give some time and means to it. Every hour we give to a program which is dedicated to better health and longer life, pays ten-fold dividends in better health and longer life for each of us."

Flood Reaches Crest; Damage Is Extensive

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — The swollen Ohio River, choked with ice, crested at several points along its northern West Virginia course Friday after causing considerable damage.

The damage not only was by water but from a horde of runaway barges which were torn loose from their moorings near Pittsburgh and washed downstream. The heavy boats rammed into bridges at several points, causing damage to piers.

Some river locks also were damaged by the barges, some of them loaded with metal or other materials. They had been set free as a huge accumulation of ice washed out of the Allegheny River.

It was reported many of the barges were owned by Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., Midland, Pa Nearly 100 broke loose. Some of them were coralled and anchored along the river by tug boats but the 15-mile-an-hour current, together with debris and the subsequent ice, created tremendous problems.

An estimated 600 families evacuated their homes from New Cumberland south to Parkersburg as a result of high water. Crests of some eight feet above flood stage occurred at Weirton, Wellsburg, Moundsville and Wheeling Friday afternoon.

Water In Towns

Among the hardest hit towns along the river in West Virginia were New Cumberland, near the northern tip of the state in Hancock County, and New Martinsville. Nearly two feet of water flooded three main streets of New Cumberland.

Wetzel County Court House in midtown New Martinsville was virtually sourrounded by water. An amphibious "duck" was used at New Cumberland to take children home from school at midafternoon.

Where the water began receding, ice formed, creating additional hazards, and problems. Houses in lowlands were encrusted with ice up to the windows in some cases, delaying reoccupancy.

The river continued to rise south from New Martinsville with crests not expected until during the weekend. Ravenswood expected to get some water in the town, as did Williamstown, but most other river towns are eihter protected by floodwalls or sit high enough not to be hit very hard.

The barges created a tense situation. The first major test came at Weirton where two highway bridges and a railroad bridge the river to Ohio. The main Fort Steuben Bridge had piers struck seven times but apparently escaped serious damage.

Closed Temporarily

At Wheeling, the Fort Henry Bridge and the old suspension bridge were struck a number of times and like the bridges at Weirton, were closed for a time. The bridge from Wheeling Island to Ohio, however, remained blocked by high water at its approaches.

High water at Marietta, Ohio, was expected to close the bridge from Williamstown, W. Va., to the Ohio city. W Va. 2 was blocked at several points north of Benwood, as were a number of others in the area.

The Ohio crested at Wheeling at 44 feet, which one floodwise veteran remarked 'is only a footwasher and nothing to get excited about.'

That was the general attitude of many other long-time residents of the area where floods have been fairly common for years.

Construction at the 360 million dollar New Cumberland dam and locks apparently escaped any serious damage from the rampaging barges. Likewise did Weirton's new sewage plant, under construction.

Plan Games Parties

LONACONING—Ladies Auxiliary of Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1, will hold a games party beginning Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the firemen's armory.

These parties will replace the regular Thursday afternoon meetings of the auxiliary and will be held every Monday evening.

GOC Outpost At Frostburg Is Inactivated

Automation Will Displace Watchers

FROSTBURG — On January 31 one of the most active of all Civil Defense units will become a memory in the United States due to technological advances in the past 10 years, says C. Walter Hayes, chief observer of outpost 24-B Ground Observer Corps, better known as "Operation Skywatch."

The Air Defense Command, directors of the GOC, has announced that due to present radar networks and its further expansion and improvements, the manually operated Air Defense system is now being replaced by "SAGE", semi-automatic ground environment, effective January 31.

Hayes pointed out that outpost 24-B originally came into existence June 6, 1941, as a part of the Air Warning Service of World War 2, and was discontinued in 1943. Over 150 observers had operated the post 24 hours a day reporting to the filter center all planes flying over the area.

In 1950 the GOC was organized with Adam W. Kalbaugh as chief observer. Following a period of training which included Civil Defense training films, local aviators aided the methods of observation and identification by flying their planes over the city from various directions and at different heights.

Women were recruited to serve as observers and many husband-wife teams manned the post. By 1954 the group had logged 5433 hours of observation time. In December 1956 the GOC was placed on "Ready Reserve" and only manned it when called upon.

Donald Lewis led the observers in time by logging over 2,000 hours, equivalent to a full years work of 40 hours a week for 50 weeks, all voluntary and without pay. Twenty-two persons logged 250 hours; nine 500 hours; two 750 hours; two 1300 hours; and one each for 1500 and 1750 hours.

Ninety-five members are now in the process of receiving certificates and cards giving them honorary life membership in the USAF Air Defense team by virtue of voluntary service in GOC 1949-59.

Four persons will receive certificates of voluntary service for three successive years work and active at time post was inactivated. They include: C. Walter Hayes, chief observer; and John L. Dunkle and Kathleen Todd, daily supervisor; Vincent Bollino, chief supervisor and member of the post since its inception.

When organized, Hayes said, the post was operated daily from early morning until late evening. The highest number of planes observed and reported in one day were 69 on May 15, 1956. One observer logged 18 planes in 2 hours.

In closing, Hayes said that although the work was grueling at times and that personal time was given to manning the post, many of the observers regret to see the project abandoned because of the satisfaction they received by serving.

Hyndman Lions Sponsor Program For Young People

"Humility is the greatest asset a man can have" said Frank Thomas, third baseman in the Hyndman-Londonderry High School auditorium last night. "Take the good with the bad and learn from both," the youthful player told his audience.

The program was sponsored by the local Lions Club in the interest of promoting activity and more community-wide concern for the general welfare of the young people of the community. Dr. John A. Topper, local physician was master of ceremonies.

Another speaker on the program was the sergeant of the Bedford Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police Andrew Marafka. Sgt. Marafka has been instrumental in the establishment of Boy's Clubs in the Lewistown-Hollidaysburg areas of Central Pennsylvania. He told the group, "The biggest treasure in the world is our youth. Nothing is as vital and important for the future of our world than the proper training of our young people."

Would you like to be a child forever? Would you like to go sledding each time it snowed without a thought of shoveling the front walk or checking the firewood supply?

If at first you say yes, think again. Childhood is wonderful, but there are few of us who would want to be confined to it forever. Our natural urge toward growth is a strong one. We instinctively want to progress mentally, physically, and spiritually.

Nature will take care of a large part of the mental and physical part of our growth. But for our spiritual development, we must look toward the Church.

It is never too late to start learning—and you will find the Church the most patient of teachers. Start attending services this Sunday.

Would you like to be a child forever? Would you like to go sledding each time it snowed without a thought of shoveling the front walk or checking the firewood supply?

If at first you say yes, think again. Childhood is wonderful, but there are few of us who would want to be confined to it forever. Our natural urge toward growth is a strong one. We instinctively want to progress mentally, physically, and spiritually.

Nature will take care of a large part of the mental and physical part of our growth. But for our spiritual development, we must look toward the Church.

It is never too late to start learning—and you will find the Church the most patient of teachers. Start attending services this Sunday.

The Cherished Right Of Protest

In an age in which most of us have learned to accept without protest almost any inconvenience in the name of progress, it is pleasant to hear of the forward march of atomic power being halted, even if temporarily, by an unexpected force—a wrathful army of bird watchers.

At Dungeness in southern England is a wide, marshy area, swept by sea winds, forlorn and almost deserted. The ideal spot, one would think, for the site of a nuclear power station, free from protesting and petitioning residents and with land of negligible value. So the British government reasoned until it found itself face to face with a solid phalanx of indignant bird watchers.

The marshes, it developed, are "cross roads" for migrant birds and each year thousands are caught, ringed and released at an observatory. In the face of the bird watchers' protests, the British government took refuge in a public inquiry.

The result was surprising. Protesters came from far and near and revealed that bird watching knows no social, financial or other distinctions. It is a democratic, dedicated pastime.

There is something heartening these days in the thought of "the duke and the dustman" joining forces in such a cause to oppose the juggernaut of officialdom. Perhaps they will go down to defeat in the end and those who are not bird watchers will smile in a superior way, unaware that democracy is something more than the right to vote—that it is the right to protest bravely and firmly for things that are cherished.

It is the protest that is important, not the result.

These Days

Fresh Guys

The motion picture industry was hit as hard by the opposition to Communists building their party's treasury out of the enormous salaries paid in Hollywood as by the rise of television. What is called "black-listing" was nothing more, in essence, than a public resistance to a comparatively small group in this industry whom the public would not support. Men and women refused to see pictures with regard to which Communists had anything to do.

It is significant that during Mikoyan's visit to the United States, the motion picture industry announced that Communists, Fifth Amendment witnesses, and other Red Hots are now eligible for Oscars, which, of course, also means that the industry is again free to give them employment. It must be part of the People-to-People Movement or some such thing. At the same time Dalton Trumbo announced that he is the Robert Rich who won an Oscar in 1957 but could not accept it because he was bootlegging a job. Many Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses worked namelessly or under an assumed name.

The motion picture industry is coming back to life, partly because it is manufacturing for television and partly because it has so cut down overhead as no longer to be in danger of going into the red on a very profitable picture. There are numerous independent producers and pictures are made in many parts of the world where the cost of production is less than in the United States. This also has aided in tax evasion.

It is a little difficult to discover the exact reason for opening the studios to Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses, except perhaps that it is ridiculous for Eric Johnston to go to Russia to try to sell American films to Soviet Russia while the American film industry refuses to employ Russia's friends and agents. So we shall have some Communists get Oscars this year, which may or may not save us from the Cold War. Perhaps the Russians will buy films in which American Communists worked and that will make the studios rich, although that is doubtful.

The Mikoyan event has so many side issues that one is not astonished at anything. In a prior article in which I listed some purchasers of tables for the New York Economic Club dinner to the little Armenian, I listed General Dynamics which manufactures both submarines and airplanes. Now I am instructed by this company that they did not take a table at all. I wonder how many other names in the official listing are of companies, banks or individuals who were not there and did not designate that they would be there. I am keeping that seating list as a souvenir of a disreputable event.

This little man, Mikoyan, is a fresh guy and Americans resent the way he talks about our country and the way he threatened us with war if we did not do as he proposes. And his visit, which might have accomplished much good if properly arranged through channels, has now backfired. Perhaps the motion picture industry will soon discover that it was a little premature in accepting Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses as candidates for Oscars. The great statesmen of that industry may find that they are reviving a dying activity — the activity of identifying such men and women and making them known to the world. Certainly tying up this particular development with the visit of Mikoyan in time if nothing else, could backfire, particularly if the Armenian's threat of continued Cold or Hot War should take effect. Do we have to pay their agents with our money?

And Jerry Lewis may even discover that he wise-cracked too effectively if not too wisely about this being "the real McCoyan." Get it? These wisecracks sure send them rolling in the aisles. Jerry might tell his audience how it feels to be kissed on both cheeks by a Kremlin boss. Personally, I would prefer a female without a moustache.

So, let us pull down the shades on another unfortunate incident in Hollywood's effort to play the role of statesmanship. Those who ran the motion picture business did much better when the bosses tended to business and left statesmanship to the chosen officials of the nation. They made money in those days and gave work to thousands of writers and actors.

Letter-Writers Urge Congressional Probe Of Faubus' Red Background

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Francis Walter's Un-American Activities Committee has been bombarded with letters urging an investigation into Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus's pinko background. The letter writers believe he should be given an opportunity, like other Americans misguided in their youth, to repent in public of his past political sins.

Faubus was student body president of Commonwealth College when it was run by the Reds. The Governor has already assured Arkansas voters tha his name didn't appear on the list of Commonwealth student leaders exposed in 1935 by Arkansas' Joint Legislative Investigating Committee.

This is true. But the truth also is that the committee concluded its investigation in February, 1935. Faubus was elected to office on the "United Front" ticket two months afterward.

Significantly, the May Day, 1935, edition of Commonwealth College Fortnightly reports: "Orval Faubus, young farmer school teacher from Combs, Arkansas . . . (was) elected to two offices. Faubus is both student body president and member of the Disciplinary Committee." In other words, Faubus became student body leader after the Arkansas Legislature had exposed Commonwealth College as a Communist front.

Cuban Revolt

Wise old Luis Munoz Marin, first native Puerto Rican ever elected governor of that island commonwealth, has been in Washington attending the dinner for Argentine President Frondizi and advising with various Senators. He tells them that the most important thing to remember about the Cuban revolution is that it's a social revolution.

It's not a change of palace guard or politicians. It's from the people. After smoldering for months in eastern Cuba, it burst out and spread like wildfire. To have had this force, it had to come from the people.

Gov. Munoz Marin has seen a lot of Latin American revolutions come and go. He has even given asylum to some exiled presidents, such as President Betancourt of Venezuela. He is an expert on grass-roots movements.

"This revolution in Cuba," he confided to Senators, "looks like a genuine grass-roots reform. It should set up a new regime truly reresentative of the Cuban people. They are fed up with graft and corruption. The men who lead this movement are young, sincere idealists. It will surprise me if something permanent and very fine does not come out of this revolution."

Green's Revolt

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have been trying for six months to coax chairman Theodore Francis Green to move to fancier, roomier quarters in the new Senate Office Building. But the much-loved 91-year-old Rhode Island Democrat has stubbornly refused to budge. He likes to walk to work in the morning and he also likes his old headquarters.

When new quarters were offered last summer, he said he was contented with the old rooms and instructed the Rules Committee to give the space to some other committee. Whereupon his fellow committee members almost started a mutiny. Green, however, refused either to listen or to let them vote on the move.

Afterward other Senators slipped around behind his back and persuaded the Rules Committee to hold the space for them until January. Last week they approached elder statesman Green again about moving.

"It's too late," he declared triumphantly. "The rooms have already been released."

When they told him it just so happened the option was still open, Green fussed and fumed. The old rooms, he said, were hallowed by tradition. Great Senators have occupied them—William E. Borah of Idaho, Key Pittman of Nevada. Finally he agreed to appoint a three-man subcommittee to "consider" the move. He promptly named himself chairman with authority to make the final decision.

Korean Revolt

Handsome Washington antique dealer Byung Choll Koh, a 35-year-old Korean, put on his Homburg the other day and picketed the White House all alone in 20-degree weather. He had locked up his Connecticut Avenue shop which caters to such VIPs as Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Justice William O. Douglas, and Mrs. Allen Dulles, to protest President Syngman Rhee' latest police-state security laws.

More than 20 of them were railroaded through the Korean Congress the night before Christmas, though only after opposition politicians had staged a six-day sitdown strike in the Parliament Building until forcibly ejected by Rhee's police.

"It's a terrible thing," said Koh, "for the American government to be a party to the maintenance and perpetuation of an aged tyrant in office. To call Rhee a democrat and to say that Korea is part of the free world is as false as anything the Communists are saying up north. To say that Rhee is protecting Korea against Communism is equally false.

"I don't think the American taxpayers want America to everlastingly bolster a police state. If they do, I'm afraid America will lose the respect not only of Koreans but millions throughout Asia, and you may have another Cuban revolt on your hands — this one in the Far East."

The Diplomatic Pouch

Washington attorney Bill Roberts commented to a member of Dulles's former law firm upon the "improvement" in the Secretary of State. "Dulles seems to be waking up," Roberts said. "It's about time," the Secretary's former law associate replied. "He'd been asleep for 20 years!" . . . Dulles has sent word to Fidel Castro of Cuba that the USA is ready to help the new Cuban government with economic aid. It was Milton Eisenhower who urged Dulles to rush this offer to Havana. As a result, Castro has given his assurances that American investments will not be confiscated. . . . Ex-Ambassador Earl Smith reports that Fidel Castro is by no means a Communist but his brother Raul is well to the left. The overwhelming majority of Castro's followers, says the Ambassador, are sincere anti-Communists but there are some Reds supporting him. . . . The bearded emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie, who once stood up against Mussolini in the League of Nations, is now standing up against another dictator in Egypt, Colonel Nasser. The Emperor has warned Nasser to keep his agents out of Ethiopia or he will place the matter before the United Nations.

Political Battle Of 1960 Already Under Way

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Republican National Committee's meeting in Des Moines this week focuses attention on two questions — why did the Republicans lose the last election? What do they intend to do about the 1960 election?

As of this writing and assuming no substantial change for the better in the economic situation, the Republicans are doomed to defeat again no matter whether they nominate Nixon or Rockefeller.

The man who holds the key to 1960 is President Eisenhower. If his record in the next 18 months is outstanding and business is booming, the Republican nominee can win—either Nixon or Rockefeller.

At the moment Nixon is a part of the Eisenhower Administration and will naturally defend it vigorously if he is nominated. Rockefeller was reported last autumn to have maneuvered away from the Eisenhower Administration and actually to have won some Democratic votes that way during his campaign for Governor of New York State. Sometime between now and the Republican National Convention in 1960, Rockefeller will have to demonstrate that he is strongly behind the Eisenhower Administration and that he is willing to defend it wholeheartedly. Unless he does, he cannot win conservative support for the nomination, and it so happens that conservatives do play a very influential part in the Republican Party.

The argument that "Rockefeller can win the election but Nixon can't" is being heard now, just as in 1952 it was being said that "Ike can win but Taft can't." This correspondent thought so, too, before the convention, but, after examining the election returns, came to the conclusion that any Republican nominee, including Senator Taft, could have won, and wrote that comment within a week after the election in 1952.

The Truman Administration in power in 1952 was not popular—any Republican nominee for the Presidency could have benefited by its shortcomings. Ike's personal popularity did swell the majority, but the verdict of the country was anti-Truman and not pro-Republican.

The 1952 experience may have a significant meaning to the Democrats this time. As of today, any Democrat of prominence could win the Presidency because the trend is against the Eisenhower Administration due primarily to economic adversity—for the country has not yet pulled out of the recession. By 1960 a better economic situation may favor the Republicans.

As of today, moreover, Adlai Stevenson is the most likely Democratic Presidential nominee. He is stronger with the rank and file of the Democratic state organizations than anyone else — and they do the nominating. The argument that "Stevenson can't win, because he has been beaten twice" doesn't mean much in a year when the party of the incumbent administration has just suffered an overwhelming defeat.

What can the Republicans do to overcome the big odds against them? For one thing, they need party unity—they talk too much about labels, such as "conservative" or "liberal," when the fact is most of the so-called "liberals" are addicted to a philosophy of government which borders on radicalism. Only the Southern conservatives are sticking to principle, while the Northern democrats, like their "liberal" Republican brethren, are interested in more and more spending and bigger and bigger deficits. They call this "bold and imaginative planning." It's bold and imaginative, to be sure, but it can give the country a ten-cent dollar unless the conservative strength inside both parties is effectively mobilized to prevent it. Opportunistic leadership on Congress cannot long retain for the Democrats the confidence of the country. The voters in the Northern states are more anti-Republican today than they are pro-Democratic.

This means that, if the Republicans operate as an effective minority party in the next 18 months in Congress and if the economic situation improves, the Republican chances of winning the Presidency may improve, too.

To speak of the Republican nominees for 1960 in terms of personality as a decisive factor is to ignore the lessons of political history. When the tide is running against an administration in power for eight years, the candidate of its party—unless there's a war or a business boom—has only a slim chance, no matter who he is. So whether either Nixon or Rockefeller will be elected, if nominated in 1960, depends on what Dwight Eisenhower does in the next year and a half. If the record is good and employment is high, either nominee can win. If the record isn't good, neither can win. For the voters will cast their ballots for or against the Eisenhower administration and for a continuance or discontinuance of its programs and policies.

War On Inflation?

By Leslie Gould

For the first time an Administration is giving public recognition to the two major forces making for inflation and is taking steps to do something about both.

The two forces depreciating the dollar's purchasing power and pricing this country's business out of the world markets are:

The wage price spiral.

The ever rising cost of government.

In his economic message, President Eisenhower put particular emphasis on the labor monopoly which is responsible for rises in wages and fringe benefits far outstripping gains in productivity.

In his budget message, he called for reduced spending and some tax increases so that the federal budget will be balanced. If this balance is achieved, it will be the first time since 1957 and the sixth time since the war ended.

The budget estimates at best are only a guess, and Presidential guessing in the past as to what will be the final result 18 months hence have little relation to realities. So, the betting is that the 1960 budget will again be in the red ink—the 10th unbalanced budget since the war.

Up to now, the emphasis on controlling the inflation has been through regulating the flow of credit and money rates by the Federal Reserve System.

This is a wage-price-government deficit inflation. Yet, the Federal Reserve has been mistakenly tackling it as a credit inflation, similar to that of 1929 and the early 1930s. The only way this kind of control will check a wage-price inflation is through bringing on a recession serious enough to result in large unemployment. That would be a tragic blunder.

The only effect of the Federal Reserve's money tinkering policy has been on the cost of borrowing by the government and by business. Instead of checking inflation, this has made for more inflation, for money rates are an item of cost.

In a wage-price inflation, one of the ways to soften the effect is through business stepping up its plant modernization as a means of lifting worker productivity.

The Federal Reserve's on-again-off-again tight money policy of the last two years has tended to slow this needed development.

The President's economic message may be leading up to a repudiation of this policy. There is a sharp difference of opinion between the Treasury, which is faced with $75 billion in financing, and the Federal Reserve.

The Federal Reserve has a long record of failure in doing its job of keeping the economy stable. It waited too long in 1929 to check the credit inflation, when it had the tools. It also failed during the war and in the present wage-price-government deficit inflation.

The President minced no words in calling for action by labor and business to check the wage-price spiral.

Union officials, he said, "in view of the great power lodged in their hands have a particularly critical role to play" in keeping prices down. Wage increases that go beyond the bounds of productivity, he added, "are inevitably inflationary" and self-defeating.

The President also warned businessmen of their responsibility in holding the line against wage increases that surpass productivity as part of "a ceaseless war against costs."

He warned that the alternative is government controls. That would be a mistake. He thinks so, too. There needs to be greater responsibility by the labor leaders, as well as a cleanup of the racket elements who are victimizing the hard working honest, everyday working laboring man.

The President touched on this in calling for legislation to force full disclosure of financial dealings between employers and employe representatives and their agents. He also called for standards to "promote democratic procedures in union affairs."

The big show down on the wage-price spiral will come this summer when the steel contract expires on June 30. This can result in a bitter strike. Betting is that there will be a strike of several weeks.

Since the war, the steel union has won 11 wage increases, going from $1.56 an hour to presently $3.60 an hour, including fringe benefits. The fringe benefits have gone from 17 cents an hour to 75 cents last year.

Here's the box score on the hourly steel wage increases: 1946—18½ cents; 1947—16 cents; 1948—13 cents; 1950—16 cents; 1952—16 cents; 1953—8½ cents; 1954—5 cents; 1955—15 cents; 1956—9½ cents; 1957—15 cents, and 1958—17 cents.

As steel goes so goes most of the rest of industry. Steel productivity has fallen far behind wages.

Empty Leisure Time Can Be Your Undoing

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons are finding that leisure is not what it was cracked up to be. Shorter hours relieve drudgery at work but the unfilled time is making a new class of bums among husbands with nothing to do at home. Apparently there is more pressure from doing nothing than from working.

Restlessness is the culprit. There are no statistics on restlessness but I have a hunch it has killed more men than has hard work. This is especially true in retired men who are ill prepared for their new way of life. But even in younger persons there are many dangers, exemplified in the adage, "The devil finds work for idle hands."

According to Russell Lynes, in What's New, human time is a vacuum that has to be filled—if not with work, with alternatives to work. Many ambitious men are taking advantage of their shorter work week by getting a second job. This has financial advantages, even though heavy taxation rewards his ingenuity.

Anyone who has two jobs must avoid fatigue and should not neglect an annual vacation. Moonlighting is better than being demoralized by spare time. But it is not superior to a single job that is well done and which is followed by creative, honorable, and satisfying leisure. Hobbies, boats, lawns, workshops, fishing, TV, and barbecue pits help but are not in themselves sufficient.

We have become a nation of middle class citizens with more labor saving devices, gadgets, and horse power at our disposal than the rich men and women of old enjoyed. Television has made the house a ball park, theatre, or night club, and Hi-Fi provides a symphony hall in every room. We must learn to live with our modern civilization or the pressure of restlessness may prove our undoing.

BLOCKED EAR TUBES

H. U. writes: Could allergy cause periodic blocking of the eustachian tubes?

REPLY

Yes, by producing swelling of the throat tissues surrounding the opening of these tubes. Inflammation is a more common cause but allergy is suspected whenever periodic attacks of deafness or ringing of the ears occurs after exposure to substances to which the individual is sensitive. The allergen may be a food, dust, a medicine, or various chemicals.

HEADACHES

Mrs. Y. writes: Since my periods stopped last year, I have been getting periodic headaches that last two or three days. Could they be due to the change of life?

REPLY

Yes—but if so, the basic cause is likely to be emotional rather than a glandular deficiency. Other causes of headache should be considered.

MUSCLE MOVEMENTS

E. H. writes: What is the cause of Jacksonian epilepsy?

REPLY

The cause of epilepsy is not known. In the Jacksonian form of the disease, twitching is confined to certain groups of muscles in contrast to grand mal in which muscular jerking is more generalized.

EASING SPASM

F. D. writes: What is the treatment for spasms of the pyloric valve?

REPLY

Atropine, belladonna, and various cholinergic drugs are available to relieve spasm. Permanent relief of pain may be expected when the cause of the condition is determined and eliminated. Peptic ulcer and nervousness, for example, are the most common causes.

DAILY GARGLING

J. E. writes: Is gargling a good habit after brushing the teeth?

REPLY Y

Nothing is gained by gargling, because the throat is self-cleansing.

ERUPTIONS ON THE FEET

O. W. writes: Can allergy cause athlete's foot?

REPLY

No, but allergic eruptions on the feet may be confused with ringworm. A person who is sensitive to one of the various synthetics used in shoes may develop a skin outbreak that is indistinguishable from athlete's foot. These individuals may suffer for years from dermatitis, not realizing that wearing different shoes may lead to cure within a few days.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Cherished Right Of Protest

In an age in which most of us have learned to accept without protest almost any inconvenience in the name of progress, it is pleasant to hear of the forward march of atomic power being halted, even if temporarily, by an unexpected force—a wrathful army of bird watchers.

At Dungeness in southern England is a wide, marshy area, swept by sea winds, forlorn and almost deserted. The ideal spot, one would think, for the site of a nuclear power station, free from protesting and petitioning residents and with land of negligible value. So the British government reasoned until it found itself face to face with a solid phalanx of indignant bird watchers.

The marshes, it developed, are "cross roads" for migrant birds and each year thousands are caught, ringed and released at an observatory. In the face of the bird watchers' protests, the British government took refuge in a public inquiry.

The result was surprising. Protesters came from far and near and revealed that bird watching knows no social, financial or other distinctions. It is a democratic, dedicated pastime.

There is something heartening these days in the thought of "the duke and the dustman" joining forces in such a cause to oppose the juggernaut of officialdom. Perhaps they will go down to defeat in the end and those who are not bird watchers will smile in a superior way, unaware that democracy is something more than the right to vote—that it is the right to protest bravely and firmly for things that are cherished.

It is the protest that is important, not the result.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Fresh Guys

The motion picture industry was hit as hard by the opposition to Communists building their party's treasury out of the enormous salaries paid in Hollywood as by the rise of television. What is called "black-listing" was nothing more, in essence, than a public resistance to a comparatively small group in this industry whom the public would not support. Men and women refused to see pictures with regard to which Communists had anything to do.

It is significant that during Mikoyan's visit to the United States, the motion picture industry announced that Communists, Fifth Amendment witnesses, and other Red Hots are now eligible for Oscars, which, of course, also means that the industry is again free to give them employment. It must be part of the People-to-People Movement or some such thing. At the same time Dalton Trumbo announced that he is the Robert Rich who won an Oscar in 1957 but could not accept it because he was bootlegging a job. Many Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses worked namelessly or under an assumed name.

The motion picture industry is coming back to life, partly because it is manufacturing for television and partly because it has so cut down overhead as no longer to be in danger of going into the red on a very profitable picture. There are numerous independent producers and pictures are made in many parts of the world where the cost of production is less than in the United States. This also has aided in tax evasion.

It is a little difficult to discover the exact reason for opening the studios to Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses, except perhaps that it is ridiculous for Eric Johnston to go to Russia to try to sell American films to Soviet Russia while the American film industry refuses to employ Russia's friends and agents. So we shall have some Communists get Oscars this year, which may or may not save us from the Cold War. Perhaps the Russians will buy films in which American Communists worked and that will make the studios rich, although that is doubtful.

The Mikoyan event has so many side issues that one is not astonished at anything. In a prior article in which I listed some purchasers of tables for the New York Economic Club dinner to the little Armenian, I listed General Dynamics which manufactures both submarines and airplanes. Now I am instructed by this company that they did not take a table at all. I wonder how many other names in the official listing are of companies, banks or individuals who were not there and did not designate that they would be there. I am keeping that seating list as a souvenir of a disreputable event.

This little man, Mikoyan, is a fresh guy and Americans resent the way he talks about our country and the way he threatened us with war if we did not do as he proposes. And his visit, which might have accomplished much good if properly arranged through channels, has now backfired. Perhaps the motion picture industry will soon discover that it was a little premature in accepting Communists and Fifth Amendment witnesses as candidates for Oscars. The great statesmen of that industry may find that they are reviving a dying activity — the activity of identifying such men and women and making them known to the world. Certainly tying up this particular development with the visit of Mikoyan in time if nothing else, could backfire, particularly if the Armenian's threat of continued Cold or Hot War should take effect. Do we have to pay their agents with our money?

And Jerry Lewis may even discover that he wise-cracked too effectively if not too wisely about this being "the real McCoyan." Get it? These wisecracks sure send them rolling in the aisles. Jerry might tell his audience how it feels to be kissed on both cheeks by a Kremlin boss. Personally, I would prefer a female without a moustache.

So, let us pull down the shades on another unfortunate incident in Hollywood's effort to play the role of statesmanship. Those who ran the motion picture business did much better when the bosses tended to business and left statesmanship to the chosen officials of the nation. They made money in those days and gave work to thousands of writers and actors.

Letter-Writers Urge Congressional Probe Of Faubus' Red Background

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressman Francis Walter's Un-American Activities Committee has been bombarded with letters urging an investigation into Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus's pinko background. The letter writers believe he should be given an opportunity, like other Americans misguided in their youth, to repent in public of his past political sins.

Faubus was student body president of Commonwealth College when it was run by the Reds. The Governor has already assured Arkansas voters tha his name didn't appear on the list of Commonwealth student leaders exposed in 1935 by Arkansas' Joint Legislative Investigating Committee.

This is true. But the truth also is that the committee concluded its investigation in February, 1935. Faubus was elected to office on the "United Front" ticket two months afterward.

Significantly, the May Day, 1935, edition of Commonwealth College Fortnightly reports: "Orval Faubus, young farmer school teacher from Combs, Arkansas . . . (was) elected to two offices. Faubus is both student body president and member of the Disciplinary Committee." In other words, Faubus became student body leader after the Arkansas Legislature had exposed Commonwealth College as a Communist front.

Cuban Revolt

Wise old Luis Munoz Marin, first native Puerto Rican ever elected governor of that island commonwealth, has been in Washington attending the dinner for Argentine President Frondizi and advising with various Senators. He tells them that the most important thing to remember about the Cuban revolution is that it's a social revolution.

It's not a change of palace guard or politicians. It's from the people. After smoldering for months in eastern Cuba, it burst out and spread like wildfire. To have had this force, it had to come from the people.

Gov. Munoz Marin has seen a lot of Latin American revolutions come and go. He has even given asylum to some exiled presidents, such as President Betancourt of Venezuela. He is an expert on grass-roots movements.

"This revolution in Cuba," he confided to Senators, "looks like a genuine grass-roots reform. It should set up a new regime truly reresentative of the Cuban people. They are fed up with graft and corruption. The men who lead this movement are young, sincere idealists. It will surprise me if something permanent and very fine does not come out of this revolution."

Green's Revolt

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have been trying for six months to coax chairman Theodore Francis Green to move to fancier, roomier quarters in the new Senate Office Building. But the much-loved 91-year-old Rhode Island Democrat has stubbornly refused to budge. He likes to walk to work in the morning and he also likes his old headquarters.

When new quarters were offered last summer, he said he was contented with the old rooms and instructed the Rules Committee to give the space to some other committee. Whereupon his fellow committee members almost started a mutiny. Green, however, refused either to listen or to let them vote on the move.

Afterward other Senators slipped around behind his back and persuaded the Rules Committee to hold the space for them until January. Last week they approached elder statesman Green again about moving.

"It's too late," he declared triumphantly. "The rooms have already been released."

When they told him it just so happened the option was still open, Green fussed and fumed. The old rooms, he said, were hallowed by tradition. Great Senators have occupied them—William E. Borah of Idaho, Key Pittman of Nevada. Finally he agreed to appoint a three-man subcommittee to "consider" the move. He promptly named himself chairman with authority to make the final decision.

Korean Revolt

Handsome Washington antique dealer Byung Choll Koh, a 35-year-old Korean, put on his Homburg the other day and picketed the White House all alone in 20-degree weather. He had locked up his Connecticut Avenue shop which caters to such VIPs as Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Justice William O. Douglas, and Mrs. Allen Dulles, to protest President Syngman Rhee' latest police-state security laws.

More than 20 of them were railroaded through the Korean Congress the night before Christmas, though only after opposition politicians had staged a six-day sitdown strike in the Parliament Building until forcibly ejected by Rhee's police.

"It's a terrible thing," said Koh, "for the American government to be a party to the maintenance and perpetuation of an aged tyrant in office. To call Rhee a democrat and to say that Korea is part of the free world is as false as anything the Communists are saying up north. To say that Rhee is protecting Korea against Communism is equally false.

"I don't think the American taxpayers want America to everlastingly bolster a police state. If they do, I'm afraid America will lose the respect not only of Koreans but millions throughout Asia, and you may have another Cuban revolt on your hands — this one in the Far East."

The Diplomatic Pouch

Washington attorney Bill Roberts commented to a member of Dulles's former law firm upon the "improvement" in the Secretary of State. "Dulles seems to be waking up," Roberts said. "It's about time," the Secretary's former law associate replied. "He'd been asleep for 20 years!" . . . Dulles has sent word to Fidel Castro of Cuba that the USA is ready to help the new Cuban government with economic aid. It was Milton Eisenhower who urged Dulles to rush this offer to Havana. As a result, Castro has given his assurances that American investments will not be confiscated. . . . Ex-Ambassador Earl Smith reports that Fidel Castro is by no means a Communist but his brother Raul is well to the left. The overwhelming majority of Castro's followers, says the Ambassador, are sincere anti-Communists but there are some Reds supporting him. . . . The bearded emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie, who once stood up against Mussolini in the League of Nations, is now standing up against another dictator in Egypt, Colonel Nasser. The Emperor has warned Nasser to keep his agents out of Ethiopia or he will place the matter before the United Nations.

Political Battle Of 1960 Already Under Way

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The Republican National Committee's meeting in Des Moines this week focuses attention on two questions — why did the Republicans lose the last election? What do they intend to do about the 1960 election?

As of this writing and assuming no substantial change for the better in the economic situation, the Republicans are doomed to defeat again no matter whether they nominate Nixon or Rockefeller.

The man who holds the key to 1960 is President Eisenhower. If his record in the next 18 months is outstanding and business is booming, the Republican nominee can win—either Nixon or Rockefeller.

At the moment Nixon is a part of the Eisenhower Administration and will naturally defend it vigorously if he is nominated. Rockefeller was reported last autumn to have maneuvered away from the Eisenhower Administration and actually to have won some Democratic votes that way during his campaign for Governor of New York State. Sometime between now and the Republican National Convention in 1960, Rockefeller will have to demonstrate that he is strongly behind the Eisenhower Administration and that he is willing to defend it wholeheartedly. Unless he does, he cannot win conservative support for the nomination, and it so happens that conservatives do play a very influential part in the Republican Party.

The argument that "Rockefeller can win the election but Nixon can't" is being heard now, just as in 1952 it was being said that "Ike can win but Taft can't." This correspondent thought so, too, before the convention, but, after examining the election returns, came to the conclusion that any Republican nominee, including Senator Taft, could have won, and wrote that comment within a week after the election in 1952.

The Truman Administration in power in 1952 was not popular—any Republican nominee for the Presidency could have benefited by its shortcomings. Ike's personal popularity did swell the majority, but the verdict of the country was anti-Truman and not pro-Republican.

The 1952 experience may have a significant meaning to the Democrats this time. As of today, any Democrat of prominence could win the Presidency because the trend is against the Eisenhower Administration due primarily to economic adversity—for the country has not yet pulled out of the recession. By 1960 a better economic situation may favor the Republicans.

As of today, moreover, Adlai Stevenson is the most likely Democratic Presidential nominee. He is stronger with the rank and file of the Democratic state organizations than anyone else — and they do the nominating. The argument that "Stevenson can't win, because he has been beaten twice" doesn't mean much in a year when the party of the incumbent administration has just suffered an overwhelming defeat.

What can the Republicans do to overcome the big odds against them? For one thing, they need party unity—they talk too much about labels, such as "conservative" or "liberal," when the fact is most of the so-called "liberals" are addicted to a philosophy of government which borders on radicalism. Only the Southern conservatives are sticking to principle, while the Northern democrats, like their "liberal" Republican brethren, are interested in more and more spending and bigger and bigger deficits. They call this "bold and imaginative planning." It's bold and imaginative, to be sure, but it can give the country a ten-cent dollar unless the conservative strength inside both parties is effectively mobilized to prevent it. Opportunistic leadership on Congress cannot long retain for the Democrats the confidence of the country. The voters in the Northern states are more anti-Republican today than they are pro-Democratic.

This means that, if the Republicans operate as an effective minority party in the next 18 months in Congress and if the economic situation improves, the Republican chances of winning the Presidency may improve, too.

To speak of the Republican nominees for 1960 in terms of personality as a decisive factor is to ignore the lessons of political history. When the tide is running against an administration in power for eight years, the candidate of its party—unless there's a war or a business boom—has only a slim chance, no matter who he is. So whether either Nixon or Rockefeller will be elected, if nominated in 1960, depends on what Dwight Eisenhower does in the next year and a half. If the record is good and employment is high, either nominee can win. If the record isn't good, neither can win. For the voters will cast their ballots for or against the Eisenhower administration and for a continuance or discontinuance of its programs and policies.

War On Inflation?

By Leslie Gould

For the first time an Administration is giving public recognition to the two major forces making for inflation and is taking steps to do something about both.

The two forces depreciating the dollar's purchasing power and pricing this country's business out of the world markets are:

The wage price spiral.

The ever rising cost of government.

In his economic message, President Eisenhower put particular emphasis on the labor monopoly which is responsible for rises in wages and fringe benefits far outstripping gains in productivity.

In his budget message, he called for reduced spending and some tax increases so that the federal budget will be balanced. If this balance is achieved, it will be the first time since 1957 and the sixth time since the war ended.

The budget estimates at best are only a guess, and Presidential guessing in the past as to what will be the final result 18 months hence have little relation to realities. So, the betting is that the 1960 budget will again be in the red ink—the 10th unbalanced budget since the war.

Up to now, the emphasis on controlling the inflation has been through regulating the flow of credit and money rates by the Federal Reserve System.

This is a wage-price-government deficit inflation. Yet, the Federal Reserve has been mistakenly tackling it as a credit inflation, similar to that of 1929 and the early 1930s. The only way this kind of control will check a wage-price inflation is through bringing on a recession serious enough to result in large unemployment. That would be a tragic blunder.

The only effect of the Federal Reserve's money tinkering policy has been on the cost of borrowing by the government and by business. Instead of checking inflation, this has made for more inflation, for money rates are an item of cost.

In a wage-price inflation, one of the ways to soften the effect is through business stepping up its plant modernization as a means of lifting worker productivity.

The Federal Reserve's on-again-off-again tight money policy of the last two years has tended to slow this needed development.

The President's economic message may be leading up to a repudiation of this policy. There is a sharp difference of opinion between the Treasury, which is faced with $75 billion in financing, and the Federal Reserve.

The Federal Reserve has a long record of failure in doing its job of keeping the economy stable. It waited too long in 1929 to check the credit inflation, when it had the tools. It also failed during the war and in the present wage-price-government deficit inflation.

The President minced no words in calling for action by labor and business to check the wage-price spiral.

Union officials, he said, "in view of the great power lodged in their hands have a particularly critical role to play" in keeping prices down. Wage increases that go beyond the bounds of productivity, he added, "are inevitably inflationary" and self-defeating.

The President also warned businessmen of their responsibility in holding the line against wage increases that surpass productivity as part of "a ceaseless war against costs."

He warned that the alternative is government controls. That would be a mistake. He thinks so, too. There needs to be greater responsibility by the labor leaders, as well as a cleanup of the racket elements who are victimizing the hard working honest, everyday working laboring man.

The President touched on this in calling for legislation to force full disclosure of financial dealings between employers and employe representatives and their agents. He also called for standards to "promote democratic procedures in union affairs."

The big show down on the wage-price spiral will come this summer when the steel contract expires on June 30. This can result in a bitter strike. Betting is that there will be a strike of several weeks.

Since the war, the steel union has won 11 wage increases, going from $1.56 an hour to presently $3.60 an hour, including fringe benefits. The fringe benefits have gone from 17 cents an hour to 75 cents last year.

Here's the box score on the hourly steel wage increases: 1946—18½ cents; 1947—16 cents; 1948—13 cents; 1950—16 cents; 1952—16 cents; 1953—8½ cents; 1954—5 cents; 1955—15 cents; 1956—9½ cents; 1957—15 cents, and 1958—17 cents.

As steel goes so goes most of the rest of industry. Steel productivity has fallen far behind wages.

Fort Hill Takes City Lead, Defeats Allegany, 55-50

Leroy Henry Stands Out In Triumph

Valley High Noses Out Bruce, 62-55; Indians Win, 80-74

By TED TROXELL

Fort Hill's Leroy Henry was cast into the role of "take-charge guy" last night after the club's steadying influence, Charlie Robinson, went out on fouls in the third period, and the slender senmates to a 55-50 victory over Allelor forward sparked his Sentinel gany in an important intra-city battle before a packed house at Fort Hill.

The Sentinel win was their second without a loss in intra-city play and enabled them to remain tied with Mt. Savage for second place in the WMI League race. Mt. Savage scored its third WMI win over Beall, 80-74, while Valley remained unbeaten by edging Bruce, 62-55, in a see-saw struggle that wasn't decided until the closing moments of the game.

Last night was the second time in an athletic contest against Allegany this year that Henry stepped in and took over for Robinson, having filled the quarterback role in the second half of the Turkey Day football game when Robinson was forced to the sidelines by injuries. His "quarterbacking" last night was every bit as effective, with his spirited performance turning the tide in a close game which could have gone either way.

Frisby's Goal Ties Game

Robinson drew his fifth personal foul with 2:19 left to play in the third period and Fort Hill leading, 33-30. Gerald Horton converted the foul attempt and Gary Frisby tossed in a one-hander to tie the count for the eighth time in the game, 33-all.

The only other veteran in the Fort Hill lineup, guard Donnie Lewis, was fouled when Frisby drove through for his fielder, and his conversion gave the lead back to Fort Hill. Gary Shook countered with a free throw to once again deadlock the score, but a two-pointer from the corner by Henry put Fort Hill in front to stay.

Allegany, which had stayed right on Fort Hill's heels throughout a dull first half, began to fall apart at the seams as the final period got under way. At one point in the quarter, successive field goals by Lewis and Henry stretched the Sentinel lead to nine points, 48-39.

The Campers began to battle back and had cut the lead to five points, 48-43, when Frisby, whose scoring and rebounding had been mainly responsible for keeping Allegany within range of the South Enders, committed his fifth foul with 2:11 remaining in the game.

Henry Seals Verdict

Lewis connected on both of his foul attempts to all but put the game out of reach for the Campers, whose main battle was against the clock. Henry was fouled twice in the final two minutes of the game and calmly converted all four of his chances to seal the verdict.

Poor shooting on the part of both clubs marked the first half, in which the lead changed hands on five different occasions. Allegany clicked on only four of 23 tries from the floor, while the Sentinels fared only slightly better, hitting on six of 30 attempts.

Both clubs improved considerably after intermission, as the visitors caged nearly 50 per cent of their shots—12 of 27, and Fort Hill came through on 11 of 29. Allegany actually had a better over-all mark than the victors. The Campers made 16 of 50 field goals for a .320 reading, while Fort Hill posted a 17-59, .288 tabulation.

Henry was the offensive leader of the evening with 21 points, accounted for on six field goals, including four in the second half, and a stellar 9-10 performance from the foul circle. Lewis was runnerup for Fort Hill with 13 tallies, while Frisby and Shook paced the Campers with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Valley High's undefeated Black Knights had to surge from behind in the final quarter to upend the Bruce Bulldogs at Westernport. The Knights trailed by three, 41-38, going into the fourth period, but a field goal by "Hank" Winner with 4:58 to go put them in front, 44-43 and they were never headed thereafter.

The lead changed hands nine times in the closely-contested struggle which was tied, 13-13, at the end of the opening stanza. Bruce led, 26-25, at intermission. The Bulldog quint was weakened in the third period by the loss via the foul route of its pivotman, Larry Crossland.

Lauder, Winner Star

George Lauder and Winner were the big scoring guns for the winners, with 21 and 20 points, respectively. Bob Kalbaugh, Roy Beard, and Bill Wiltison shared 39 of the Westernport team's tallies.

Mt. Savage coach Johnny Thomas elected to "go all the way" with his starting five in the Indians' battle with Beall, and the entire quint scored in double figures as they registered their ninth win in 11 starts this season.

Rich Lybarger was the club's top point producer with 21 points, and was closely followed by Dan Williams with 20 and Leroy Morris with 19. Fay Often and Jack Lowery collected 10 apiece. Ed Finn dumped in 23 markers for the Mountaineers in a losing cause.

Two Beall cagers exited on fouls. Chester Carter left in the second quarter and Gene Schultheis made his departure in the final period.

Carroll Wilt Leads LaSalle To 60-57 Win

Scores 24 Points Against Northern

Sophomore guard Carroll Wilt, enjoying his best night of the season, sparked the LaSalle High Explorers to a 60-57 decision over Northern's Huskies in a see-saw battle last night on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The slam-bang battle had the score being knotted nine times in the last half with Wilt, who obtained 24 points, and Northern's Charles Strauss staging a personal show. Wilt and Strauss matched each other basket for basket in the early minutes of the third quarter, the former hitting on five straight and the latter on six straight.

The hot-shooting clubs converted on 15 straight attempts from the floor in the second and third quarters.

In the hectic fourth period the lead changed hands on 11 occasions with Dick Spear and Strauss of Northern and LaSalle's Mike Mackert and Mickey Scaletta doing most of the scoring. Mackert put LaSalle out on top, 58-57, on a pair of foul tosses and Scaletta closed tally-making on a hook shot with nine seconds to go.

Following Wilt in Explorer scoring were Mackert and Scaletta, each of whom canned 15 tallies. Strauss had 19 for the Huskies, while George Patton, Spear and Gary Hetrick split 34 of the losers' total.

Jim Ternent, LaSalle guard, fouled out with 49 seconds remaining in the contest.

The victory was the third straight for Coach George Geatz' charges — the longest this year—and set the Explorers mark all even at 7-7. Northern's setback was its fourth against seven wins.

The victors led after the first quarter, 14-10 and by 30-29 at the half. Northern was on top, 45-43, as the final stanza opened. Box score:

Wilcox Is Leader Of Small Colleges With 33.8 Average

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paul Wilcox of Davis and Elkins (W. Va.) topped small college basketball's scorers Friday with an average of 33.8 points per game.

Except for 1954, when Bevo Francis was running amok for Rio Grande, no small-college players since 1950 has been able to post a bigger lead than Wilcox at this stage of a season.

Wilcox, a junior from Pittsburgh boasts a 4.7-point lead over his closest rival, Carl Brune of Lowell Tech (Mass.). Brune has a 29.1 average.

Keyser Beats Romney, 76-66, Franklin Bags 12th In Row

Paw Paw, Ridgeley, Moorefield Capture Other PVC Contests

Another shuffle in the Potomac Valley Conference schoolboy cage standings occurred last night as the Golden Tornado of Keyser dealt the highly touted Romney Pioneers their second consecutive loss 76-66 and Coach Gus Smith's Franklin Panthers, the winningest team in the section, racked up their 12th victory in a row and held onto the conference lead with a 61-48 triumph over Wardensville on the Panthers' boards.

Keyser, which dropped the series opener at home to Romney, 78-69, moved into second place in the conference and dropped Romney two notches into fourth place. The Pioneers, previously the talk of the 17-school circuit, had recorded nine straight wins before their last two engagements. Keyser is now 7-1 in the loop and Romney is 7-2.

Pirates Move Up

Other PVC games last night had Paw Paw's Pirates sneaking into third place with a 6-1 tab benefit of a 59-40 victory over Berkeley Springs (0-3) in a Morgan County battle, Ridgeley's Blackhawks (7-3) grabbing the circuit's fifth spot and their fifth straight win with a 86-41 shellacking of winless West Virginia Deaf, and Moorefield (5-5) routing Petersburg (4-6), 57-39.

Keyser jumped off to a 19-5 first quarter lead last night and held the upperhand, 35-37 and 57-49 at the close of the ensuing two periods in practically wrecking Romney's title hopes.

High scoring Romney center, Bill Maphis, previously averaging 30 points per contest, could do no better than 16 against the Keyser defense. Keyser's Ronnie Smith grabbed the game's scoring honors with 23 tallies.

Ralph Wimer, Bob Keller and Gary Keedy caged 19, 12, and 15 points for Keyser, while Roscoe Dean, Dave Kirk and Donnie Davis, had 12, 17 and 11 for the Pioneers.

The Tornado of John Shelton banged in 29 field goals as compared to Romney's 23 and meshed 17 of 26 fouls.

Franklin Bags 7th

Franklin, with five more loop games remaining, notched its seventh conference asset after trailing Wardensville, 26-24, at the half.

Billy Wimer sparked the high-riding West Virginians with 13 points and was followed by Franklin's other four regulars, all of whom hit the double figures. Jim Fridley, Julian Hott and Virgil Heishman arccounted for 38 of the Pirates' points.

Leading 41-40 at the end of the third period, Franklin iced the contest by bombarding the nets for 20 points while holding Wardensville to eight.

Franklin's jayvees won the preliminary over their Wardensville counterpart, 44-18.

Ridgeley, gaining more winning momentum each time out, simply outclassed the School for Deaf in its contest at Ridgeley.

Scott Garners 24

Bill Scott, towering Ridgeley center, led all scorers with 24 markers. He was assisted by 6-7 Mickey Detrick, who had 16, and Elwood Lambert's 14. Moses Vance was the whole show for the visitors with 22 points.

Ridgeley, a team to be reckoned with, now has an overall mark of 8-6.

At Paw Paw the Pirates broke away from a 2-2 tie and went on to build a 40-20 third quarter lead in its conquest of Berkeley Springs.

Kevin Edmonson again paced the Pirates of Glenn Smith, tallying 22 digits, while Vernon Roman and Gary Henry divided 27 Berkeley Springs' tallies.

Moorefield constructed a quick 7-0 lead on its home court and then went on to steadily increase the margin at 28-17 at intermission and 52-24 at the third stanza post in defeating Petersburg.

Paugh Heads Attack

Jimmy Paugh rimmed 18 points for the Jackets while Billy Kelley and Marlin Evans netted 17 and 14. The losers were paced by Ernie Nelson's game-leading 19-tally performance.

Fort Hill Takes City Lead, Defeats Allegany, 55-50

Valley High Noses Out Bruce, 62-55; Indians Win, 80-74

WMI STANDINGS

Team	W.	L.	Pct.

Mt. Savage	3	2	.600
Fort Hill	3	2	.600
Allegany	2	3	.400

By TED TROXELL

Fort Hill's Leroy Henry was cast into the role of "take-charge guy" last night after the club's steadying influence, Charlie Robinson, went out on fouls in the third period, and the slender sen- mates to a 55-50 victory over Alle- lor forward sparked his Sentinel gany in an important intra-city battle before a packed house at Fort Hill.

The Sentinel win was their second without a loss in intra-city play and enabled them to remain tied with Mt. Savage for second place in the WMI League race. Mt. Savage scored its third WMI win over Beall, 80-74, while Valley remained unbeaten by edging Bruce, 62-55, in a see-saw struggle that wasn't decided until the closing moments of the game.

Last night was the second time in an athletic contest against Allegany this year that Henry stepped in and took over for Robinson, having filled the quarterback role in the second half of the Turkey Day football game when Robinson was forced to the sidelines by injuries. His "quarterbacking" last night was every bit as effective, with his spirited performance turning the tide in a close game which could have gone either way.

Frisby's Goal Ties Game

Robinson drew his fifth personal foul with 2:19 left to play in the third period and Fort Hill leading, 33-30. Gerald Horton converted the foul attempt and Gary Frisby tossed in a one-hander to tie the count for the eighth time in the game, 33-all.

The only other veteran in the Fort Hill lineup, guard Donnie Lewis, was fouled when Frisby drove through for his fielder, and his conversion gave the lead back to Fort Hill. Gary Shook countered with a free throw to once again deadlock the score, but a two-pointer from the corner by Henry put Fort Hill in front to stay.

Allegany, which had stayed right on Fort Hill's heels throughout a dull first half, began to fall apart at the seams as the final period got under way. At one point in the quarter, successive field goals by Lewis and Henry stretched the Sentinel lead to nine points, 48-39.

The Campers began to battle back and had cut the lead to five points, 48-43, when Frisby, whose scoring and rebounding had been mainly responsible for keeping Allegany within range of the South Enders, committed his fifth foul with 2:11 remaining in the game.

Henry Seals Verdict

Lewis connected on both of his foul attempts to all but put the game out of reach for the Campers, whose main battle was against the clock. Henry was fouled twice in the final two minutes of the game and calmly converted all four of his chances to seal the verdict.

Poor shooting on the part of both clubs marked the first half, in which the lead changed hands on five different occasions. Allegany clicked on only four of 23 tries from the floor, while the Sentinels fared only slightly better, hitting on six of 30 attempts.

Both clubs improved considerably after intermission, as the visitors caged nearly 50 per cent of their shots—12 of 27, and Fort Hill came through on 11 of 29. Allegany actually had a better over-all mark than the victors. The Campers made 16 of 50 field goals for a .320 reading, while Fort Hill posted a 17-59, .288 tabulation.

Henry was the offensive leader of the evening with 21 points, accounted for on six field goals, including four in the second half, and a stellar 9-10 performance from the foul circle. Lewis was runnerup for Fort Hill with 13 tallies, while Frisby and Shook paced the Campers with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Valley High's undefeated Black Knights had to surge from behind in the final quarter to upend the Bruce Bulldogs at Westernport. The Knights trailed by three, 41-38, going into the fourth period, but a field goal by "Hank" Winner with 4:58 to go put them in front, 44-43 and they were never headed thereafter.

The lead changed hands nine times in the closely-contested struggle which was tied, 13-13, at the end of the opening stanza. Bruce led, 26-25, at intermission. The Bulldog quint was weakened in the third period by the loss via the foul route of its pivotman, Larry Crossland.

Lauder, Winner Star

George Lauder and Winner were the big scoring guns for the winners, with 21 and 20 points, respectively. Bob Kalbaugh, Roy Beard, and Bill Wiltison shared 39 of the Westernport team's tallies.

Mt. Savage coach Johnny Thomas elected to "go all the way" with his starting five in the Indians' battle with Beall, and the entire quint scored in double figures as they registered their ninth win in 11 starts this season.

Rich Lybarger was the club's top point producer with 21 points, and was closely followed by Dan Williams with 20 and Leroy Morris with 19. Fay Often and Jack Lowery collected 10 apiece. Ed Finn dumped in 23 markers for the Mountaineers in a losing cause.

Two Beall cagers exited on fouls. Chester Carter left in the second quarter and Gene Schultheis made his departure in the final period.

Carroll Wilt Leads LaSalle To 60-57 Win

Scores 24 Points Against Northern

Sophomore guard Carroll Wilt, enjoying his best night of the season, sparked the LaSalle High Explorers to a 60-57 decision over Northern's Huskies in a see-saw battle last night on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The slam-bang battle had the score being knotted nine times in the last half with Wilt, who obtained 24 points, and Northern's Charles Strauss staging a personal show. Wilt and Strauss matched each other basket for basket in the early minutes of the third quarter, the former hitting on five straight and the latter on six straight.

The hot-shooting clubs converted on 15 straight attempts from the floor in the second and third quarters.

In the hectic fourth period the lead changed hands on 11 occasions with Dick Spear and Strauss of Northern and LaSalle's Mike Mackert and Mickey Scaletta doing most of the scoring. Mackert put LaSalle out on top, 58-57, on a pair of foul tosses and Scaletta closed tally-making on a hook shot with nine seconds to go.

Following Wilt in Explorer scoring were Mackert and Scaletta, each of whom canned 15 tallies. Strauss had 19 for the Huskies, while George Patton, Spear and Gary Hetrick split 34 of the losers' total.

Jim Ternent, LaSalle guard, fouled out with 49 seconds remaining in the contest.

The victory was the third straight for Coach George Geatz' charges — the longest this year—and set the Explorers mark all even at 7-7. Northern's setback was its fourth against seven wins.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paul Wilcox of Davis and Elkins (W. Va.) topped small college basketball's scorers Friday with an average of 33.8 points per game.

Except for 1954, when Bevo Francis was running amok for Rio Grande, no small-college players since 1950 has been able to post a bigger lead than Wilcox at this stage of a season.

Wilcox, a junior from Pittsburgh boasts a 4.7-point lead over his closest rival, Carl Brune of Lowell Tech (Mass.). Brune has a 29.1 average.

Keyser Beats Romney, 76-66, Franklin Bags 12th In Row

Paw Paw, Ridgeley, Moorefield Capture Other PVC Contests

Another shuffle in the Potomac Valley Conference schoolboy cage standings occurred last night as the Golden Tornado of Keyser dealt the highly touted Romney Pioneers their second consecutive loss 76-66 and Coach Gus Smith's Franklin Panthers, the winningest team in the section, racked up their 12th victory in a row and held onto the conference lead with a 61-48 triumph over Wardensville on the Panthers' boards.

Keyser, which dropped the series opener at home to Romney, 78-69, moved into second place in the conference and dropped Romney two notches into fourth place. The Pioneers, previously the talk of the 17-school circuit, had recorded nine straight wins before their last two engagements. Keyser is now 7-1 in the loop and Romney is 7-2.

Pirates Move Up

Other PVC games last night had Paw Paw's Pirates sneaking into third place with a 6-1 tab benefit of a 59-40 victory over Berkeley Springs (0-3) in a Morgan County battle, Ridgeley's Blackhawks (7-3) grabbing the circuit's fifth spot and their fifth straight win with a 86-41 shellacking of winless West Virginia Deaf, and Moorefield (5-5) routing Petersburg (4-6), 57-39.

Keyser jumped off to a 19-5 first quarter lead last night and held the upperhand, 35-37 and 57-49 at the close of the ensuing two periods in practically wrecking Romney's title hopes.

High scoring Romney center, Bill Maphis, previously averaging 30 points per contest, could do no better than 16 against the Keyser defense. Keyser's Ronnie Smith grabbed the game's scoring honors with 23 tallies.

Ralph Wimer, Bob Keller and Gary Keedy caged 19, 12, and 15 points for Keyser, while Roscoe Dean, Dave Kirk and Donnie Davis, had 12, 17 and 11 for the Pioneers.

The Tornado of John Shelton banged in 29 field goals as compared to Romney's 23 and meshed 17 of 26 fouls.

Franklin Bags 7th

Franklin, with five more loop games remaining, notched its seventh conference asset after trailing Wardensville, 26-24, at the half.

Billy Wimer sparked the high-riding West Virginians with 13 points and was followed by Franklin's other four regulars, all of whom hit the double figures. Jim Fridley, Julian Hott and Virgil Heishman arccounted for 38 of the Pirates' points.

Leading 41-40 at the end of the third period, Franklin iced the contest by bombarding the nets for 20 points while holding Wardensville to eight.

Franklin's jayvees won the preliminary over their Wardensville counterpart, 44-18.

Ridgeley, gaining more winning momentum each time out, simply outclassed the School for Deaf in its contest at Ridgeley.

Scott Garners 24

Bill Scott, towering Ridgeley center, led all scorers with 24 markers. He was assisted by 6-7 Mickey Detrick, who had 16, and Elwood Lambert's 14. Moses Vance was the whole show for the visitors with 22 points.

Ridgeley, a team to be reckoned with, now has an overall mark of 8-6.

At Paw Paw the Pirates broke away from a 2-2 tie and went on to build a 40-20 third quarter lead in its conquest of Berkeley Springs.

Kevin Edmonson again paced the Pirates of Glenn Smith, tallying 22 digits, while Vernon Roman and Gary Henry divided 27 Berkeley Springs' tallies.

Moorefield constructed a quick 7-0 lead on its home court and then went on to steadily increase the margin at 28-17 at intermission and 52-24 at the third stanza post in defeating Petersburg.

Paugh Heads Attack

Jimmy Paugh rimmed 18 points for the Jackets while Billy Kelley and Marlin Evans netted 17 and 14. The losers were paced by Ernie Nelson's game-leading 19-tally performance.

Maryland Deer Season May Be Extended To Seven Days

Two Saturday Hunting Days Are Proposed

Bill Is Introduced By Senator Malkus, Vaughn Gives OK

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Fred Malkus (D-Dorchester) proposed steps Friday to cut down the state's growing deer population by letting hunters have longer to go after them.

He introduced a bill which would expand from 6 to 7 days the statutory season for hunting bucks and provided for it to start and end on the first two Saturdays of December "so more working people can hunt them."

The season now begins on the first Monday of December and ends on Saturday.

The proposal also would let the Game and Inland Fish Department set its discretion seasons for hunting antlerless deer instead of limiting the special season to one day during the week immediately following the open season on male deer.

This would give the game department more control over deer which Malkus contends are now eating farmers out of their crops.

Endorsed By Vaughn

Ernest Vaughn, director of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, immediately endorsed the proposal. He said the commission's hands have been tied the past two years with a special season on the lower Eastern Shore which officials have been unable to postpone after it snowed. Under this bill they would have power to reset it.

Malkus said his primary concern was for farmers. "The deer herd is getting to be a serious problem to our people," he said. "Ten years ago we had practically none in Dorchester County. Now they're increasing so rapidly on the abundance of feed and cover that they're becoming a real nuisance."

Agree To Proposals

He talked over the problem with game officials who agreed to his proposals for tighter control that would also benefit hunters.

Vaughn said the bill does not propose to permit antlerless hunting in Western Maryland counties where it is now specifically outlawed — Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick. But he said if any of those counties decide they want such a season they can be included in the bill's provisions through amendment.

Would Outlaw Boxing

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A bill outlawing professional boxing in Connecticut was on file in the state Legislature Friday.

The measure provides a penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine for fighters and two years and $500 for fight fans.

Bowie Prexy Favors Nine Races Daily

Pimlico Approves, Laurel Doubtful

BALTIMORE (AP)—The president of Bowie Race Track said Friday he favors nine-race programs for Maryland's mile tracks.

Donald Lillis, head of the Southern Maryland track, indicated he would like the one-race expansion in time for the Bowie winter program which begins Feb. 7.

Most major tracks in the East have tacked on another race to their former eight-card programs.

"On basis of the fact so much interest is being shown in the trend toward nine races daily," Lillis said. "I won't have any choice but to ask the commission for a decision prior to our opening."

New York Offers Nine

The only member of the racing commission available for comment, E. Taylor Chewning, said, "Maryland, it would seem, must keep in step with the other states. It would seem to me that if New York offers horsemen nine races each day, Maryland probably would have to do the same to hold the horsemen and their horses."

Backing for the expanded card also came from Louis Pondfield, executive director of the Maryland Jockey Club which operates Pimlico.

"It would help us, the horsemen and increase the handle to provide more revenue to the State," said Pondfield.

John D. Schapiro, president of Laurel, the third one-mile track in the state, said he isn't sure at this time whether he would advocate an added race.

"There are a lot of things to be considered," he explained. "For instance, I am not so sure that a ninth race would pay for itself on weekdays when our handle on the final race of the program usually runs about $100,000.

Means Extra Expense

"The extra race means a lot of extra expense. Also, it remains to be seen if the fans bring more money to the track."

The two Republican members of the racing commission, Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart and Albert Shuger, were out of town and there was no indication whether a commission meeting would be called to discuss the nine-race program prior to Bowie's opening.

Ursuline Six Tops Valley High, 60-52

Academy Trio Gets 25 Goals; Kirkwood Scores 35 Points

Ursuline Academy's basketball team, undefeated in nine games last season, posted its third victory of the current campaign by defeating Valley High School of Lonaconing yesterday on SS. Peter & Paul court by the score of 60-52.

Coach Kathy Mullaney's team jumped off to a 17-10 lead in the first period, held a 31-29 advantage at halftime and was on the long end of a 40-38 score when the third period ended.

Rita Kirkwood, of Valley, high point scorer in the tri-state area last season, dumped in 35 points for Valley but this was not enough to overcome the shooting of Betsy Robinette, Pat Mason and Celeste Madden whose combined efforts accounted for all of Ursuline's points.

Kirkwood connected for 12 goals from the field and meshed 11 of 16 shots at the foul line. Robinette hit for 11 goals and 26 points, Mason garnered 19 points, including nine goals, and Madden slammed in five shots from the field and had 15 points to her credit.

Ursuline racked up 25 field goals to Valley's 18. At the foul line, Valley converted 16 of 28 tosses while the locals sank 10 of 24 throws.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Clay Bryant, who directed the Montreal Royals from last to first place in 1958 and won the International League's Governor's Cup playoffs in his first year, was rehired Friday for 1959, General Manager Rene Lemyre announced.

Lemyre said Bryant was given "a considerable increase," but declined to state the terms of the one-year pact.

A one-time major league pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, Bryant was expected here Jan. 30 for the Royals' pennant dinner. His home is in Zanesville, Ohio.

Coach Ward Is Released By Colorado

Mentor Stunned, Served 11 Years

DENVER (AP)—Regents of the University of Colorado Friday fired head Coach Dal Ward whose 11-year football record at the Big Eight Conference school was 62 won, 41 lost, 6 tied.

Last season Colorado lost four of its last five games and finished with a 6-4 record.

"I am stunned," said Ward. He said there had been no indication earlier that he was going to be demoted.

The regents by a 5-to-1 vote relieved Ward of coaching duties effective Feb. 1 and recomended that he continue as a full professor of physical education in which he has tenure.

Ward, 52, would not say what he intends to do. The head coaching job paid him $12,800 and $1,000 expenses annually. Full professor's pay starts at $7,200 but it was not known immediately what salary Ward would receive.

The regents' resolution firing Ward gave no indication of the reasons other than stating it was for the "best interests of the university.

Some of the regents told newsmen in private comments that it wasn't Ward's won - lost record that brought their action. These regents, who declined use of their names, said they felt Ward didn't provide inspirational leadership.

Ward's career at Colorado reached its peak Jan. 1, 1957 when his 1956 team, which finished second in the Big Eight with a 7-2-1 record, defeated Clemson in the Orange Bowl 27-21. Colorado finished second in the Big Eight, one other time, in 1951.

Match Postponed

The Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match scheduled last night between the Cumberland Outdoor Club and the Woodmen of the World was postponed until Monday at the W.O.W. Home.

Viscount Wins Hialeah Race

Defeats Favored Olymar By Nose

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP) — Mrs. Georgianna Foster's Viscount defeated Fred Hooper's Olymar by a nose after a close stretch battle in the $6,000 Allapattah Purse today at Hialeah.

The $7.80 chance was timed in 1:09 3/5 for six furlongs under strong handling by George Gibb.

Olymar led Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Talent Show, the 8 to 5 favorite of the 14,897 bettors, by three quarters of a length. Natagar, racing for Frederica F. Emert, was four and a half lengths out of the money.

Bill Hartack, who earlier in the afternoon was suspended for 10 days, as of next Friday, for "careless riding" in a race yesterday, hustled Olymar through along the inner rail to take the lead along the backstretch. Viscount pressed the race, never more than a length behind.

Olymar had a half-length margin entering the stretch but Viscount was closing strongly on the outside. Hartack roused Olymar sharply at the sixteenth pole as Viscount cut his margin to a head but the winner continued his rally to take the photo decision in the final stride.

Talent Show came on from fourth place and was gaining at the finish. However his bid came too late to be effective. Matagar was outrun.

Hartack Is Given 10-Day Suspension

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack drew a 10-day suspension Friday for rough riding in Thursday's seventh race at Hialeah. The suspension starts Sunday and will last through Feb. 3.

Ted Williams Gets $125,000 1959 Contract

Becomes 20-Year Man On May 20

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's fabulous Ted Williams renewed baseball's richest contract Friday by signing with the Red Sox for an estimated salary of $125,000 for the 1959 season.

The 40-year-old slugger signed the one-year agreement during a 25-minute meeting with newly-appointed General Manager Bucky Harris and Joe Cronin, who is moving from the GM's job to the presidency of the American League.

"I bet Bucky hopes he never has any more trouble (signing other players) than that," Ted quipped while posing for photographers.

Duck Money Subject

As usual, everybody was happy and smiling during Williams' annual mid-winter visit to the Red Sox front office. But all wanted to duck the subject of money.

Asked if he had anything to say about the size of the contract, Williams said:

"We haven't for 20 years, so why start now?"

Then, looking over the baseball writers and obviously recalling his many feuds with some, Ted laughed and cracked:

"Too bad we can't announce it was a cut, huh?"

Although there was official silence, the best guesses were that the great outfielder would receive $125,000. However, some estimates went as high as $135,000.

First Signed In 1938

Williams signed his first contract with the Red Sox as a gangling kid in 1938. He was farmed out to Minneapolis that season, but returned to the Red Sox the next year to stay.

Although it was only his 19th pact, Ted becomes a 20-year man in the American League May 30 as his tours as a Marine flyer in World War II and the Korean conflict are included as playing time.

Williams reiterated previous statements that he has not set any personal goals for 1959 as in other seasons.

"However, I hope to do as well as last year," he said.

Ted said he thought his .328 mark which earned him his sixth batting title last year—was "a little low to lead the league" and an average of ".340 might make it this season."

Armstrong's Wife Awarded Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The estranged wife of Henry Armstrong was awarded an uncontested divorce from boxing's former triple champion Friday.

Mrs. Willa Armstrong, 43, testified that her husband, who has become an enthusiastic Evangelist, left her alone a great deal and showed no affection.

Armstrong, 46, once held the feather weight, lightweight and welterweight championships simultaneously.

Maryland Deer Season May Be Extended To Seven Days

Two Saturday Hunting Days Are Proposed

Bill Is Introduced By Senator Malkus, Vaughn Gives OK

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Fred Malkus (D-Dorchester) proposed steps Friday to cut down the state's growing deer population by letting hunters have longer to go after them.

He introduced a bill which would expand from 6 to 7 days the statutory season for hunting bucks and provided for it to start and end on the first two Saturdays of December "so more working people can hunt them."

The season now begins on the first Monday of December and ends on Saturday.

The proposal also would let the Game and Inland Fish Department set its discretion seasons for hunting antlerless deer instead of limiting the special season to one day during the week immediately following the open season on male deer.

This would give the game department more control over deer which Malkus contends are now eating farmers out of their crops.

Endorsed By Vaughn

Ernest Vaughn, director of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, immediately endorsed the proposal. He said the commission's hands have been tied the past two years with a special season on the lower Eastern Shore which officials have been unable to postpone after it snowed. Under this bill they would have power to reset it.

Malkus said his primary concern was for farmers. "The deer herd is getting to be a serious problem to our people," he said. "Ten years ago we had practically none in Dorchester County. Now they're increasing so rapidly on the abundance of feed and cover that they're becoming a real nuisance."

Agree To Proposals

He talked over the problem with game officials who agreed to his proposals for tighter control that would also benefit hunters.

Vaughn said the bill does not propose to permit antlerless hunting in Western Maryland counties where it is now specifically outlawed — Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick. But he said if any of those counties decide they want such a season they can be included in the bill's provisions through amendment.

MacKay, Buchholz Score in Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI)—Barry MacKay won a marathon match in 92-degree temperatures to reach the semifinals of men's singles and 18-year-old Earl (Butch) Buchholz gained the finals of junior singles in his bid for a junior "grand slam" in the Australian tennis championships Friday.

MacKay, after struggling with an erratic service in the opening set, rallied to beat Roy Emerson of Australia, 4-6, 10-3, 6-3, 8-6 in a two-hour, 26-minute battle to gain a men's semifinal berth against fellow American Alex Olmedo.

Buchholz, St. Louis, Mo., youngster who already holds the U.S., British, and French junior crowns, romped into the final of the 18-under-and under competition by blasting Australia's Ken Fletcher, 6-4, 6-3. Defending champion Marty Mulligan of Australia also reached the final by routing 17-year-old Jose Luis Arilla of Spain, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Olmedo scored his quarter-final victory Thursday.

Would Outlaw Boxing

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A bill outlawing professional boxing in Connecticut was on file in the state Legislature Friday.

The measure provides a penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine for fighters and two years and $500 for fight fans.

Bowie Prexy Favors Nine Races Daily

Pimlico Approves, Laurel Doubtful

BALTIMORE (AP)—The president of Bowie Race Track said Friday he favors nine-race programs for Maryland's mile tracks.

Donald Lillis, head of the Southern Maryland track, indicated he would like the one-race expansion in time for the Bowie winter program which begins Feb. 7.

Most major tracks in the East have tacked on another race to their former eight-card programs.

"On basis of the fact so much interest is being shown in the trend toward nine races daily," Lillis said. "I won't have any choice but to ask the commission for a decision prior to our opening."

New York Offers Nine

The only member of the racing commission available for comment, E. Taylor Chewning, said, "Maryland, it would seem, must keep in step with the other states. It would seem to me that if New York offers horsemen nine races each day, Maryland probably would have to do the same to hold the horsemen and their horses."

Backing for the expanded card also came from Louis Pondfield, executive director of the Maryland Jockey Club which operates Pimlico.

"It would help us, the horsemen and increase the handle to provide more revenue to the State," said Pondfield.

John D. Schapiro, president of Laurel, the third one-mile track in the state, said he isn't sure at this time whether he would advocate an added race.

"There are a lot of things to be considered," he explained. "For instance, I am not so sure that a ninth race would pay for itself on weekdays when our handle on the final race of the program usually runs about $100,000.

Means Extra Expense

"The extra race means a lot of extra expense. Also, it remains to be seen if the fans bring more money to the track."

The two Republican members of the racing commission, Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart and Albert Shuger, were out of town and there was no indication whether a commission meeting would be called to discuss the nine-race program prior to Bowie's opening.

Ursuline Academy's basketball team, undefeated in nine games last season, posted its third victory of the current campaign by defeating Valley High School of Lonaconing yesterday on SS. Peter & Paul court by the score of 60-52.

Coach Kathy Mullaney's team jumped off to a 17-10 lead in the first period, held a 31-29 advantage at halftime and was on the long end of a 40-38 score when the third period ended.

Rita Kirkwood, of Valley, high point scorer in the tri-state area last season, dumped in 35 points for Valley but this was not enough to overcome the shooting of Betsy Robinette, Pat Mason and Celeste Madden whose combined efforts accounted for all of Ursuline's points.

Kirkwood connected for 12 goals from the field and meshed 11 of 16 shots at the foul line. Robinette hit for 11 goals and 26 points, Mason garnered 19 points, including nine goals, and Madden slammed in five shots from the field and had 15 points to her credit.

Ursuline racked up 25 field goals to Valley's 18. At the foul line, Valley converted 16 of 28 tosses while the locals sank 10 of 24 throws.

The lineups:

Pos.	Ursuline (60)	Valley (52)
F.	Mason	Warnick
F.	Robinette	Nicol
F.	C. Madden	Kirkwood
G.	Reinhart	Duckworth

MONTREAL (UPI)—Clay Bryant, who directed the Montreal Royals from last to first place in 1958 and won the International League's Governor's Cup playoffs in his first year, was rehired Friday for 1959, General Manager Rene Lemyre announced.

Lemyre said Bryant was given "a considerable increase," but declined to state the terms of the one-year pact.

Coach Ward Is Released By Colorado

Mentor Stunned, Served 11 Years

DENVER (AP)—Regents of the University of Colorado Friday fired head Coach Dal Ward whose 11-year football record at the Big Eight Conference school was 62 won, 41 lost, 6 tied.

Last season Colorado lost four of its last five games and finished with a 6-4 record.

"I am stunned," said Ward. He said there had been no indication earlier that he was going to be demoted.

The regents by a 5-to-1 vote relieved Ward of coaching duties effective Feb. 1 and recomended that he continue as a full professor of physical education in which he has tenure.

Ward, 52, would not say what he intends to do. The head coaching job paid him $12,800 and $1,000 expenses annually. Full professor's pay starts at $7,200 but it was not known immediately what salary Ward would receive.

The regents' resolution firing Ward gave no indication of the reasons other than stating it was for the "best interests of the university.

Some of the regents told newsmen in private comments that it wasn't Ward's won - lost record that brought their action. These regents, who declined use of their names, said they felt Ward didn't provide inspirational leadership.

Ward's career at Colorado reached its peak Jan. 1, 1957 when his 1956 team, which finished second in the Big Eight with a 7-2-1 record, defeated Clemson in the Orange Bowl 27-21. Colorado finished second in the Big Eight, one other time, in 1951.

Viscount Wins Hialeah Race

Defeats Favored Olymar By Nose

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP) — Mrs. Georgianna Foster's Viscount defeated Fred Hooper's Olymar by a nose after a close stretch battle in the $6,000 Allapattah Purse today at Hialeah.

The $7.80 chance was timed in 1:09 3/5 for six furlongs under strong handling by George Gibb.

Olymar led Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Talent Show, the 8 to 5 favorite of the 14,897 bettors, by three quarters of a length. Natagar, racing for Frederica F. Emert, was four and a half lengths out of the money.

Bill Hartack, who earlier in the afternoon was suspended for 10 days, as of next Friday, for "careless riding" in a race yesterday, hustled Olymar through along the inner rail to take the lead along the backstretch. Viscount pressed the race, never more than a length behind.

Olymar had a half-length margin entering the stretch but Viscount was closing strongly on the outside. Hartack roused Olymar sharply at the sixteenth pole as Viscount cut his margin to a head but the winner continued his rally to take the photo decision in the final stride.

Hartack Is Given 10-Day Suspension

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack drew a 10-day suspension Friday for rough riding in Thursday's seventh race at Hialeah. The suspension starts Sunday and will last through Feb. 3.

Ted Williams Gets $125,000 1959 Contract

Becomes 20-Year Man On May 20

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's fabulous Ted Williams renewed baseball's richest contract Friday by signing with the Red Sox for upwards of $125,000 for the 1959 season.

The 40-year-old slugger signed the one-year agreement during a 25-minute meeting with newly-appointed General Manager Bucky Harris and Joe Cronin, who is moving from the GM's job to the presidency of the American League.

"I bet Bucky hopes he never has any more trouble (signing other players) than that," Ted quipped while posing for photographers.

Duck Money Subject

As usual, everybody was happy and smiling during Williams' annual mid-winter visit to the Red Sox front office. But all wanted to duck the subject of money.

Asked if he had anything to say about the size of the contract, Williams said:

"We haven't for 20 years, so why start now?"

Then, looking over the baseball writers and obviously recalling his many feuds with some, Ted laughed and cracked:

"Too bad we can't announce it was a cut, huh?"

Although there was official silence, the best guesses were that the great outfielder would receive $125,000. However, some estimates went as high as $135,000.

First Signed In 1938

Williams signed his first contract with the Red Sox as a gangling kid in 1938. He was farmed out to Minneapolis that season, but returned to the Red Sox the next year to stay.

Although it was only his 19th pact, Ted becomes a 20-year man in the American League May 30 as his tours as a Marine flyer in World War II and the Korean conflict are included as playing time.

Williams reiterated previous statements that he has not set any personal goals for 1959 as in other seasons.

"However, I hope to do as well as last year," he said.

Ted said he thought his .328 mark—which earned him his sixth batting title last year—was "a little low to lead the league" and an average of ".340 might make it this season."

Armstrong's Wife Awarded Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The estranged wife of Henry Armstrong was awarded an uncontested divorce from boxing's former triple champion Friday.

Mrs. Willa Armstrong, 43, testified that her husband, who has become an enthusiastic Evangelist, left her alone a great deal and showed no affection.

Armstrong, 46, once held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight championships simultaneously.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Dry Skin Is A Hungry Skin

A dry and prematurely aging skin is a hungry skin. It can be quickly identified when it is lusterless, quick to wrinkle, irritate or flake.

A dry skin needs constant lubrication and protection to keep fine wrinkles from forming. It needs the right diet. The loss of dewy freshness and resilience—characteristics of young skin — according to scientific research is related to the lack of certain essential elements found only in fatty foods.

During the war, a number of servicewomen stationed in dry or hot bases found that their skin became very dry and started to peel. The painful condition was alleviated when they included extra fats in their diet.

From what I've said, it seems that all we have to do is eat plenty of fats and we'll have a beautiful skin. It's not that simple. With twentieth century beauty standards and fashion's requirements, a woman has her figure to think of, too. And not all fats are beneficial to a dry skin condition. Only specific ones with certain vital elements fit the bill. These are mostly the natural vegetable oils, not the animal fats as you might think. Oils such as soybean, corn and cottonseed are the best. They contain from 35 to 70 percent essential fatty acids (whereas olive oil furnishes only 4 to 14 percent and animal fats such as butter, cream, fish-liver oils, fat in egg yolk and meats, supply even less).

Besides the correct diet, dry skin should be given daily beauty treatment through these months that take their toll. Not only cold weather, but dry heat in apartments and houses takes the moisture from the skin.

Always remove cosmetics with a creamy cleanser formulated for dry skin. Each evening before retiring, apply a lubricant after cleansing. During the day when you're alone, you should remove your cosmetics and apply your night-care favorite.

County Declines Road Fund Use

A report on a meeting of county officials with the State Roads Commission administration Thursday in Baltimore was given at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, told the board that there is $97,000 available in funds for matching federal aid roads projects.

The county can also take part in the state road bond construction program, Skelly said.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason and Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, who also attended the meeting with Skelly, said they had discussed the whole program with SRC officials.

It was decided yesterday the county would not take part in either plan. Skelly said no projects have been planned for the federal aid program. He said the road projects under this plan provide for specifications which are too high for the type of roads which would be involved.

The state bond program for road construction was last used by the county a number of years ago. The money borrowed under this program has to be repaid in 15 years with interest.

All three commissioners felt that no projects should be undertaken at this time. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board, was instructed to notify the State Roads Commission that the county is not interested in the two road plans.

Bill For Parks Along Rt. 40 Is Introduced

A bill that would provide for a series of roadside parks and recreational areas along Route 40 between Hancock and the Pennsylvania line was introduced yesterday in the House of Delegates.

The measure, sponsored by Del. William Walsh of this county, would authorize the State Roads Commission to acquire ten tracts of land not more than 20 acres in area along the scenic and historic road.

The SRC would then be given the authority to turn over the tracts to the State Department of Forests and Parks for development.

(Both these two state departments have indicated previously their full cooperation in the event the bill is passed in the General Assembly.)

The legislation allows the State Department of Forests and Parks to use any of the extensive holdings of land it has in Western Maryland for these purposes.

It was pointed out in the bill that Route 40 from Hancock to the Pennsylvania line is ripe in U. S. traditions, having been the route used by George Washington in 1753 on his Fort LeBoeuf mission, by General Braddock in 1755, and played a major role in the development of the nation. It was the first road to receive federal funds for maintenance.

The improvement of the highway by these parks and recreational areas would be a benefit of all Marylanders and to tourists, the bill said.

SRC figures indicate that a number of motorists now bypass the section of Route 40 involved and take the Pennsylvania Turnpike from Hancock.

Statistics also show, the measure pointed out, that a greater number will bypass it when the federal interstate highway system is completed. This segment of Route 40 is not included in the system.

Through this diversion of traffic, the state loses gasoline tax money which the SRC spends for highway improvements and maintenance.

The bill also declares that this will work a hardship on the economy and welfare of the Western Maryland counties involved.

If prompt and firm action is taken to enhance the scenic and historic the SRC will receive increased gasoline tax revenues, areas of Western Maryland traversed by the highway will receive economic benefits.

The major means of accomplishing this, will be the passage of this bill, Walsh's measure states.

The bill also authorizes the State Roads Commission to build and maintain access roads to the parks and recreational areas.

LaVale Firemen Move Up Meeting Time

Due to the nature of the next meeting of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, it will start at 7 p. m. Tuesday instead of 8 p. m. as usual.

Thomas L. Smith, president, urged all members to be prompt because of the topic to be acted upon.

Ballfield Fence Is Knocked Down

High winds which hit the city Wednesday night knocked down approximately 200 feet of the metal fence around Penn Avenue baseball field, Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason reported yesterday.

Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Mason said the fence will be salvageable but all lumber—including posts and supports—must be replaced.

Board Rescinds Order For Dog Use In Research

A motion passed at Tuesday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners providing that stray dogs be given to Maryland Society for Medical Research was withdrawn yesterday on motion of Commissioner John Tucker Mason.

The action followed appearance of a group of representatives of the Animal Welfare Society of Allegany County to protest the proposal.

It was also decided to have a meeting in the near future with representatives of the society, and the research group to discuss the matter fully.

Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, spokesman for the society, said the county's dog law program is jeopardized by the proposal to furnish the dogs for medical research. She pointed out that the group is not against medical research, but fears that the county dog program would be wrecked by participation.

She said that since the publication of the board's proposal she and other members of the society have received hundreds of calls protesting the plan.

The program has been working very well in the county and the confidence of the public in it would be harmed if the research group were given dogs for their work, Mrs. Cobey said. She also said that the society likes the manner in which Merwin Hast, one of the two county dog wardens, has handled the program in the Cumberland area.

No longer are packs of wild dogs straying about the county killing game and domestic animals and hundreds of dogs have been placed in homes as a result of the dog wardens' efforts, Mrs. Cobey explained.

As for providing dogs for research in Baltimore hospitals, the society representatives felt the animals should be obtained in that area and not in Allegany County.

It was also stated that only a few dogs would be available as they must be at least 40 pounds in weight and for the number which this county could provide the dog program would be harmed in a far greater proportion than good which would result.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, read the letter from the research group and the names of the officers. Included was Dr. Alfred Blalock, who originated the heart surgery for "blue babies" at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

It was also brought out that the society had intended to start an educational program among school children on proper treatment of dogs and any participation in the research proposal would undermine this plan.

F. Allan Weatherholt, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, said he had visited Johns Hopkins Hospital and has seen some of the research work under way. He offered to attend the meeting of the various groups and give what information he can on the matter.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, said yesterday that since the original action was taken Tuesday, his office has received 35 cards and 16 letters opposing the research plan.

Court House Railing Found In Warehouse

The "mystery" of the "brass" railing from the Court House steps was cleared up yesterday.

Charles E. George, of the George Construction Company, said the hand railing, which is not brass, but brass-coated steel tubing, was located in the company's warehouse on Mt. Savage Road. He added, the firm has never received payment for its original installation.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, reported on the check he had made as to the railing's whereabouts.

He said he had been asked by County Attorney Leslie J. Clark to find the railing which was removed in March 1957, when new doors and new railings were placed on the Court House steps.

It was mentioned at the time that the rail had cost $1,100 and had been sold for scrap for about 50 cents.

Lilya said in his report that Charles E. George had informed him that it had been sold for salvage.

However, since Tuesday, the company located the railing at the warehouse and a check of the firm's records indicate that the bill for the job of installing it in 1954 had never been paid by the county commissioners.

George said this was due to no fault of the county commissioners, but through a bookkeeping oversight on the part of his staff.

The original contract let on February 24, 1954, by the county commissioners at that time, was for $485.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Dry Skin Is A Hungry Skin

A dry and prematurely aging skin is a hungry skin. It can be quickly identified when it is lusterless, quick to wrinkle, irritate or flake.

A dry skin needs constant lubrication and protection to keep fine wrinkles from forming. It needs the right diet. The loss of dewy freshness and resilience—characteristics of young skin — according to scientific research is related to the lack of certain essential elements found only in fatty foods.

During the war, a number of servicewomen stationed in dry or hot bases found that their skin became very dry and started to peel. The painful condition was alleviated when they included extra fats in their diet.

From what I've said, it seems that all we have to do is eat plenty of fats and we'll have a beautiful skin. It's not that simple. With twentieth century beauty standards and fashion's requirements, a woman has her figure to think of, too. And not all fats are beneficial to a dry skin condition. Only specific ones with certain vital elements fit the bill. These are mostly the natural vegetable oils, not the animal fats as you might think. Oils such as soybean, corn and cottonseed are the best. They contain from 35 to 70 percent essential fatty acids (whereas olive oil furnishes only 4 to 14 percent and animal fats such as butter, cream, fish-liver oils, fat in egg yolk and meats, supply even less).

Besides the correct diet, dry skin should be given daily beauty treatment through these months that take their toll. Not only cold weather, but dry heat in apartments and houses takes the moisture from the skin.

Always remove cosmetics with a creamy cleanser formulated for dry skin. Each evening before retiring, apply a lubricant after cleansing. During the day when you're alone, you should remove your cosmetics and apply your night-care favorite.

County Declines Road Fund Use

A report on a meeting of county officials with the State Roads Commission administration Thursday in Baltimore was given at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, told the board that there is $97,000 available in funds for matching federal aid roads projects.

The county can also take part in the state road bond construction program, Skelly said.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason and Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, who also attended the meeting with Skelly, said they had discussed the whole program with SRC officials.

It was decided yesterday the county would not take part in either plan. Skelly said no projects have been planned for the federal aid program. He said the road projects under this plan provide for specifications which are too high for the type of roads which would be involved.

The state bond program for road construction was last used by the county a number of years ago. The money borrowed under this program has to be repaid in 15 years with interest.

All three commissioners felt that no projects should be undertaken at this time. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board, was instructed to notify the State Roads Commission that the county is not interested in the two road plans.

Bill For Parks Along Rt. 40 Is Introduced

A bill that would provide for a series of roadside parks and recreational areas along Route 40 between Hancock and the Pennsylvania line was introduced yesterday in the House of Delegates.

The measure, sponsored by Del. William Walsh of this county, would authorize the State Roads Commission to acquire ten tracts of land not more than 20 acres in area along the scenic and historic road.

The SRC would then be given the authority to turn over the tracts to the State Department of Forests and Parks for development.

(Both these two state departments have indicated previously their full cooperation in the event the bill is passed in the General Assembly.)

The legislation allows the State Department of Forests and Parks to use any of the extensive holdings of land it has in Western Maryland for these purposes.

It was pointed out in the bill that Route 40 from Hancock to the Pennsylvania line is ripe in U. S. traditions, having been the route used by George Washington in 1753 on his Fort LeBoeuf mission, by General Braddock in 1755, and played a major role in the development of the nation. It was the first road to receive federal funds for maintenance.

The improvement of the highway by these parks and recreational areas would be a benefit of all Marylanders and to tourists, the bill said.

SRC figures indicate that a number of motorists now bypass the section of Route 40 involved and take the Pennsylvania Turnpike from Hancock.

Statistics also show, the measure pointed out, that a greater number will bypass it when the federal interstate highway system is completed. This segment of Route 40 is not included in the system.

Through this diversion of traffic, the state loses gasoline tax money which the SRC spends for highway improvements and maintenance.

The bill also declares that this will work a hardship on the economy and welfare of the Western Maryland counties involved.

If prompt and firm action is taken to enhance the scenic and historic the SRC will receive increased gasoline tax revenues, areas of Western Maryland traversed by the highway will receive economic benefits.

The major means of accomplishing this, will be the passage of this bill, Walsh's measure states.

The bill also authorizes the State Roads Commission to build and maintain access roads to the parks and recreational areas.

Ballfield Fence Is Knocked Down

High winds which hit the city Wednesday night knocked down approximately 200 feet of the metal fence around Penn Avenue baseball field, Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason reported yesterday.

Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Mason said the fence will be salvageable but all lumber—including posts and supports—must be replaced.

One large section of the fence was carried approximately 30 feet and narrowly missed a nearby dwelling.

LaVale Firemen Move Up Meeting Time

Due to the nature of the next meeting of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, it will start at 7 p. m. Tuesday instead of 8 p. m. as usual.

Board Rescinds Order For Dog Use In Research

A motion passed at Tuesday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners providing that stray dogs be given to Maryland Society for Medical Research was withdrawn yesterday on motion of Commissioner John Tucker Mason.

The action followed appearance of a group of representatives of the Animal Welfare Society of Allegany County to protest the proposal.

It was also decided to have a meeting in the near future with representatives of the society, and the research group to discuss the matter fully.

Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, spokesman for the society, said the county's dog law program is jeopardized by the proposal to furnish the dogs for medical research. She pointed out that the group is not against medical research, but fears that the county dog program would be wrecked by participation.

She said that since the publication of the board's proposal she and other members of the society have received hundreds of calls protesting the plan.

The program has been working very well in the county and the confidence of the public in it would be harmed if the research group were given dogs for their work, Mrs. Cobey said. She also said that the society likes the manner in which Merwin Hast, one of the two county dog wardens, has handled the program in the Cumberland area.

No longer are packs of wild dogs straying about the county killing game and domestic animals and hundreds of dogs have been placed in homes as a result of the dog wardens' efforts, Mrs. Cobey explained.

As for providing dogs for research in Baltimore hospitals, the society representatives felt the animals should be obtained in that area and not in Allegany County.

It was also stated that only a few dogs would be available as they must be at least 40 pounds in weight and for the number which this county could provide the dog program would be harmed in a far greater proportion than good which would result.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, read the letter from the research group and the names of the officers. Included was Dr. Alfred Blalock, who originated the heart surgery for "blue babies" at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

It was also brought out that the society had intended to start an educational program among school children on proper treatment of dogs and any participation in the research proposal would undermine this plan.

F. Allan Weatherholt, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, said he had visited Johns Hopkins Hospital and has seen some of the research work under way. He offered to attend the meeting of the various groups and give what information he can on the matter.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, said yesterday that since the original action was taken Tuesday, his office has received 35 cards and 16 letters opposing the research plan.

Court House Railing Found In Warehouse

The "mystery" of the "brass" railing from the Court House steps was cleared up yesterday.

Charles E. George, of the George Construction Company, said the hand railing, which is not brass, but brass-coated steel tubing, was located in the company's warehouse on Mt. Savage Road. He added, the firm has never received payment for its original installation.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, reported on the check he had made as to the railing's whereabouts.

He said he had been asked by County Attorney Leslie J. Clark to find the railing which was removed in March 1957, when new doors and new railings were placed on the Court House steps.

It was mentioned at the time that the rail had cost $1,100 and had been sold for scrap for about 50 cents.

Lilya said in his report that Charles E. George had informed him that it had been sold for salvage.

However, since Tuesday, the company located the railing at the warehouse and a check of the firm's records indicate that the bill for the job of installing it in 1954 had never been paid by the county commissioners.

George said this was due to no fault of the county commissioners, but through a bookkeeping oversight on the part of his staff.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife, Ora Pittman, who died seven years ago January 24, 1952.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
I never thought her death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
Sadly missed by her husband,
JOHN W. PITTMAN

Orphans Court Probates Wills Of Three Men

Wills of three men who died at advanced ages were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Jacob K. Armentrout, who was a 79-year-old McCoole resident at the time of his death January 12. Harry I. Stegmaier, local attorney, qualified as administrator c.t.a. of the estate after the man's children renounced their right to serve as executors. The estate was divided equally among his four children, Lester Armentrout, Clara Nelson, Ida Shockey and Charles Armentrout. The will was dated December 30, 1958.

Also probated yesterday was the will of Robert J. Lace, who was an 82-year-old Frostburg resident when he died last Sunday. A friend, Clinton F. Snyder, qualified as executor under a $200 bond.

Mr. Lace, whose will was dated last November, stipulated that his estate be converted into cash as soon as possible. He then listed 20 cash bequests, including one to a sister and two brothers, all of whom live on the Isle of Man, Great Britain. A $200 bequest was left to the First Methodist Church of Frostburg and the pastor, Rev. E. A. Godsey, also received a cash bequest.

After the cash bequests are satisfied, the rest of Mr. Lace's estate is to be divided into seven parts. Five of the seven parts are to go to his sister, Miss Ada Lace, on the Isle of Man, and the other two parts are to be shared by his other legatees.

The will of James Edward Patterson, who was 87 and lived at 523 Memorial Avenue at the time of his death November 26, also was probated. His stepdaughter, Mrs. Willie M. Courtney, 523 Memorial Avenue, qualified as executrix under a $200 bond.

It was stipulated in this will that the estate be converted into cash and the six equal shares go to his six stepchildren, Gordon Henry Greene, Willie M. Courtney, Roy A. Greene, Annie B. Bolyard, Charles H. Greene and Mason H. Greene. The will was dated October 4, 1955.

A one-paragraph will was one of two probated in the same court Tuesday. Charles E. Hiner, who was a 76-year-old Mt. Savage resident when he died January 10, simply said that all of his estate was to go to his brother, William U. Hiner, Mt. Savage. The will, dated July 5, 1948, made no provision for an executor and William U. Hiner qualified as administrator c.t.a. under a $2,500 bond.

The other Tuesday will was that of Delvin C. Gainer, who lived at Mexico Farms and was 76 when he died January 12. A daughter, Beatrice Gainer Bloss, RFD 4, Mexico Farms, qualified as executrix under a $100 bond. The estate went equally to five children, Olan F. Gainer, Willard D. Gainer, Deward E. Gainer, Elva Gainer Daulbaugh and Beatrice Gainer Bloss. It was dated December 20, 1950.

39 New Bills Handed W.Va. Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Thirty-nine more bills were introduced in the Legislature Friday, including measures designed to liberalize unemployment and compensation benefits to West Virginia workers.

The new bills, including 22 dropped in the House of Delegates hopper and 17 in the Senate, raised to 249 the number brought before the Legislature since it convened Jan. 14.

The benefits measure sponsored by House Speaker Harry R. Pauley (D-McDowell) would extend from the present 24 weeks to 30 weeks the eligibility period for benefits to jobless workers. They also would develop a new formula aimed at granting benefits totaling 42 per cent of the weekly average wage.

Among the provisions of the workman's compensation bill is one that would increase the weekly minimum - maximum benefit range from $20-$33 to $22-$36. The bill also would change provisions for payments of silicosis treatment and liberalize medical benefits.

Among other bills introduced were three by Sen. Raymond Vassar (R-Lewis) to create a State Department of Corrections with control over all penal and correctional institutions of the state with a commissioner appointed for a six-year term.

Another measure would submit as a constitutional amendment in 1960 a proposal to reduce from 60 per cent to a majority the requirement for adoption of special levies in counties to raise funds for support of public schools.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) and Sen. Lloyd Jackson (D-Lincoln) sponsored a measure which would rewrite the state's strip mining law. It would double present license fees, tighten up requirements for reclamation of land and provide for appointment of state and district surface mine inspectors for administration purposes.

Senate Majority Leader Clarence Martin (D - Berkeley) sponsored a bill which would allow mortuaries to advertise their businesses without restrictions.

Identical bills went into each chamber to allow the State Board of Education to establish self-supporting two-year under - graduate centers in any city in the state.

Other bills would:

Prevent members of the Legislature from holding state appointive office for one year after their terms expire.

Authorize the Road Commission to use its funds for purchase of rights-of-way for construction of toll bridges, the money to be refunded when bonds are sold to finance such work.

Local Man Jailed For Neglecting Children

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Seated between Sol Siegel and Arthur Freed at the Screen Producers' Guild milestone dinner honoring Samuel Goldwyn, I couldn't help but get news.

Sol told me that, in May, Arthur will start "Subterraneans," a story of young Bohemians by Jack Kerouac, and calling for a cast of young people.

"We signed George Peppard, who made such a hit on Broadway in 'Pleasure of His Company'," said Sol.

Arthur told me that he will make "Subterraneans" right after "Bells Are Ringing." Judy Holliday will be in Los Angeles next month to get ready for the picture at MGM, and at the same time she will open her play in Los Angeles.

Put it down to the influence of Dick Powell that Robert Taylor is headed into the TV business. Bob bought a ranch near Dick's Mandeville Canyon estate, and the two actors have been talking over the fence.

Now Bob has joined Dick, David Niven and Charles Boyer's Four-Star with his Robert Taylor productions in a new series created by Jules Levy, Arthur Gardner and Arnold Lavin (they produce "The Rifleman"). First Bob has two pictures to complete. He'll go to London for "Adamson in Africa" and then he'll film "The House of Seven Flies" for MGM which will also have English as well as Holland locales. He returns Aug. 1 to start his TV series.

The screens of the world flash "The End", the house lights go dark as a lion among Hollywood men dies gently in his sleep.

In the death of Cecil Blount De Mille, an era comes to an end. An era of flagrant make-believe, of gossamer dreams, big spectacles, the mysteries of religion unfolding under the studio kleig lights. De Mille never stooped to "reality," the god of today's creators like Tennessee Williams, Faulkner and Ernest Hemingway.

He spun dreams in the rarified air of imagination. We shall not again see the likes of this man, "C.B.", as he was known to the far corners of the earth.

Imperious, all powerful in his realm, wielding his megaphone like a scepter, he walked the studio where he worked for 45 years, Paramount, like a king. And he WAS a king, a king of talent and imagination and great, great creative ability.

Couldn't really believe it was Marilyn Monroe calling at 10 a.m. from New York until I remembered the three hours difference in the time and that the original Miss Sleepyhead had probably been awake all of 10 minutes! She certainly sounded awake, and happy, as she told me she is feeling much better and is coming out of her shell since the grief of losing her baby.

"I'm going to school every day," she said over 3000 miles, "back to Lee Strasberg's Actors' Studio. There's so much still for me to learn.

"And I hope you'll deny for me the gossip that I'm giving up my career. It's not true. I loved making 'Some Like It Hot' even though I did not feel well during production. I'm looking for another good story — then I'll be back to work."

The courage of Samuel Goldwyn in putting the blame for the present predicament of our motion picture industry on the exorbitant salaries and percentage deals paid stars is still being discussed. In a roomful of producers, there wasn't one who didn't applaud Sam. He is the one man who isn't afraid to say what he thinks and believes.

He sees a way out when picture makers come to their senses. He says the artists and agents are not to blame—it's the management which must take action. Today everyone is talking about Sam's speech, and about Mahalia Jackson's superb singing, plus Danny Thomas' emceeing.

Dispute Over Regents Lands In Legislature

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A fight to guarantee that most regents of the University of Maryland are alumni and represent every section of the state was carried to the General Assembly Friday.

The same proposal had received an unfavorable report by the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council.

Majority Of Alumni

The bill would increase the number of regents from 11 to 15, require that at least a majority be graduates of the university and one each would come from the Eastern Shore, Central, Maryland, Southern Maryland, Western Maryland and Baltimore City.

The governor has no geographical limitation on him now in appointing the regents, nor does any have to be an alumnus of the university.

The University Alumni Assn. was the first to suggest legislation requiring that it be represented on the board of regents. The Maryland State Grange and the Farm Bureau now are guaranteed of having such representation.

The drive for geographical representation is being sparked by the Prince Georges delegation because no regent on the board now is from Southern Maryland. The university is located in Prince Georges County.

Scholarship Bill Entered

Another effort to award more state scholarships to college students also was started in the House although it already had come in the Senate with endorsement of the legislative council.

Four Baltimore City delegates led by Del. Robinson of the Fourth District introduced the measure in the House where it failed last year.

It provides a new approach in Maryland to award of state scholarships in that financial need of the applicants would be a primary consideration.

The State Department of Education would give examinations to candidates and then certify 200 recipients a year. The winners could go to any college, including junior, in the state of their choosing. Tuition and other fees up to $400 a year would be paid by the state, and students boarding at the college would receive a total of $800.

Most of the state scholarships now are awarded by the individual legislators.

Would Double Representation

Sen. Pine (D-Balto County) also put in a bill duplicating one in the House to double the General Assembly representation of counties whose population exceeds 250,000 after 1960. At present only Baltimore, Prince Georges and Montgomery counties would benefit.

The outlook for this latest reapportionment move is obscure this session because of the position of Gov. Tawes. He has said he thinks some revisions may be called for, but said he was going to name a commission to give him recommendations.

Until then, he will not comment on any specific proposals such as that now before both Houses.

Salvation Army Board Will Reorganize

A reorganization meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board will be held at 12:15 p. m. Monday at The Citadel, according to Robert G. Garner, board chairman.

The reorganization is required under the new Salvation Army Manual for Advisory Organizations. Commissioner William Davidson, territorial commander, has designated Senior Captain Daniel K. Biggs as representative and Brigadier Carl E. Cone and Second Lt. Richard McConniel as members ex-officio of the Advisory Board. The number of regular members of the board has been fixed at 24.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Marion Rachael Ruehl vs. Frederick McClellan Ruehl.

Orphans Court Probates Wills Of Three Men

Wills of three men who died at advanced ages were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Jacob K. Armentrout, who was a 79-year-old McCoole resident at the time of his death January 12. Harry I. Stegmaier, local attorney, qualified as administrator c.t.a. of the estate after the man's children renounced their right to serve as executors. The estate was divided equally among his four children, Lester Armentrout, Clara Nelson, Ida Shockey and Charles Armentrout. The will was dated December 30, 1958.

Also probated yesterday was the will of Robert J. Lace, who was an 82-year-old Frostburg resident when he died last Sunday. A friend, Clinton F. Snyder, qualified as executor under a $200 bond.

Mr. Lace, whose will was dated last November, stipulated that his estate be converted into cash as soon as possible. He then listed 20 cash bequests, including one to a sister and two brothers, all of whom live on the Isle of Man, Great Britain. A $200 bequest was left to the First Methodist Church of Frostburg and the pastor, Rev. E. A. Godsey, also received a cash bequest.

After the cash bequests are satisfied, the rest of Mr. Lace's estate is to be divided into seven parts. Five of the seven parts are to go to his sister, Miss Ada Lace, on the Isle of Man, and the other two parts are to be shared by his other legatees.

The will of James Edward Patterson, who was 87 and lived at 523 Memorial Avenue at the time of his death November 26, also was probated. His stepdaughter, Mrs. Willie M. Courtney, 523 Memorial Avenue, qualified as executrix under a $200 bond.

It was stipulated in this will that the estate be converted into cash and the six equal shares go to his six stepchildren, Gordon Henry Greene, Willie M. Courtney, Roy A. Greene, Annie B. Bolyard, Charles H. Greene and Mason H. Greene. The will was dated October 4, 1955.

A one-paragraph will was one of two probated in the same court Tuesday. Charles E. Hiner, who was a 76-year-old Mt. Savage resident when he died January 10, simply said that all of his estate was to go to his brother, William U. Hiner, Mt. Savage. The will, dated July 5, 1948, made no provision for an executor and William U. Hiner qualified as administrator c.t.a. under a $2,500 bond.

The other Tuesday will was that of Delvin C. Gainer, who lived at Mexico Farms and was 76 when he died January 12. A daughter, Beatrice Gainer Bloss, RFD 4, Mexico Farms, qualified as executrix under a $100 bond. The estate went equally to five children, Olan F. Gainer, Willard D. Gainer, Deward E. Gainer, Elva Gainer Daulbaugh and Beatrice Gainer Bloss. It was dated December 20, 1950.

39 New Bills Handed W.Va. Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Thirty-nine more bills were introduced in the Legislature Friday, including measures designed to liberalize unemployment and compensation benefits to West Virginia workers.

The new bills, including 22 dropped in the House of Delegates hopper and 17 in the Senate, raised to 249 the number brought before the Legislature since it convened Jan. 14.

The benefits measure sponsored by House Speaker Harry R. Pauley (D-McDowell) would extend from the present 24 weeks to 30 weeks the eligibility period for benefits to jobless workers. They also would develop a new formula aimed at granting benefits totaling 42 per cent of the weekly average wage.

Among the provisions of the workman's compensation bill is one that would increase the weekly minimum - maximum benefit range from $20-$33 to $22-$36. The bill also would change provisions for payments of silicosis treatment and liberalize medical benefits.

Among other bills introduced were three by Sen. Raymond Vassar (R-Lewis) to create a State Department of Corrections with control over all penal and correctional institutions of the state with a commissioner appointed for a six-year term.

Another measure would submit as a constitutional amendment in 1960 a proposal to reduce from 60 per cent to a majority the requirement for adoption of special levies in counties to raise funds for support of public schools.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) and Sen. Lloyd Jackson (D-Lincoln) sponsored a measure which would rewrite the state's strip mining law. It would double present license fees, tighten up requirements for reclamation of land and provide for appointment of state and district surface mine inspectors for administration purposes.

Senate Majority Leader Clarence Martin (D - Berkeley) sponsored a bill which would allow mortuaries to advertise their businesses without restrictions.

Identical bills went into each chamber to allow the State Board of Education to establish self-supporting two-year under - graduate centers in any city in the state.

Other bills would:

Prevent members of the Legislature from holding state appointive office for one year after their terms expire.

Authorize the Road Commission to use its funds for purchase of rights-of-way for construction of toll bridges, the money to be refunded when bonds are sold to finance such work.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Seated between Sol Siegel and Arthur Freed at the Screen Producers' Guild milestone dinner honoring Samuel Goldwyn, I couldn't help but get news.

Sol told me that, in May, Arthur will start "Subterraneans," a story of young Bohemians by Jack Kerouac, and calling for a cast of young people.

"We signed George Peppard, who made such a hit on Broadway in 'Pleasure of His Company'," said Sol.

Arthur told me that he will make "Subterraneans" right after "Bells Are Ringing." Judy Holliday will be in Los Angeles next month to get ready for the picture at MGM, and at the same time she will open her play in Los Angeles.

Put it down to the influence of Dick Powell that Robert Taylor is headed into the TV business. Bob bought a ranch near Dick's Mandeville Canyon estate, and the two actors have been talking over the fence.

Now Bob has joined Dick, David Niven and Charles Boyer's Four-Star with his Robert Taylor productions in a new series created by Jules Levy, Arthur Gardner and Arnold Lavin (they produce "The Rifleman"). First Bob has two pictures to complete. He'll go to London for "Adamson in Africa" and then he'll film "The House of Seven Flies" for MGM which will also have English as well as Holland locales. He returns Aug. 1 to start his TV series.

The screens of the world flash "The End", the house lights go dark as a lion among Hollywood men dies gently in his sleep.

In the death of Cecil Blount De Mille, an era comes to an end. An era of flagrant make-believe, of gossamer dreams, big spectacles, the mysteries of religion unfolding under the studio kleig lights. De Mille never stooped to "reality," the god of today's creators like Tennessee Williams, Faulkner and Ernest Hemingway.

He spun dreams in the rarified air of imagination. We shall not again see the likes of this man, "C.B.", as he was known to the far corners of the earth.

Imperious, all powerful in his realm, wielding his megaphone like a scepter, he walked the studio where he worked for 45 years, Paramount, like a king. And he WAS a king, a king of talent and imagination and great, great creative ability.

Couldn't really believe it was Marilyn Monroe calling at 10 a.m. from New York until I remembered the three hours difference in the time and that the original Miss Sleepyhead had probably been awake all of 10 minutes! She certainly sounded awake, and happy, as she told me she is feeling much better and is coming out of her shell since the grief of losing her baby.

"I'm going to school every day," she said over 3000 miles, "back to Lee Strasberg's Actors' Studio. There's so much still for me to learn.

"And I hope you'll deny for me the gossip that I'm giving up my career. It's not true. I loved making 'Some Like It Hot' even though I did not feel well during production. I'm looking for another good story — then I'll be back to work."

The courage of Samuel Goldwyn in putting the blame for the present predicament of our motion picture industry on the exorbitant salaries and percentage deals paid stars is still being discussed. In a roomful of producers, there wasn't one who didn't applaud Sam. He is the one man who isn't afraid to say what he thinks and believes.

He sees a way out when picture makers come to their senses. He says the artists and agents are not to blame—it's the management which must take action. Today everyone is talking about Sam's speech, and about Mahalia Jackson's superb singing, plus Danny Thomas' emceeing.

Dispute Over Regents Lands In Legislature

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A fight to guarantee that most regents of the University of Maryland are alumni and represent every section of the state was carried to the General Assembly Friday.

The same proposal had received an unfavorable report by the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council.

Majority Of Alumni

The bill would increase the number of regents from 11 to 15, require that at least a majority be graduates of the university and one each would come from the Eastern Shore, Central, Maryland, Southern Maryland, Western Maryland and Baltimore City.

The governor has no geographical limitation on him now in appointing the regents, nor does any have to be an alumnus of the university.

The University Alumni Assn. was the first to suggest legislation requiring that it be represented on the board of regents. The Maryland State Grange and the Farm Bureau now are guaranteed of having such representation.

The drive for geographical representation is being sparked by the Prince Georges delegation because no regent on the board now is from Southern Maryland. The university is located in Prince Georges County.

Scholarship Bill Entered

Another effort to award more state scholarships to college students also was started in the House although it already had come in the Senate with endorsement of the legislative council.

Four Baltimore City delegates led by Del. Robinson of the Fourth District introduced the measure in the House where it failed last year.

It provides a new approach in Maryland to award of state scholarships in that financial need of the applicants would be a primary consideration.

The State Department of Education would give examinations to candidates and then certify 200 recipients a year. The winners could go to any college, including junior, in the state of their choosing. Tuition and other fees up to $400 a year would be paid by the state, and students boarding at the college would receive a total of $800.

Most of the state scholarships now are awarded by the individual legislators.

Would Double Representation

Sen. Pine (D-Balto County) also put in a bill duplicating one in the House to double the General Assembly representation of counties whose population exceeds 250,000 after 1960. At present only Baltimore, Prince Georges and Montgomery counties would benefit.

The outlook for this latest reapportionment move is obscure this session because of the position of Gov. Tawes. He has said he thinks some revisions may be called for, but said he was going to name a commission to give him recommendations.

Until then, he will not comment on any specific proposals such as that now before both Houses.

Salvation Army Board Will Reorganize

A reorganization meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board will be held at 12:15 p. m. Monday at The Citadel, according to Robert G. Garner, board chairman.

The reorganization is required under the new Salvation Army Manual for Advisory Organizations. Commissioner William Davidson, territorial commander, has designated Senior Captain Daniel K. Biggs as representative and Brigadier Carl E. Cone and Second Lt. Richard McConniel as members ex-officio of the Advisory Board. The number of regular members of the board has been fixed at 24.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Marion Rachael Ruehl vs. Frederick McClellan Ruehl.

Interest In Few Special Stocks In Narrow Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concentrated interest in a few special stocks gave an appearance of strength and activity Friday to what was basically a narrowly irregular, less active market.

Industrial stocks generally showed at least fractional recovery from the selling which hit the list late Thursday. Rails and utilities, however, were a bit lower on balance.

Big gains came in some of the steel and oil shares. Among the former, Sharon Steel rose nearly 4 points, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 2½, Jones & Laughlin, Pittsburgh Steel and Detroit Steel a point to 2.

Superior Oil of California again highlighted the oils, running up 85 points to a new high at its best and holding 50 points of the gain to close at 2,130. Amerada and Union of California were up nearly 3 each while Richfield added over 2.

Some of the tire shares were weak. Firestone lost nearly 6, Goodyear almost 2 points. DuPont and Union Carbide were off a point or more in a generally higher chemical group. Zenith fell 3½.

Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ⅜; Detroit Steel, 1⅞ higher; Tung-sol, up 2⅜; Royal Dutch, up 1⅜, rounded out the top five activities.

Overall volume was off substantially at 3,600,000 shares compared with 4,250,000 on Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed steady to quite firm Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅝ to 1¼ cent; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) off ½ to up ⅛ cent; oats unchanged to up ⅜ cent; rye off ⅛ to up ⅞ cent; soybeans off ½ to up 1¼ cents.

In some instances, particularly wheat, and soybeans prices were strong.

May wheat led the advance. Early buying by export and elevator houses initiated the rise and later and buying by locals and scattered commission houses firmed the market. July moved up 1¼, September 1⅛ and December 1¼ cents. A good volume of May purchases appeared to offset scattered selling of July and September. Israel took more than 700,000 bushels of U.S. hard wheat. Short covering by various commercial interests also were featured.

Commission houses did most selling in corn. New March had most of the session's business. One elevator - shipper bought old March, but the contract dropped ¼ cent by the close. Traders gave less attention to corn Friday than in recent sessions. Whatever buying was done was at the hands of local brokers.

Cash houses continued to buy March and May oats. Prices moved to firm levels but soon dropped to a steady tone. Commission houses liquidated in March.

Rye was featureless and ruled firm.

The trend was slightly higher in soybeans. Distant September moved up 1¼ cents, and newly - introduced November moved up 1⅛ cents. There was a better commission house demand for July beans and Northwest broker interests in March and May were dominant factors in the advance.

Meal also moved slightly higher.

Grains at outside markets were firm. The range:

Moral Obligation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said Thursday labor unions have a moral obligation not to use members' dues money for state political purposes.

Mitchell noted that use of dues money in federal political campaigns is prohibited by the Taft-Hartley law. He said at a news conference that unions should withhold such spending in state campaigns from a moral standpoint.

Interest In Few Special Stocks In Narrow Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concentrated interest in a few special stocks gave an appearance of strength and activity Friday to what was basically a narrowly irregular, less active market.

Industrial stocks generally showed at least fractional recovery from the selling which hit the list late Thursday. Rails and utilities, however, were a bit lower on balance.

Big gains came in some of the steel and oil shares. Among the former, Sharon Steel rose nearly 4 points, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 2½, Jones & Laughlin, Pittsburgh Steel and Detroit Steel a point to 2.

Superior Oil of California again highlighted the oils, running up 85 points to a new high at its best and holding 50 points of the gain to close at 2,130. Amerada and Union of California were up nearly 3 each while Richfield added over 2.

Some of the tire shares were weak. Firestone lost nearly 6, Goodyear almost 2 points. DuPont and Union Carbide were off a point or more in a generally higher chemical group. Zenith fell 3½.

Motors were generally firm although American dipped a bit on the day's second heaviest volume.

Standard Oil (New Jersey), up ⅜; Detroit Steel, 1⅞ higher; Tung-sol, up 2⅜; Royal Dutch, up 1⅜, rounded out the top five activities.

Overall volume was off substantially at 3,600,000 shares compared with 4,250,000 on Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed steady to quite firm Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅜ to 1¼ cent; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) off ½ to up ⅛ cent; oats unchanged to up ⅜ cent; rye off ⅛ to up ⅞ cent; soybeans off ½ to up 1¼ cents.

In some instances, particularly wheat, and soybeans prices were strong.

May wheat led the advance. Early buying by export and elevator houses initiated the rise and later and buying by locals and scattered commission houses firmed the market. July moved up 1¼, September 1⅛ and December 1¼ cents. A good volume of May purchases appeared to offset scattered selling of July and September. Israel took more than 700,000 bushels of U.S. hard wheat. Short covering by various commercial interests also were featured.

Commission houses did most selling in corn. New March had most of the session's business. One elevator - shipper bought old March, but the contract dropped ¼ cent by the close. Traders gave less attention to corn Friday than in recent sessions. Whatever buying was done was at the hands of local brokers.

Cash houses continued to buy March and May oats. Prices moved to firm levels but soon dropped to a steady tone. Commission houses liquidated in March.

Rye was featureless and ruled firm.

The trend was slightly higher in soybeans. Distant September moved up 1¼ cents, and newly - introduced November moved up 1⅛ cents. There was a better commission house demand for July beans and Northwest broker interests in March and May were dominant factors in the advance.

Meal also moved slightly higher.

Grains at outside markets were firm. The range:

Moral Obligation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said Thursday labor unions have a moral obligation not to use members' dues money for state political purposes.

Mitchell noted that use of dues money in federal political campaigns is prohibited by the Taft-Hartley law. He said at a news conference that unions should withhold such spending in state campaigns from a moral standpoint.

Firm Dismisses Suit Against Teamsters

Local 453 To Meet With Sanders Today

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley yesterday rescinded in Garrett County Circuit Court an order restraining 14 individuals and Local 453, Teamsters Union, from mass picketing of the Sanders Motor Freight, Inc., terminal in Oakland.

Following the action taken yesterday afternoon, the company dismissed the suit and made plans to meet with Local 453 officials today at 10:30 a. m. in the company's Oakland terminal.

Meeting Set Today

C. E. Stutzman, business agent for the union, said he feels a satisfactory agreement will be reached at the conference.

Earlier this month, Judge Fraley issued a restraining order and gave the 14 individuals and the union until January 28 to show cause why a number of other items prayed by the plaintiff should not be granted.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, was represented by Lewis Jones, Oakland; William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, and Ben Jubelier, attorney for the Teamsters' Pittsburgh joint council.

The Sanders Motor Freight, Inc., was represented by Stephen D. Pagenhardt, Oakland; William H. Geppert and William A. Gunter, of Cumberland.

Mr. Stutzman said last night that Local 453, Teamsters Union, has held contracts with the trucking firm since 1952 and that the three-year pact was renewed in 1955 and 1958.

He said the company ignored the contract early this month when it notified drivers they were no longer employes of the company but independent contractors.

Mr. Stutzman said the action would deprive the workers of a number of benefits, including pension and welfare.

Cites Union Contract

He added that under terms of the three-year contract signed in 1958, the men remain employes of the firm during the term of the pact.

Mr. Stutzman said he learned of the company's plans early this month and asked the firm to postpone action for a week.

He said the union pulled its men off and picketed the job after the firm failed to live up to the contract.

In seeking the injunction, the firm said three of the 14 persons involved own tractors used to haul trailers owned by the firm, and lease them under separate lease agreements.

The others' it said, were persons who own tractors and who formerly leased them to the company under separate lease agreements which were cancelled by the company January 10 under terms of the agreement.

Episcopalians Will Convene

A number of clergymen and laymen from Allegany County will attend the 175th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland February 3 and 4 at the Church of the Redeemer, 5603 North Charles Street, Baltimore.

This will mark the first time since 1955 that the entire convention has been held in one parish church. The last time it was in All Saints Church, Frederick.

Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, bishop of Maryland, will make his annual address to the convention and the people of Maryland at 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 3. Rt. Rev. Harry Lee Doll, bishop coadjutor, will make his address at 10 a.m. Wednesday, February 4.

Each of the 126 parishes and missions in the diocese will be represented by the clergyman and a layman for each clergyman of the staff.

Emmanuel Episcopal Church here will be represented by Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector; Rev. Robert L. Leather, assistant, and George F. Hazelwood Sr., junior warden, and William L. Wilson, a former member of the vestry.

Other Allegany County clergymen planning to attend are Rev. William J. Cox, vicar of St. Philip's Chapel and Holy Cross Chapel; Rev. Lawrence C. Butler, rector, St. George's Church, Mt. Savage; Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, St. John's Church, Frostburg; Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, vicar, St. Peter's Church, Lonaconing, and Rev. Willard G. Wilson Jr., rector, St. James' Church, Westernport.

Court Dockets Klink's Appeal

The appeal of Robert Klink, 911 Oldtown road, from a $25 fine imposed upon him in Trial Magistrates Court was docketed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Klink was arrested January 13 by Detective Lt. James Van and Detective Thomas See on a charge of violating City Ordinance 1814 by operating a used car lot. The Mayor and Council last September 29 had refused his application for a used car lot license.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined Klink $25 January 14 and the man, through Attorney James Alfred Avirett, appealed.

Approximately 75 Amcelle staff members and representatives from the Fibers Division of Celanese Corporation in Charlotte, N. C., were present.

The occasion marked the end of Mr. Humphrey's service as production manager and his promotion to a new production responsibility with Fiber Industries, the company formed by Celanese and Imperial Chemical Industries, Limited, to produce Teron, a polyester fiber.

Next week Mr. Humphreys will leave for England, where he will spend several weeks in plants of the British company in preparation for his new assignment in the plant to be erected at Shelby, N. C.

He was promoted to the Amcelle position in November 1957.

Mr. Humphreys is married and the father of three boys, including twins. His family will live at LaVale until Mr. Humphreys finds a home in Shelby.

Zihlman Store Is Burglarized, $200 Is Stolen

Several persons were questioned yesterday by Maryland State Police who are investigating the breaking and entering and theft of about $200 in cash from a business establishment at Zihlman.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said last night that someone broke into Anderson's Grocery and Tavern late Thursday night or early yesterday morning.

The glass in a door on the side of the building was broken, according to Sgt. Baker, who said the intruder crawled through the broken door and forced open a pinball machine, a bowling machine and a juke box, and removed the cash.

The proprietor of the business place, who discovered the entry about 7:30 a.m. yesterday, told police that no food or liquor had been stolen.

Several persons were picked up for questioning by police, who said that none had been placed in custody. The suspects also were questioned in connection with a breaking and entering at Eckhart Elementary School earlier this week.

A window was broken in the rear of the school and a door forced open. A movie projector and still projector valued at $650 were taken, Sgt. Baker said.

The breaking and entering at Zihlman is another in a series of entries into business places where the intruders concentrate on obtaining cash from machines on the premises, he added.

Assisting Baker in the investigation is Tfc. Milton G. Hart.

County Board To Withdraw Bank Deposits

$180,000 Will Be Invested Soon

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners voted yesterday to withdraw some $180,000 from five county banks and invest in short-term U.S. government securities.

John J. Rowan, president of the board, said yesterday afternoon that he has been informed by Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, that the funds in these five checking accounts have not been touched for years. They have been drawing no interest.

The $180,000 includes $100,000 in the Cumberland Savings Bank, $25,000 each in the Fidelity Savings Bank and the Frostburg National Bank, both of Frostburg; $20,000 from the Commercial Savings Bank, which has been absorbed by the Liberty Trust Company, and $10,000 from the Lonaconing branch of the Liberty Trust Company.

Mr. Rowan said he has been assured that the county could realize more than three per cent interest on U.S. securities. They would have to be on a short-term basis in case the county found itself in a position of needing funds.

Three per cent interest on $180,000 would amount to $5,400 a year. That would be a little better than one-third of a cent on the tax rate. On the assessable basis of $158,000,000 now used by the county each cent brings in $15,800.

The president of the county commissioners commented that Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster managed to obtain about $11,000 for the county last year through re-investment on school construction funds not needed immediately.

The county treasurer's report submitted to the commissioners yesterday showed the county had a total of $1,134,216.80 on deposit in banks as of December 31. The balance on September 30 was $2,095,995.32.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, yesterday afternoon sent letters to the five banks holding the $180,000 in deposits, notifying them that the funds would be withdrawn within 30 days.

Judge Delays Trials Of 12 Youths

Hearings Scheduled For Next Tuesday

Judge Ernest A. See, judge of Mineral County (W. Va.) Circuit Court, delayed hearings for 12 Keyser area youths yesterday because they created a disturbance in their jail cells early yesterday morning.

The youths were to appear before Judge See on charges of breaking and entering, but when he heard they had caused a disturbance he set the hearings back to next Tuesday.

They were indicted earlier this week by the Mineral County Grand Jury and were ordered to jail Wednesday when Judge See revoked their bonds after they told him they didn't have enough money to pay their lawyers.

Carl Butler, 19, of Potomac Heights, who also was involved in the series of breaking and enterings, but was in a different part of the jail during the disturbance, was given a suspended sentence by Judge See.

Butler was given a suspended sentence of one to ten years and was ordered to make restitution of $108 to a service station which had been burglarized. The judge also ordered Butler to apologize to the service station owners and to pay all court costs.

In another case yesterday before Judge See, a 16-year-old youth was given a year term in the Forestry Camp for Boys at Davis for violation of parole.

The youth was sentenced several years ago for breaking into Burlington School, and earlier this month he was arrested for being drunk and breaking into a home.

Ohio Firm Bids Low On Housing Site Demolition

Bids were opened yesterday at 3 p. m. by the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland at a meeting in Jane Frazier Village.

Accepted was the $8,240 low bid of the Ace Wrecking Company, of Columbus, Ohio.

Other bids include Gibraltar Wrecking and Supply Company, Union, N. J., $9,600; John S. Cook and Son, Cumberland, $9,875; S. T. Brotemarkle, Cumberland, $19,210; Dils Construction Company, Uniontown, Pa., $29,285; Harford Contracting Corp., Baltimore, $37,940, and Orrie Sensabaugh, Cumberland, $37,950.

Only one bid was received December 29 when the Housing Authority opened bids for razing the abandoned homes in the Oldtown Road-Lamont Street area. The job was readvertised, as FHA rules require at least two bids.

It has been estimated that the site can be cleared in about 30 days and that construction on the new public housing project can begin this spring.

The City of Cumberland has been pushing for the demolition of the buildings, which have been termed both health and fire hazards.

Paint Job Planned

JOHN S. REXRODE

Former Local Man Missing In Dundalk

A former local man, who has been living in Dundalk for about four years, has been missing from his home since December 12.

John Stoner Rexrode, 30, was last seen by his wife on the morning of December 12. He was working day shift at the Bethlehem Steel Mills in Sparrows Point. When she went to prepare his breakfast, he had left the house and she surmised he had gone on to work.

Authorities of Dundalk were notified and combed the immediate area in search of the man. A 13-state alarm was sent out by authorities according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rexrode, who reside at 474 Baltimore Avenue.

The man is about five feet, five inches tall, weighs about 125 pounds, has dark hair and brown eyes, and wears glasses.

He is married to the former Miss Doris Rice of Williams Road. The couple has two children.

4-H Will Start Project On Auto Safety

A new 4-H project designed to promote automobile safety will be started with a meeting at the Allegany County Court House at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 10, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold.

This project is known as the 4-H automobile project and emphasizes care and safety with automobiles. It is designed for boys and girls 15 years or older and preferably those without driver's permits who are just learning to drive.

Mr. Arnold plans to organize a county-wide club similar to the tractor club to deal entirely with this subject. Local 4-H leaders are being requested to call this program to the attention of their club members. Boys and girls who are not in the 4-H program also are eligible.

Willys Wilson has agreed to serve as leader of this new club.

Ambulance Bill Question To Be Probed Further

Fred W. Jenkins, operator of the Astor Ambulance Service, yesterday discussed with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners the board's refusal to pay the ambulance fees for indigent persons taken to local hospitals and was promised that the matter would be further studied.

Mr. Jenkins said that he had discussed this matter previously with Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of the State Welfare Department, who told him that the welfare department could not pay these ambulance bills. The ambulance operator said he considered it strange that the Welfare Department could pay the hospital bills of these indigent persons but could not pay for the ambulance which carries them to the hospital.

John J. Rowan, president of the commissioners, suggested that the matter might be discussed at the next meeting of the County Welfare Board. Commissioner John T. Mason, who is the board's member on the Welfare Board, will attempt to get a solution to this matter.

The new commissioners decided Tuesday to adhere to the policy established in August 1956 by Gorman E. Getty, then attorney to the county commissioners.

Four Homewood Addition residents, Jacob and George Kerchner, Elmer O'Neal and Esther Sponaugle, attended yesterday's meeting to complain about a poor drainage condition. Mr. Rowan said he already had investigated this road and found that it was not in the county road system.

Property owners along the road will have to deed a right-of-way to the county before any action can be taken.

The three commissioners also received an invitation from the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland to attend the association's next meeting at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, February 17, at Central YMCA. They will discuss various phases of county operations.

Kelly Workers Return After Breakdown

Motor Failure Caused Shutdown

Rubber workers began reporting last night at 11 p. m. to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here after a broken air compressor was repaired.

The Kelly workers are being recalled on a staggered schedule as materials become available.

Plans for the resumption of production were made last night at 8 o'clock as maintenance crews reported the air compressor had been repaired and tested.

The motor which operates the compressor failed Thursday night and put some 1,600 hourly-paid employes out of work, since nearly all manufacturing operations depend on the use of compressed air.

UHF Groups To Apply For Second Channel

A formal application to the Federal Communications Commission for a second UHF channel at Frostburg will be made when representatives of the Frostburg, LaVale and Cresaptown associations meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall.

Plans for the FCC action were announced last night at a meeting of the LaVale TV Association's campaign committee.

Frostburg already re-broadcasts UHF signals from Channel 9. The Frostburg-LaVale-Cresaptown group will seek Channel 5 and hopes eventually to increase selection to four channels.

Walter N. Hedrick, chairman of the LaVale campaign organization, also announced last night that a Cumberland group promoting a UHF television system has decided to erect equipment on Irons Mountain east of the city instead of on Dan's Mountain to the west.

Earlier, the Cumberland group had planned to set up a county-wide TV association with other groups in LaVale, Frostburg and Cresaptown.

The LaVale organization last night announced its intention to continue work with the Frostburg and Cresaptown groups to buy and install ultra-high-frequency translator equipment on Dan's Mountain.

A UHF translator is an electronic device which picks up standard very-high-frequency (VHF) television signals and re-broadcasts them as ultra-high frequency signals.

The LaVale association includes LaVale, Corriganville, Ellerslie and Locust Grove. The Cresaptown group includes Cresaptown, Pinto, Rawlings, Potomac Park, and Fort Ashby, W. Va.

At last night's meeting in LaVale Fire Hall, Mr. Hedrick reported that the LaVale association has raised $5,200 in cash and $7,600 in pledges.

After the campaign committee's meeting, M. C. McKenzie, association president, called a meeting of the board of directors to approve a change in the by-laws to incorporate the LaVale association with the Frostburg organization.

Firm Dismisses Suit Against Teamsters

Local 453 To Meet With Sanders Today

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley yesterday rescinded in Garrett County Circuit Court an order restraining 14 individuals and Local 453, Teamsters Union, from mass picketing of the Sanders Motor Freight, Inc., terminal in Oakland.

Following the action taken yesterday afternoon, the company dismissed the suit and made plans to meet with Local 453 officials today at 10:30 a. m. in the company's Oakland terminal.

Meeting Set Today

C. E. Stutzman, business agent for the union, said he feels a satisfactory agreement will be reached at the conference.

Earlier this month, Judge Fraley issued a restraining order and gave the 14 individuals and the union until January 28 to show cause why a number of other items prayed by the plaintiff should not be granted.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, was represented by Lewis Jones, Oakland; William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, and Ben Jubelier, attorney for the Teamsters' Pittsburgh joint council.

The Sanders Motor Freight, Inc., was represented by Stephen D. Pagenhardt, Oakland; William H. Geppert and William A. Gunter, of Cumberland.

Mr. Stutzman said last night that Local 453, Teamsters Union, has held contracts with the trucking firm since 1952 and that the three-year pact was renewed in 1955 and 1958.

He said the company ignored the contract early this month when it notified drivers they were no longer employes of the company but independent contractors.

Mr. Stutzman said the action would deprive the workers of a number of benefits, including pension and welfare.

Cites Union Contract

He added that under terms of the three-year contract signed in 1958, the men remain employes of the firm during the term of the pact.

Mr. Stutzman said he learned of the company's plans early this month and asked the firm to postpone action for a week.

He said the union pulled its men off and picketed the job after the firm failed to live up to the contract.

In seeking the injunction, the firm said three of the 14 persons involved own tractors used to haul trailers owned by the firm, and lease them under separate lease agreements.

The others' it said, were persons who own tractors and who formerly leased them to the company under separate lease agreements which were cancelled by the company January 10 under terms of the agreement.

Zihlman Store Is Burglarized, $200 Is Stolen

Several persons were questioned yesterday by Maryland State Police who are investigating the breaking and entering and theft of about $200 in cash from a business establishment at Zihlman.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said last night that someone broke into Anderson's Grocery and Tavern late Thursday night or early yesterday morning.

The glass in a door on the side of the building was broken, according to Sgt. Baker, who said the intruder crawled through the broken door and forced open a pinball machine, a bowling machine and a juke box, and removed the cash.

The proprietor of the business place, who discovered the entry about 7:30 a.m. yesterday, told police that no food or liquor had been stolen.

Several persons were picked up for questioning by police, who said that none had been placed in custody. The suspects also were questioned in connection with a breaking and entering at Eckhart Elementary School earlier this week.

A window was broken in the rear of the school and a door forced open. A movie projector and still projector valued at $650 were taken, Sgt. Baker said.

The breaking and entering at Zihlman is another in a series of entries into business places where the intruders concentrate on obtaining cash from machines on the premises, he added.

Assisting Baker in the investigation is Tfc. Milton G. Hart.

County Board To Withdraw Bank Deposits

$180,000 Will Be Invested Soon

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners voted yesterday to withdraw some $180,000 from five county banks and invest in short-term U.S. government securities.

John J. Rowan, president of the board, said yesterday afternoon that he has been informed by Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, that the funds in these five checking accounts have not been touched for years. They have been drawing no interest.

The $180,000 includes $100,000 in the Cumberland Savings Bank, $25,000 each in the Fidelity Savings Bank and the Frostburg National Bank, both of Frostburg; $20,000 from the Commercial Savings Bank, which has been absorbed by the Liberty Trust Company, and $10,000 from the Lonaconing branch of the Liberty Trust Company.

Mr. Rowan said he has been assured that the county could realize more than three per cent interest on U.S. securities. They would have to be on a short-term basis in case the county found itself in a position of needing funds.

Three per cent interest on $180,000 would amount to $5,400 a year. That would be a little better than one-third of a cent on the tax rate. On the assessable basis of $158,000,000 now used by the county each cent brings in $15,800.

The president of the county commissioners commented that Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster managed to obtain about $11,000 for the county last year through re-investment on school construction funds not needed immediately.

"It's just good business to put your money to work," Mr. Rowan said.

The county treasurer's report submitted to the commissioners yesterday showed the county had a total of $1,134,216.80 on deposit in banks as of December 31. The balance on September 30 was $2,095,995.32.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, yesterday afternoon sent letters to the five banks holding the $180,000 in deposits, notifying them that the funds would be withdrawn within 30 days.

Judge Delays Trials Of 12 Youths

Hearings Scheduled For Next Tuesday

Judge Ernest A. See, judge of Mineral County (W. Va.) Circuit Court, delayed hearings for 12 Keyser area youths yesterday because they created a disturbance in their jail cells early yesterday morning.

The youths were to appear before Judge See on charges of breaking and entering, but when he heard they had caused a disturbance he set the hearings back to next Tuesday.

They were indicted earlier this week by the Mineral County Grand Jury and were ordered to jail Wednesday when Judge See revoked their bonds after they told him they didn't have enough money to pay their lawyers.

Carl Butler, 19, of Potomac Heights, who also was involved in the series of breaking and enterings, but was in a different part of the jail during the disturbance, was given a suspended sentence by Judge See.

Butler was given a suspended sentence of one to ten years and was ordered to make restitution of $108 to a service station which had been burglarized. The judge also ordered Butler to apologize to the service station owners and to pay all court costs.

In another case yesterday before Judge See, a 16-year-old youth was given a year term in the Forestry Camp for Boys at Davis for violation of parole.

The youth was sentenced several years ago for breaking into Burlington School, and earlier this month he was arrested for being drunk and breaking into a home.

Ohio Firm Bids Low On Housing Site Demolition

A Columbus, Ohio, wrecking firm yesterday submitted the lowest of seven bids for the demolition of dwellings on the site of Cumberland's third low-rent public housing project.

Bids were opened yesterday at 3 p. m. by the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland at a meeting in Jane Frazier Village.

Accepted was the $8,240 low bid of the Ace Wrecking Company, of Columbus, Ohio.

Other bids include Gibraltar Wrecking and Supply Company, Union, N. J., $9,600; John S. Cook and Son, Cumberland, $9,875; S. T. Brotemarkle, Cumberland, $19,210; Dils Construction Company, Uniontown, Pa., $29,285; Harford Contracting Corp., Baltimore, $37,940, and Orrie Sensabaugh, Cumberland, $37,950.

Only one bid was received December 29 when the Housing Authority opened bids for razing the abandoned homes in the Oldtown Road-Lamont Street area. The job was readvertised, as FHA rules require at least two bids.

It has been estimated that the site can be cleared in about 30 days and that construction on the new public housing project can begin this spring.

The City of Cumberland has been pushing for the demolition of the buildings, which have been termed both health and fire hazards.

JOHN S. REXRODE

Former Local Man Missing In Dundalk

A former local man, who has been living in Dundalk for about four years, has been missing from his home since December 12.

John Stoner Rexrode, 30, was last seen by his wife on the morning of December 12. He was working day shift at the Bethlehem Steel Mills in Sparrows Point. When she went to prepare his breakfast, he had left the house and she surmised he had gone on to work.

Authorities of Dundalk were notified and combed the immediate area in search of the man. A 13-state alarm was sent out by authorities according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rexrode, who reside at 474 Baltimore Avenue.

The man is about five feet, five inches tall, weighs about 125 pounds, has dark hair and brown eyes, and wears glasses.

He is married to the former Miss Doris Rice of Williams Road. The couple has two children.

4-H Will Start Project On Auto Safety

A new 4-H project designed to promote automobile safety will be started with a meeting at the Allegany County Court House at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, February 10, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold.

This project is known as the 4-H automobile project and emphasizes care and safety with automobiles. It is designed for boys and girls 15 years or older and preferably those without driver's permits who are just learning to drive.

Mr. Arnold plans to organize a county-wide club similar to the tractor club to deal entirely with this subject. Local 4-H leaders are being requested to call this program to the attention of their club members. Boys and girls who are not in the 4-H program also are eligible.

Willys Wilson has agreed to serve as leader of this new club.

Ambulance Bill Question To Be Probed Further

Fred W. Jenkins, operator of the Astor Ambulance Service, yesterday discussed with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners the board's refusal to pay the ambulance fees for indigent persons taken to local hospitals and was promised that the matter would be further studied.

Mr. Jenkins said that he had discussed this matter previously with Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of the State Welfare Department, who told him that the welfare department could not pay these ambulance bills. The ambulance operator said he considered it strange that the Welfare Department could pay the hospital bills of these indigent persons but could not pay for the ambulance which carries them to the hospital.

John J. Rowan, president of the commissioners, suggested that the matter might be discussed at the next meeting of the County Welfare Board. Commissioner John T. Mason, who is the board's member on the Welfare Board, will attempt to get a solution to this matter.

The new commissioners decided Tuesday to adhere to the policy established in August 1956 by Gorman E. Getty, then attorney to the county commissioners.

Four Homewood Addition residents, Jacob and George Kerchner, Elmer O'Neal and Esther Sponaugle, attended yesterday's meeting to complain about a poor drainage condition. Mr. Rowan said he already had investigated this road and found that it was not in the county road system.

Property owners along the road will have to deed a right-of-way to the county before any action can be taken.

The three commissioners also received an invitation from the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland to attend the association's next meeting at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, February 17, at Central YMCA. They will discuss various phases of county operations.

Kelly Workers Return After Breakdown

Motor Failure Caused Shutdown

Rubber workers began reporting last night at 11 p. m. to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here after a broken air compressor was repaired.

A company spokesman said passenger tire production should be back to normal today and that truck tire operations should be normal Monday.

The Kelly workers are being recalled on a staggered schedule as materials become available.

Plans for the resumption of production were made last night at 8 o'clock as maintenance crews reported the air compressor had been repaired and tested.

The motor which operates the compressor failed Thursday night and put some 1,600 hourly-paid employes out of work, since nearly all manufacturing operations depend on the use of compressed air.

UHF Groups To Apply For Second Channel

A formal application to the Federal Communications Commission for a second UHF channel at Frostburg will be made when representatives of the Frostburg, LaVale and Cresaptown associations meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall.

Plans for the FCC action were announced last night at a meeting of the LaVale TV Association's campaign committee.

Frostburg already re-broadcasts UHF signals from Channel 9. The Frostburg-LaVale-Cresaptown group will seek Channel 5 and hopes eventually to increase selection to four channels.

Walter N. Hedrick, chairman of the LaVale campaign organization, also announced last night that a Cumberland group promoting a UHF television system has decided to erect equipment on Irons Mountain east of the city instead of on Dan's Mountain to the west.

Earlier, the Cumberland group had planned to set up a countywide TV association with other groups in LaVale, Frostburg and Cresaptown.

The LaVale organization last night announced its intention to continue work with the Frostburg and Cresaptown groups to buy and install ultra-high-frequency translator equipment on Dan's Mountain.

A UHF translator is an electronic device which picks up standard very-high-frequency (VHF) television signals and re-broadcasts them as ultra-high frequency signals.

The LaVale association includes LaVale, Corriganville, Ellerslie and Locust Grove. The Cresaptown group includes Cresaptown, Pinto, Rawlings, Potomac Park, and Fort Ashby, W. Va.

At last night's meeting in LaVale Fire Hall, Mr. Hedrick reported that the LaVale association has raised $5,200 in cash and $7,600 in pledges.

After the campaign committee's meeting, M. C. McKenzie, association president, called a meeting of the board of directors to approve a change in the by-laws to incorporate the LaVale association with the Frostburg organization.
